

WOMAN'S BOARD OF ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL
FASHION SHOW
ALSONETT RESORT HOTELS 1954

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

For and about WOMEN

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

SEC. TWO MONDAY, JAN. 25, 1954. ★★ PAGE 17

Mrs. Robert M. Adams yesterday was reelected for her second term as president of the St. Luke's hospital woman's board. Mrs. James W. Rogers was appointed fashion show chairman, with Mrs. A. Watson Armour III as assistant. New vice presidents are Mrs. William S. Covington, Mrs. Paul W. Oliver, and Mrs.

John V. Farwell III. This year's fashion show will be held Oct. 20. . . . Chicago Vassar club members will see the Whistler-Cassatt-Sargent exhibit in the Art institute before their luncheon meeting at 12:45 p. m. there today.

Mrs. Ernest Burgess, who will supervise decoration of the Chicago Junior League's new clubhouse, will speak at the winter meeting of the league's sustaining members at 10:30 a. m. today in Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley's home. . . . The Chicago Nursery and Half Orphan Asylum's annual meeting will be held today in Chapin Hall. . . . Marguerite Higgins will be the Woman's Athletic club speaker today.

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

For and about WOMEN

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

SEC. TWO TUESDAY, JAN. 26, 1954. PAGE 21

Mrs. Rogers Picked To Run St. Luke's '54 Fashion Show

BY ATHLYN DESHAIS

At its annual meeting Monday the St. Luke's hospital woman's board elected Mrs. James W. Rogers as chairman of the 1954 fashion show. She succeeds Mrs. John V. Farwell III, who had been chairman of the last two shows.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams was re-elected president of the board at the meeting held in Schweppe Hall of the hospital.

#4766 1954-1

18 • CHICAGO SUN-TIMES, TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

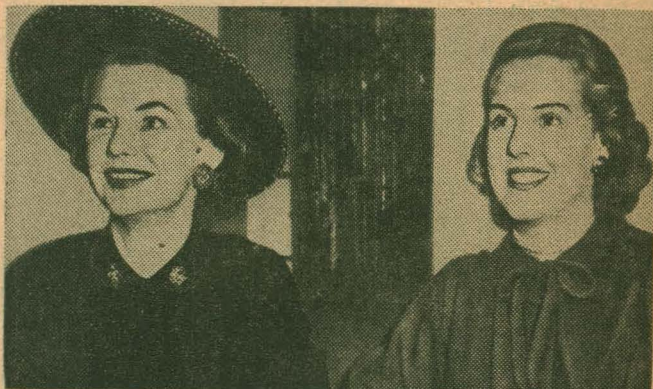

When the St. Luke's Fashion Show is given at the Medinah Temple Oct. 20, it will have two chairmen for the first time in its history.

With each presentation in the 27 years of its existence, production of the fashion show has gained proportions. Mrs. James W. Rogers, newly elected fashion show chairman, will have as her assistant Mrs. A. Watson Armour III. Mrs. Armour has served the Woman's Board in many roles. Last year she handled publicity for the show in which $61,000 was raised for the hospital.

At Monday's meeting of officers the St. Luke Woman's Board announced that Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams was re-elected to serve her second year as president. Mrs. William S. Covington has been chosen first vice president. Mrs. Paul W. Oliver and Mrs. John V. Farwell III are second and third vice presidents.

Mrs. Samuel J. Walker continues as treasurer. Her assistant is Mrs. John A. Prosser. Mrs. Carl A. Hedblom Jr. will be recording secretary, having as her assistant Mrs. Theodore Tieken. Mrs. Franklin G. Clement is corresponding secretary and Mrs. Bowen Blair assistant corresponding secretary.

TWO INTERESTING REAL ESTATE DEALS shortly will bring about the change of residence of three Lake Forest families. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood have bought the Albert B. Dick Jr. house on Green Bay Rd. and expect to move in as soon as the redecorating is done. Mr. and Mrs. Dick bought the Sterling Morton house several months ago. The Mortons in turn, plan to build a smaller house on their Lake Forest estate. They are currently in California.

Mrs. Walter Daspit Jr. (left) and Mrs. Gordon Bent, members of the Chicago committee of the Seeing Eye Foundation, met with team captains to plan the foundation's annual enrollment drive. Funds are to be raised all through the month of May. A kickoff luncheon at the Casino is planned April 27.

THE NARROW ESCAPE of the former Mary Welsh and her husband, Ernest Hemingway, in two plane crashes would seem to be just one more detail in the pattern of adventure Mary started to weave as a schoolgirl in Bemidji, Minn.

In her early school days Mary had just one ambition. It was to get out into the world and find out for herself what was going on. It was not too easy in Bemidji to get a passport to the exciting arenas where civilization's fate was hanging in the balance, but Mary was dauntless in her determination to get a ticket. Her father, Thomas Welsh, had a close friend who was a newspaperman. He was the late Homer Guck of the Chicago Herald-Examiner. Mary confided her ambitions to Guck and he suggested that if Mary came to Chicago he might be able to get her a newspaper job.

Cholly Dearborn Observes:

Mrs. James Rogers
St. Luke's Choice

THOUGH SHE WOULD BE reluctant to admit it, I think Mrs. James Waller Rogers would much rather continue writing the script for the St. Luke's Fashion shows than assume the chairmanship of the '54 production to which she has just been elected. "It was fun," she said wistfully of the job that has now gone to Mrs. Earle Kribben.

(Chicago American photo by Charles Keller)

MR. AND MRS. JAMES W. ROGERS

As past recording secretary of the St. Luke's Woman's Board, one of her last entries was the notation yesterday of her own election to the chairmanship of the 1954 fashion show on Oct. 20.

Humorous, warm, unassuming, Jane Linn Rogers is mother of three and grandmother of 14-months-old Billy Clay. She was baby-sitting with Billy, who could be heard in the background, when I phoned her yesterday. "Now I'll go get the baby up," she said at the conclusion of our conversation.

To an inquiry about her hobbies, she turned to her 15-year-old and asked, "Hopie, do I have any hobbies?"

"Just paying bills," said "Hopie," who is formally Hopewell, after a moment's reflection.

Grandniece and namesake of the late Jane Addams, Mrs. Rogers was the daughter of the late James Weber Linn, widely known as an educator, writer and editor; and the late Mrs. Linn. Practically reared by his "Aunt Jane," Mr. Linn took his family to Hull House for their Thanksgivings and to the late Miss Mary Rozet Smith's for Christmases. That delightful, gracious elderly woman was a great friend of Miss Addams.

The trip to the Near North Side where Miss Smith lived on Walton pl. was quite a journey in those days from the South Side, where Mr. Linn was with the University of Chicago, Mrs. Rogers recalls. The I.C.'s holiday schedule left much to be desired, and it was usually a bitter, blustery jaunt.

Because the Rogers, who live on E. Scott st., summer at Fish Creek, Wis., and the St. Luke's show is a year-round job, an assistant chairman has been elected for the first time. This new job has gone to Mrs. A. Watson Armour II, who with her sparkle and vitality, combined with Mrs. Rogers' wit and imagination, should make for an inspired team.

For a second term, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams will head the St. Luke's Woman's Board. Others on the new slate are Mrs. William S. Covington, first vice president; Mrs. Paul W. Oliver, second vice president; Mrs. John V. Farwell II, third vice president.

Mrs. Samuel J. Walker, treasurer again; Mrs. John A. Prosser, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Carl A. Hedblom Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Theodore Tieken, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Bowen Blair, assistant recording secretary.

#4766 1954-2

New Head of Fashion Show a Deft Cook And Real Bookworm

Mrs. Rogers Appointed to Lead Work On St. Luke's Annual Event Oct. 20

BY PATRICIA MOORE

"I'm scared to death," Mrs. James Waller Rogers exclaimed a little breathlessly as she emerged from a meeting Monday of the St. Luke's woman's board.

The enthusiastic Jane Rogers had just been handed the rigorous task of chairman of the St. Luke's 1954 fashion show.

Mrs. Rogers' friends don't share her worries about taking on the new task. The daughter of the late Prof. John Weber Linn of the University of Chicago, she's looked upon as an intellectual light.

She inherited her father's love of 19th century literature and recently surprised family and friends by delving into books on anthropology. "It's a fascinating subject," she reports.

* * *
A GENEROUS hostess, there's nothing Mrs. Rogers loves better than to ask loads of friends to their Fish Creek (Wis.) cottage during the summer months.

With seven bedrooms and two sleeping porches the cottage is usually overflowing with friends of two generations.

The Rogers children, Bernard (now in the Army), 15-year-old "Hopie" and Mrs. William D. Clay seek their summer fun at the cottage.

* * *
LAST SUMMER Mrs. Rogers suddenly found herself without a cook and with a houseful of guests.

"I didn't think I could prepare meals for 14 persons but I did and it was fun," she announces proudly.

The young-looking grandmother in her mid-40s considers cooking one of her accomplishments. And so does her husband who lists her soups as his favorite food.

* * *
ONCE OUT of the kitchen during the warm months, Mrs. Rogers can be found on the tennis court—at Fish Creek or at the Saddle and Cycle in town. And after several hard sets she likes to go swimming.

Mrs. Rogers is a 'regular' at the Chicago Symphony Orchestra's Friday matinees. She seldom misses seeing a visiting ballet company.

As Jane Addams Linn (named for her great-aunt, the famed social worker) she was educated abroad at a finishing school in Rome and at the Sorbonne. She returned to the University of Chicago but decided on marriage instead of a college degree in 1928.

One of Mrs. James Waller Rogers' favorite chores is baby sitting with her 14-month-old grandchild, William Drake Clay II. That's what our photographer caught her doing Monday after her appointment to head the St. Luke's fashion show.

Travel Plans Keep Woman's Board Busy

BY JOAN MERRICK

A full sweep of the compass would be necessary to locate members of the St. Luke's hospital woman's board in a few weeks.

Now that their annual meeting has been held, many of the women are busy themselves with travel preparations.

The Chauncey Borlands will go to Miami, Fla., where they will meet their daughter, Harriet who'll come down from Washington, where she has a position with the government.

MRS. BORLAND

The three will fly to Peru for a month's tour. It will be their first trip to South America.

The Sterling Mortons, now in Santa Barbara, Calif., will leave in February for India and the Far East.

Nassau will beckon the junior Mark Willings next month.

MR. AND MRS. John V. Farwell III will depart Feb. 3 for the Edward Berminghams' plantation near Montgomery, Ala., where they plan to shoot quail.

Later in February, the Farwells will go to the West Coast.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, board president, and Mr. Adams have no immediate travel plans.

Chicago Sunday Tribune
February 7, 1954
Part 7—Page 14

Executives of Cotillion Appointed

By Thalia

Always among the most eagerly awaited bits of late winter news are the names of the women who will guide the destinies of two of the city's most brilliant and successful benefits, the Debutante Cotillion, which each Christmas season benefits Passavant Memorial hospital's free bed fund, and the St. Luke's Fashion show, from whose proceeds the charitable work of St. Luke's hospital benefits.

On Tuesday morning, it was announced that Mrs. Robert R. McCormick is to be general chairman of next December's Cotillion, with Mrs. Bruce Thorne and Mrs. Paul Rowan as executive chairmen. It also was disclosed that invitations to debutantes to be presented at the Cotillion next Christmas will be in the mail soon.

Three capable committee chairmen of last year's ball have undertaken to outdo its success: Mrs. Charles A. Ziebarth, whose success with the program and sale of advertising was sensational; Mrs. Philip A. Van Vlack, who managed the special gifts committee, and Mrs. J. Stewart Harvey, whose decorations have been unforgettable.

Mrs. Edward B. Smith and Mrs. George R. Beach Jr. will be co-chairmen of the rehearsal committee.

Mrs. Henry P. Isham, under whose capable generalship the Debutante Cotillion last December was such a dazzling success, next week will help another hospital, Lake Forest's. She is opening her home on Thursday for the fourth annual Trading Post Fashion show, one of the suburb's most popular benefits.

#4766 1954 - 4

Red Cross to Benefit from Drive

By Nancy Fitzpatrick

Expected to be a pace setter in the 1954 Chicago chapter Red Cross fund campaign is Mrs. Theodore Ticken, recently named as co-chairman with Mrs. Stewart Harvey of the Women's Special Gifts division.

Mrs. Ticken

Long active in Red Cross work, Mrs. Ticken will need no introduction when she presides at a tea being given by the division tomorrow in the Casino club. The occasion will mark the beginning of the women's fund raising efforts in behalf of the Red Cross. The special gifts drive will continue thru March.

Serving as a Red Cross first aid instructor and production volunteer during World War II, Mrs. Ticken also has been vice chairman of the Women's Special Gifts division for many years. In addition to her Red Cross activities, she is secretary of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital, and a member of the woman's board of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Junior League, and the Public School Art society.

This year's vice chairmen serving with Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Ticken are Mrs. B. E. Bensing, Mrs. Giulio Bolognesi, Mrs. Douglas N. Buchanan,

When Chicago Was Young

By Herma Clark

(Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend Julia Boyd of New York.)

Chicago, Feb. 12, 1906

Dear Julia:

You are so much interested in hospital work in New York, especially in the Episcopal church, that I must sit down at once and tell you about the marvelous gift Chicago's St. Luke's hospital has just received.

James Henry Smith, a New Yorker, who used to live in Evanston and who still comes here often on business, has presented St. Luke's with half a million dollars. Mr. Smith, who inherited about 50 millions from his uncle, a pioneer Chicago banker, was in our city recently and in talking with his friend, Leslie Carter, asked him what a man could do with his money when he had so much he couldn't spend it all.

Mr. Carter, who is president of the board of St. Luke's, took Mr. Smith down to the hospital, on Indiana av., and showed him what that great institution is doing for the sick poor. He told Mr. Smith, who, because of his taciturnity, is nicknamed "Silent Smith," that a third of the patients pay nothing at all for care. Others pay $8 a week.

"St. Luke's cares for more free patients than any other hospital in Chicago, save Cook county," Mr. Carter told him.

"Silent Smith" took in everything, but, as usual, didn't comment, except to say that a permanent income that would enable the hospital to increase its charity work would be a good thing. There the matter was left, and Mr. Smith returned to New York. But evidently the sight of the free wards in the hospital made the impression on him that Mr. Carter hoped for, for the latter told Will today at the Chicago club that he had had a wonderful letter from Mr. Smith saying that when the trustees wanted half a million dollars for St. Luke's, it would be ready for them.

I think Leslie Carter is as happy over this gift as he would be if the South Side Elevated railroad, of which he is president, should have a profitable year, for he is devoted to the interests of the hospital. Dear Mr. Carter! His life hasn't been a happy one. The divorce case which had so much publicity, was torture for him. He hasn't let it ruin his life, however, but has given himself to good works, and to his business.

I suppose "Silent Smith" has been particularly friendly with him because of the Scotch origin of both families. Mr. Smith is a bachelor, about 50. His uncle, George Smith, also a bachelor, was a pioneer banker in Chicago, who returned to his native Scotland in 1866 and never visited America after that, I believe, but left the management of his huge estate to this nephew. The uncle died in 1900 at the age of 90, and a great deal of his fortune was left to "Silent Smith."

George Smith

I can't see why Mr. Smith never has married. He probably never will, now, tho I imagine many New York girls have set their caps for him. But when a man is so confirmed a bachelor, "surely in vain the net is spread in the sight of any bird," as the wise man said. Mr. Smith avoids the net of the managing mamma by making himself a recluse in the great house in New York which he bought from W. C. Whitney, at a cost of $2,500,000.

And now I will close, for I have a committee meeting at the Woman's club on hand. I just had to write you about this remarkable gift, tho. Leslie Carter says it will be used to add a building to the hospital, facing Michigan av.—an addition which will accommodate patients who can afford to pay well and thus make money to support the free wards.

Ever with love,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND

Footnotes

Martha's prediction concerning the marriage of "Silent Smith" proved incorrect. He married the divorced wife of William Rhinelander Stewart of New York. His death occurred in 1907. St. Luke's hospital continues to do much charity work.

The Past of the Theater

Your editor has had the pleasure of looking over a number of theater programs, many of them printed on satin, a fad of the Eighties and Nineties, these having come from Will J. Davis Jr., of Pensacola, Fla., son of a well-known Chicago theater manager. Many of these contain the name of Jessie Bartlett Davis [the senior Mrs. Will J. Davis] who was one of America's most popular singers in the Eighties and Nineties. Her son writes that she was the first American woman to receive a salary of a thousand dollars a week. These programs have been given to the Chicago Historical society.

"Let's Walk Along Rush St."

Don't overlook this pamphlet, which can be had at the Tribune Public Service offices, 33 W. Madison st. or at the Tribune Tower. Price 25 cents, over the counter; 30 cents, by mail.

Here Is a Home with a Lived in Feeling

The Sun Room and Breakfast Room Are Family Favorites

By Kathryn Loring

IT'S EASY TO UNDERSTAND why Mrs. William S. Covington immediately names the sunroom and the breakfast room as her favorite rooms in the Covingtons' beautiful country home near Libertyville. They built the Elizabethan brick and half-timbered manor house in 1928, four years following their marriage.

The exhilarating airy feel of the out of doors is in those many windowed rooms the year around. Storm windows and central heating create livableness and comfort in them the coldest of days. Handsome grounds of the property create charming vistas at any season. And the profusion of green growing plants at practically every window adds to the effect just now of summer time in the winter.

There's a comfortable, "lived-in" feel about both rooms, particularly the sunroom, where young people gather to watch television and otherwise enjoy themselves. The Covingtons have two daughters, Lynn, who now is studying at the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York; and Betsy, 16, who attends Miss Porter's school, and two sons, William Jr., a lawyer, and George, 11.

The sunny yellow and white striped upholstery of the bamboo frame couch just opposite the television set bears evidence of pleasant usage. Above it is an autumnal oil painting, its golden yellow and russet tones of fallen leaves creating harmonious splashes of color against the dark red brick walls.

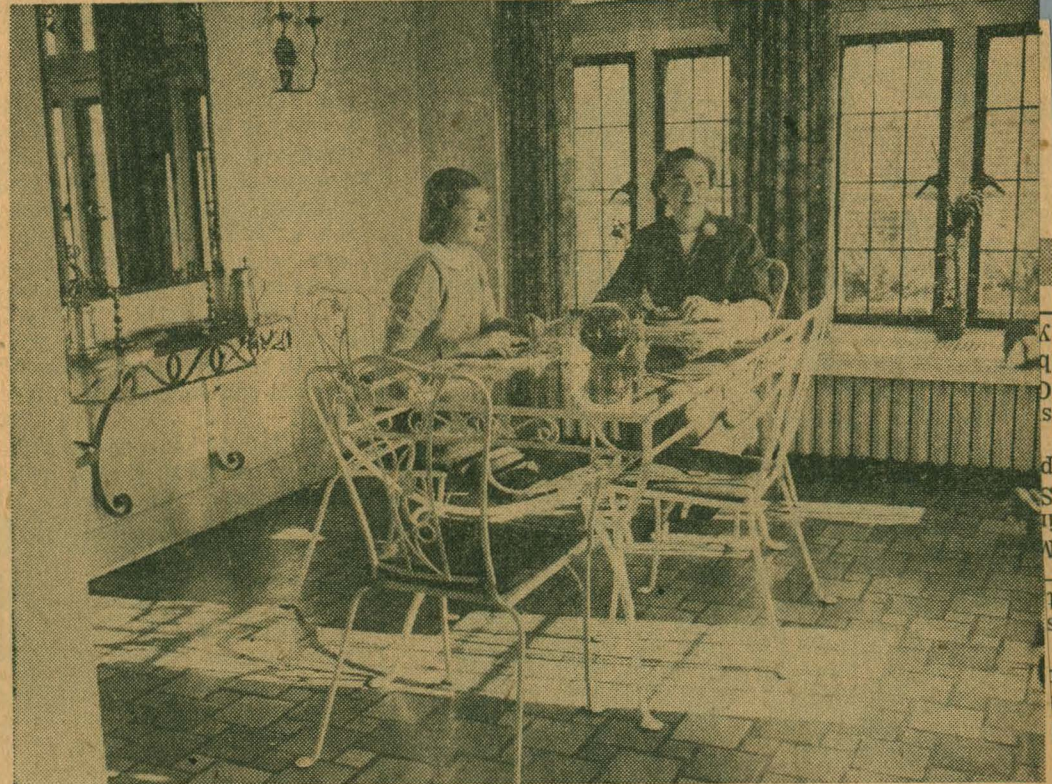

In planning the decor, Mrs. Covington echoed the golden

Mrs. William S. Covington (right) and her daughter, Betsy, in formal drawing room of the Covingtons' country home near Libertyville. Mrs. Covington is chairman of the woman's committee of the Orchestral association of Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Mrs. Covington arranges sunny yellow blossoms in the attractive sun room. Tones of gold and aqua keynote decor in that room, where cheery feel of out-of-door living is enjoyed the year around.

The out of doors also seems to come inside on the most wintry days in the Covingtons' breakfast room. Pictured at the table with Mrs. Covington is the Covingtons' daughter, Betsy, 16.

[TRIBUNE Photos]

These Charming Hostesses

By Helen Young

This is another in a series of profiles of wives of successful young business men. Each Sunday we will print two of these sketches of "women behind their men" who are themselves budding leaders in the social and civic life of the community.

IT'S ALWAYS a little surprising, but definitely heart-warming, to hear a bred-in-the-bone New Yorker wax enthusiastic about Chicago.

Although she has lived here only a few years, Geraldine Tyner Dent loves the town to which she commutes from Lake Forest several times a week.

But the weekends in the country are as delightful as those she might have been enjoying on Long Island if she hadn't married the young Cornell Engineering graduate who brought her to the Midwest to live.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dent

AT THE time of her marriage, Mrs.

the living room, has blue-green walls and cherry and white toile curtains in the bay window, which looks out to the garden.

The old pine table, slat back pine chairs and Italian candle sconces over the buffet, where great-grandmother's silver is displayed, are all just right for a country "cottage" of the sophisticated brand.

★ ★ ★

FOR FREQUENT Saturday or Sunday buffet suppers, when there are eight or twelve, Mrs. D. sometimes serves a casserole of chicken Tetrazzini, or lobster with a Caesar salad she likes to make herself.

For informal entertaining she prefers to wear velvet lounging pajamas; for more formal things a calf-length dinner dress, such as she modeled in the St. Luke's Fashion Show and the one for The Cradle.

She loves rare and unusual costume jewelry and is especially fond of the little French chandelier earrings that are worn only with an evening or ball gown.

Her hats are always carefully chosen, and definitely high fashion.

★ ★ ★

EVEN THOUGH her young husband (who has progressed from the minor job he took when he came out of the Navy, to an administrative position with a big engineering plant) goes on to bigger and better things, Geraldine thinks she would like to continue modeling. For she loves clothes.

And anyone who can wear them with such distinction, her friends believe, has a mission in life to show others how they should be worn.

WOMAN'S WORLD

and SMART SET

Chicago American

Tues., March 2, 1954—7

Cholly Dearborn:

Anaconda Heiress Here

BRIGHT NEW FACES on the social scene belong to the Richard Kelloggs, who are in the process of establishing themselves and their two small boys in a house on Bradley rd. in Lake Forest.

She's the Anaconda Copper heiress, Connie Keresey, daughter of H. Donn Keresey, president of Anaconda, and granddaughter of C. F. Kelley, octogenarian chairman of the board.

The St. Luke's Fashion Show committee, always alert to pretty newcomers to Chicago for modeling roles in the annual Fall show, probably will grab Connie. In her mid-twenties, this Vassar girl is a striking, slender 5 foot 5 inches, with curly dark brown hair worn in a short brush bob and big blue eyes — a typical Irish beauty.

The Kelloggs pulled up their Gotham stakes to move to the Midwest because Dick has been transferred to the Chicago office of Anaconda.

SOCIAL WHIRL

By Kathryn Lewis

The Woman's Board of the Chicago Boys Clubs will take over the Post and Paddock Club of Arlington Park June 19 for a Summer Ball. Mrs. Lester Armour is chairman and Mrs. William A. Patterson vice chairman of the ball committee. They will meet April 7 to work out the theme of this year's party, hoping to top last year's sensational success.

Five hundred guests paid $100 a couple last year. Mrs. Warren Wright paid for the dinners and three anonymous donors hired Meyer Davis' orchestra.

Mrs. Charles M. Kittle, chairman of the woman's board, announced that the ball will be given, as in other years, the Saturday night before the opening of the race track. The tradition of opening the races on Monday has ended. Thursday, June 24, has been selected this year. It is doubtful whether the fabulous floral decorations used at the ball will keep their freshness until opening day. The first-day crowd last year enjoyed the orchid display in the Post and Paddock dining rooms.

Mary Dougherty is on vacation. Her column will be resumed on her return.

CHESTNUT TREE BLOSSOMS may be wonderful to behold on the Rue de la Paix, but white carnations are very decorative, too. At the import show given by Marshall Field & Co. in the Mayfair Room of the Blackstone Hotel Monday, carnations were tacked on the branches of the chestnut tree. Huge bowls of French lilacs decorated the room and the backdrop on the stage was typically Gaelic. The show was French in every detail. The clothes, designed by Parisian courteriers, were shown as models walked among aperitif tables under striped cafe awnings, decorated with tricolored ribbons.

Mrs. George Beach Jr. and Mrs. Edward Byron Smith watch the import show given by Marshall Field & Co. in the Mayfair Room of the Blackstone Hotel.

A capacity crowd of 225 had lunch at the Blackstone before the fashion show. Members of the Women's Board of St. Luke's Hospital were among the most interested spectators. Some of the members of the Passavant Hospital Board eyed Patou's spectacular calla lily white organdy evening dress, wondering which debutante would wear it at this year's Cotillion. Mrs. Homer Hargrave, one of the active members of Passavant's Board, lunched with the junior Mrs. Hargrave, Alice Hooper and Mrs. Harold Keele.

March 18, 1954

Social Circles

BY JEAN TEN BROECK

Models on Wheels Will Be Featured at Evanston Auto Show March 25-27

Fashion Show to Provide Something New in Way of Display; New for Spectators, New for Models

The Evanston Hospital's Benefit Automobile show will provide something new in the way of fashion shows, new for the spectators and new for the models. For although most of the models are veterans of such polished performances as St. Luke's Fashion Show, none of the 30 has ever been a model on wheels before. But on March 25, 26, 27 they'll roll onto a specially built stage in the latest style cars, wearing the latest spring styles. The fashion show will be climaxed by a wedding party driven on stage in a limousine.

According to benefit chairman, Mrs. Richard Culver, the models' husbands have been begging to get into the act as chauffeurs. They're itching to get behind the wheels of all the smart new cars. But, no luck—the 15 sponsoring Evanston Automobile Dealers are providing their own uniformed drivers.

Mrs. Charles M. Dering Jr., chairman of the model committee, really has a tight schedule on March 25. In the afternoon she will be commentator for the Fashion Group of Chicago's style show, and then must rush out to Evanston to supervise the Patron's Night Preview Fashion Show at McGaw Memorial Hall, which begins at 9.

Mrs. T. Hamil Reidy, one of the models chosen to roll in at the Evanston Automobile Show, doesn't yet know she's scheduled to model. She's still off on a six weeks' skiing trip to Switzerland and Austria. Her good friend Mrs. Dering put her name on the list and assures us she will be happy to be on hand.

WOMAN'S WORLD

and SMART SET

Chicago American ★ Mon., March 29, 1954—7

No Comment - No Announcement

Cholly Dearborn:

Fashion Show Revelation

THOSE BASEBALL FANS among the St. Luke's women's board who might have been tuned in to the White Sox-Cincinnati Reds game in Tampa must have turned pale when sportscaster Bob Elson interviewed a representative from the fashionable nearby Tides Hotel.

For that gentleman revealed what the board usually likes to announce here with considerable fanfare—the sponsor for the 1954 St. Luke's fashion show. The Alsonett Hotels—of which the Tide is one—will spread angel wings for this year's fashion production.

○ ○ ○

#4766 1954-9

100 Years preparing for Tomorrow

Carson

Pirie

Scott & Co

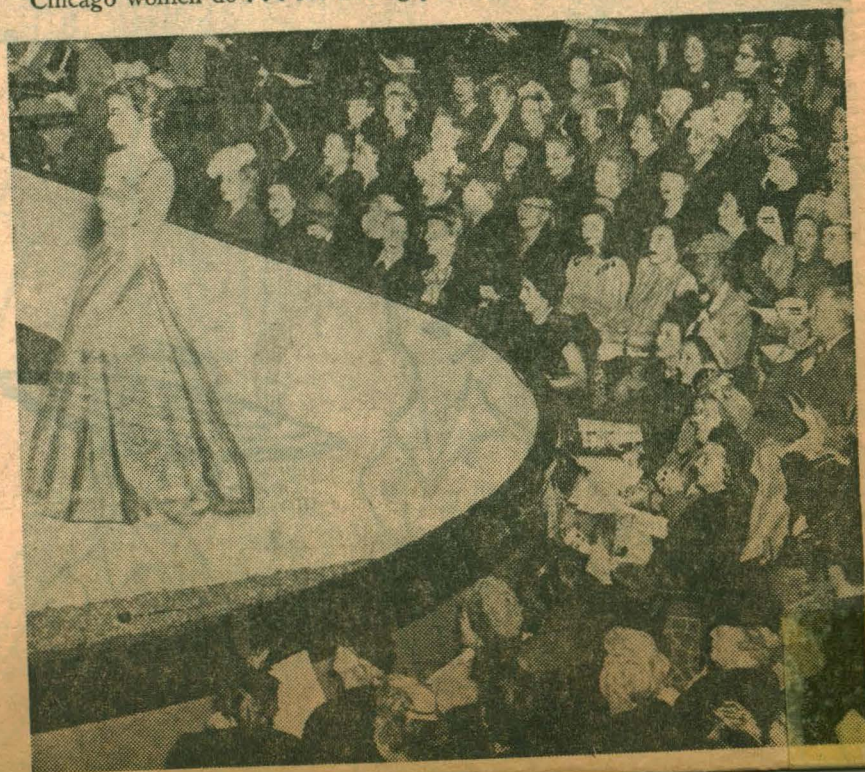

Carson's exciting new 75 gauge stockings

... 12 denier nylons, the most fabulously sheer stockings. Designed to be worn by the best-dressed women in the world, though they are so crystal-sheer, they actually give you the appearance of no stockings at all... their close, close knit means maximum strength and durability. 75 denier means a light-weight yarn was used to give them a delicate luxury. Truly, there is nothing finer! In proportioned lengths, 8½ to 10; medium, 8½ to 10½; long, 9½ to 11. Choose from a variety of shades of sun blush or maple. The pair, 2.95. Carson's North Dearborn store and Evergreen plaza store.

you're the lady with a wardrobe by foremost designers, but every dollar is wisely spent

You can afford the best, you buy the best! But your wardrobe must be well-planned for an endless social schedule. Business, too, because constant charity work keeps you on the go. And whether it's luncheon at the Ambassador East, or a party for your pet organization, you take pride in the way you appear at all times. Probably why you were picked to model at the St. Luke's fashion show last fall (see below). Very probably why you love to shop at Carson's! You come to the North Room for your suits, dresses, coats and furs... love the Ascot Shop for casual and resort originals. And count on the Evening Shop for just the gown you need for your many formal moments. In short, you love Carson's as so many Chicago women do... for having just what you want when you want it.

#4766 1954-10

APRIL 8, 1954

SOCIETY IN CHICAGO

Tea at Hospital To Honor Memory Of Two Leaders

Dedicate Two Plaques Saturday For Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Fairbank

BY ATHLYN DESHAIS

With the current accent on the importance of the long weekend, especially for suburbanites, it has to be a rather important function that brings women out to a Saturday tea.

The memory of the late Janet Ayer Fairbank and Harriet Walton Woodward as cultural and social leaders is cherished enough in Chicago's hearts so that the tea this Saturday at Lying-In hospital will see some of the most magic social names of the city.

The occasion MRS. WOODWARD is the dedication of memorial plaques to the two beloved women. Family members of both will preside.

MRS. KELLOGG Fairbank, daughter-in-law of the late Mrs. Fairbank, and Mrs. Mark W. Walton, a niece of the late Mrs. Woodward, will do the honors.

Assisting will be Mrs. Albert L. Hopkins, chairman of the Harriet Walton Woodward Fund.

THERE ARE Chicagoans who still remember one spectacular benefit staged by Mrs. Fairbank. It was an Arabian Nights Ball where the town's leading social figures arrived in brilliant costumes.

Mrs. Fairbank came as Scheherazade, Chauncey McCormick was disguised as Ali Baba, Countess Gizycka (Cissy Patterson) was clothed as the Queen of Bussorah and Edith Rockefeller McCormick appeared as the Queen of Sheba.

The tea will be held at the hospital. Mrs. George A. Ranmuda wedding trip the couple will rent a house near Wayne while deciding on a permanent place to settle.

CHATTER---

Wednesday was not an easy day for members of the St. Luke's hospital woman's board. Several had promised to attend both the open house celebrating the 15th anniversary of St. Luke's shop and the Children's Memorial

MRS. LAING White Elephant shop fashion show at the Ambassador East. Both were held at tea-time and the women had to dash from shop to show or visa versa.

Pouring at the open house were Mrs. Chauncey Borland, Mrs. Morris McCormick and Mrs. Grant Laing.

A CUTOUT of a measuring cup is the imaginative card Mrs. Frank Hiter sent out as an invitation to a kitchen shower and tea for Betty MacFarland.

The invitation bears the words: Recipe: One surprise kitchen shower and tea. Concocted by: Mrs. Frank A. Hiter. Prepared for: Betty MacFarland.

The surprise element won't be there Saturday since the prospective bride of John A.

Chicago Daily Tribune

Today with Women

MOVIES • AMUSEMENTS
Thursday, April 8, 1954

FR Part 3—Page 7

F Part 4—Page 5

Only a few close friends were present for the marriage yesterday in Montego Bay, Jamaica, of Laurance Hearne Armour Jr. and Mrs. Margot Boyd Kelly, both of Chicago. The ceremony was performed by James Russell, civil registrar of Kingston, Jamaica, in the vacation home of the bridegroom's mother, the senior Mrs. Armour, on the grounds of the Half-Moon Bay hotel, where a luncheon was held afterward.

Among others at the wedding were Peter Oliver, as best man, the Lucius Ordways of Palm Beach, and the Lester Armours. The bride and the bridegroom will return to Chicago at the end of the month.

Fifteen candles burned brightly atop a cake in the St. Luke's hospital shop yesterday afternoon as friends and staff members dropped in to help celebrate the shop's 15th anniversary. It was a gala party, with Mrs. Eric Oldberg, long time shop chairman, and members of her committee as hostesses.

The shop has turned over $40,000 to the hospital for free bed care, even tho it was founded in 1939 by Mrs. Selim W. McArthur and Miss Lyla Woodruff as a service rather than a money making project.

Wearing a dark blue suit with white accents, white hat, and white orchids, Mrs. Barbara Hess Durbin will be married to George W. Fraker Jr. at 4 p. m. today in the Wayne home of Mr. and Mrs. Corwith Hamill.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Kenneth M. Hess, and little daughter, Ann, as flower girl, will be the only attendants.

#4766 1954-11

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

Much conjecture is being expressed over the plans being made by Mrs. C. Mathews Dick Jr. It is definitely known that her present sojourn in Nevada is for the purpose of obtaining a divorce.

Observers of her recent social activity believe that when she obtains the severance of her present marital ties she may marry William F. Borland.

If Mimi Harriman Dick and Borland marry they will have a comparatively large household. Her three children are Diana, 7; Charles, 4, and Eleanor, who is about 2. Borland, who has been a widower for four years, has a son and two daughters. His former wife, Anne Bryant Borland, was the daughter of Mrs. John Jay Bryant and the late Mr. Bryant.

WILLIAM F. BORLAND MRS. C. MATHEWS DICK JR.

The Dicks have been separated for several months. Mrs. Dick has been living in their home in Lake Forest and he in the Racquet Club.

EVERYTHING CHARACTERISTIC of the season except egg-rolling is promised to members of the Tavern Club at their Easter Parade. The invitation sent out by Charles Collins, secretary of the club, reads in part: "Early partaking of breakfast-luncheon is strongly suggested because the fashion show is to start promptly at 2."

AS PREDICTED in this column, only a few persons witnessed the marriage of Laurance H. Armour Jr. and Margot Boyd Kelly. The ceremony took place Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Laurance H. Armour Sr. at Montego Bay, Jamaica. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armour, Peter Oliver of Lake Forest, who was best man for Larry; Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Ordway, Mr. and Mrs. Harold DeLisser and Barbara DeLisser, Cmdr. Michael Wentworth and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Reid. James Russell, Kingston civil registrar, officiated.

The newlyweds will honeymoon at Half Moon Bay until the end of April. On their way home to Lake Forest they will stop off in New York for a few days.

THERE WAS QUITE a sentimental party in the Gift Shop of St. Luke's Hospital Wednesday. It was the celebration of the 15th anniversary of the founding of the shop. Members of the Woman's Board and hospital personnel gathered for tea and the exchange of mutual congratulations. Mrs. Morris McCormick, Mrs. Chauncey Borland and Mrs. Grant Laing presided at the tea urns.

Mrs. Eric Oldberg, who is chairman of the Gift Shop Committee, returned from her Florida visit to be on hand for the occasion.

Chicago Sunday Tribune
April 18, 1954
* Part 7—Page 7

Add Unique Feature to Style Show

Fashion shows traditionally are successful money raisers and when the woman's auxiliary of St. Luke's hospital meets for luncheon on April 26 the fall date of the country's first and still most famous amateur-modeled charity fashion show will be announced.

The woman's board of St. Luke's recently celebrated the 15th anniversary of the opening of its charming little gift shop, which has contributed more than $40,000 to the hospital for free bed care. On the same afternoon that the 15th birthday cake was being cut in the gift shop at St. Luke's hospital, the charity work of Children's Memorial hospital was benefited by a tea and fashion show in the Ambassador East hotel.

#4766 1954-12

MONDAY, APRIL 26, 1954.

SOCIETY IN CHICAGO

DAILY NEWS

Alsonett Hotels Collaborating on St. Luke's Benefit

President, Wife at Luncheon Of Hospital's Women's Board

BY PATRICIA MOORE

It isn't hard to guess that the St. Luke's fashion show will have a travel theme when the benefit is staged Oct. 20 at Medina Temple.

The Alsonett hotels in Arizona, Georgia and Florida will collaborate with the hospital's woman's board in presenting the 28th annual show, always the climax of the autumn social season.

Charles H. Alberding, president of the hotels, and his wife lunched with the board Monday noon at the Casino.

Mrs. Alberding, in a dark suit and white flowered hat, was explaining that one of her wifely duties is traveling around the country with her husband to the various resort hotels.

COMMITTEE chairman for the fashion show were announced at the luncheon. They are: Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, assistant to Mrs. James W. Rogers, who heads the benefit; Mrs. Morrison Waud and Mrs. Gardner H. Stern (she is a new board member), boxes; Mrs. Theodore Ticken, clothes.

Mrs. Earl Kribben (who's vacationing in Nassau), continuity; Mrs. Marshall Field Jr., exhibitors; Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, fashion review; Mrs. Wyndham Hasler, mannequins; Mrs. J. Beach Clow, miscellaneous; Mrs. Edwin Ryerson, nurses' finale; Mrs. John V. Farwell III, programs; Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, properties.

Mrs. Eric Oldberg (came to the luncheon in a gray suit with yellow accents), publicity; Mrs. Grant Laing, sale of programs; Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr. and Mrs. Fentress Ott, shares; Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy who's in Arizona, stage setting; Mrs. C. Gardner Stevens Jr., tickets.

New board members at the luncheon in addition to Mrs. Stern, were Mrs. Gail Borden, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan Jr., both in gray suits with tan accessories; Mrs. Arnold Horween, Mrs. Jeffrey Short Jr. and Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr.

Lillian Gish loves to use to accessorize suits. The embossed silk was presented to the actress by the Kabuki players when she attended one of their performances in Washington, D.C.

MEMBERS of the Mothers' Aid of Lying-In hospital conducted a search in planning for their Mother's Day luncheon April 30 at the Palmer House.

They wanted to find the family in which two generations has used "Our Baby's First Seven Years," a book that is the group's principal project. They discovered that the Gardner Sterns, senior and junior, were the family. The baby book was used again for young Deborah and Gardner III.

The silver anniversary of the book will be marked at the luncheon.

A TEA May 5 at the Arts Club will open the exhibit of the paintings and murals of Jose Guerrero and the graphic work of Joan Miro. On the 7th Guerrero will lecture at 11:30 a.m. on "New Materials in Mural Paintings."

OPERA will be the luncheon theme when the woman's board of the University of Chicago Cancer Research Foundation meets for luncheon May 3 at the Casino. They will be making plans for the opening night May 20 of the Metropolitan Opera, their spring benefit vehicle.

MRS. Herman Bartholomay Jr. has been elected charter president of the woman's associate board of Cook County School of Nursing. She was elected at a tea given this week by Mrs. Thomas Coyne.

#4766 1954-13

THEY WERE THERE

Mrs. Gail Borden (from left), Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr., and Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr. among new members of St. Luke's woman's board at luncheon yesterday in the Casino club.

Mrs. Gardner H. Stern, another of the new board members. The show, always a highlight of fall season, is scheduled Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, board president, with the Charles H. Alberdings of Kenilworth. Mr. Alberding is president of the hotels resort chain sponsoring this year's show. (Story on page 1)

Tuesday, April 27, 1954

St. Luke's Show Is Set for Oct. 20

BY JUDITH CASS

(Pictures on page 3)

THE FALL benefit calendar is rapidly filling with brilliant events, one of the outstanding being St. Luke's hospital amateur fashion show, set for Oct. 20 in Medinah temple. The "angel," or backer, this year is the Alsonett Resort hotels, the woman's board announces, which means the show is sure to have a travel theme.

Among guests at a luncheon yesterday in the Casino club after the board's first fashion show meeting of the year were Charles H. Alberding, president of the hotels, and Mrs. Alberding. Mrs. James W. Rogers is show chairman, and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, assistant chairman.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, board president, also welcomed as special guests seven new board members: Mrs. Gail Borden, Mrs. DeWitt W. Buchanan Jr., Mrs. Arnold Horween, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Jeffrey Short Jr., Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., and Mrs. Gardner H. Stern.

English Speaking Union

A plum for those who like their theater on the classic side is the English Speaking union's fall benefit, the opening night performance in the Opera house of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by players from London's Old Vic theater. The benefit is seven months away, Nov. 24, Thanksgiving eve, but already early bird E. S. U. patrons have reserved six boxes.

Forty dancer from the Sadler's Wells ballet company will be included in the cast of the Shakespeare play, among them Moira Shearer as Titania and Robert Helpmann as Oberon.

Plans for the benefit will be discussed at a tea at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, one of the newly elected members of the union's

#4766 1954-14

Chicago Daily Tribune

Today with Women

MOVIES • AMUSEMENTS
WANT ADS

Tuesday, April 27, 1954

Part 2—Page 1

Travel to Be Theme of St. Luke's Show; Backer Is Named

BY JUDITH CASS

THE FALL benefit calendar is rapidly filling with brilliant events, one of the outstanding of which is, as always, the St. Luke's hospital amateur fall fashion show, scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 20, in the Medinah temple. The backer, or "angel," this year is the Alsonett Resort hotels, it is announced by the woman's board, which means the show is sure to have a travel theme.

Feted guests at a luncheon yesterday in the Casino club—the board's first fashion show meeting of the year—were Charles H. Alberding, president of the hotels, and Mrs. Alberding. They had news to tell of the hotel chain's vacation spots.

Mrs. James W. Rogers, just back herself from vacation travels, is chairman of this year's show.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, board president, also introduced as special guests seven new board members: Mrs. Gail Borden, Mrs. De Witt W. Buchanan Jr., Mrs. Arnold Horween, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Jeffrey Short Jr., Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., and Mrs. Gardner H. Stern.

Mrs. Rogers

discussed at a tea at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, one of the newly elected members of the union's board.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf is chairman of the benefit. Co-chairmen are Mrs. Wirtz, Mrs. Edward Byron Smith, and Mrs. Murray Randolph.

Howay-Fall

The many friends here of Mr. and Mrs. David Richardson Fall of Asheville, N. C., formerly of Chicago and Evanston, will be interested in the news of the betrothal of their son, Ensign Fall Jr., and Miss Marcia E. Howay. The announcement is made by Miss Howay's mother, Mrs. Julian Howay of Mary Esther, Fla.

Ensign Fall is a graduate of the Asheville School for Boys and of Williams college. He now is in flight training at the

WOMAN'S WORLD

Chicago American ★ Tues., April 27, 1954—9

Cholly Dearborn:

3-Weeks Vacation Is St. Luke's Prize

SOMEONE BORN under a luck star will win a three-week holiday for two, all expenses including transportation paid, at this year's St. Luke's Fashion Show.

The show's collaborator, the Alsonett Resort Hotels, will provide the prize. This means a choice among resort hotels in Phoenix, St. Simons Island, Ga., St. Petersburg, Fla., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mr. Charles H. Alberding, president of the hotel group, with his wife, was among the guests at a luncheon gathering of St. Luke's board members yesterday at the Casino.

Also introduced were seven new board members, including Mrs. Gail Borden, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan Jr., Mrs. Arnold Horween, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Jeffrey Short Jr., Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., and Mrs. Gardner H. Stern.

#4766 1954-15

THIS WEEK in Lake Forest

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR ST. LUKE'S SHOW

St. Luke's hospital's annual fall fashion show, which will be held at the Medinah Temple on October 20, came up for discussion when Mrs. Paget K. Cady of Chicago, Mrs. Lester Armour of North Sheridan road, Lake Bluff, Mrs. Loyal Davis of Chicago, and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy of Chicago, left to right, met recently at Jokake Inn, Phoenix, Ariz. Jokake Inn is one of the six resort hotels under Alsonett management which is collaborating with the St. Luke's woman's board in producing this year's benefit.

CHICAGO SUN-TIMES, TUESDAY, APRIL 27, 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

Like the good stage managers they are, St. Luke's Woman's Board members made a gala occasion of their annual luncheon at the Casino Monday. They had a valid reason for indulging in a festive mood, since they had assembled to make two important announcements.

The first bit of news of immediate interest was that the board had acquired the collaboration of the Alsonett Resort Hotels in the production of their forthcoming 1954 Fashion Show. It was interesting to note that the corporation was referred to as collaborator, rather than sponsor—the term usually used for financial supporters of charity affairs. The St. Luke's Woman's Board always will be the sponsor of its own famous fashion show.

The second bulletin listed the names of seven new members of the St. Luke's Woman's Board. They are Mrs. Gail Borden, Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr., Mrs. Arnold Horween, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Jeffrey Short Jr., Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr. and Mrs. Gardner H. Stern.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the board, gave out all the official news, including the naming of Oct. 20 as the date of the show, which will again be given in Medinah Temple.

MRS. JAMES WALLER ROGERS is chairman of the 1954 Fashion Show Committee and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III is her assistant.

Guests of honor at the luncheon were Charles H. Alberding, president of the hotel chain, and Mrs. Alberding. They were thanked warmly for the handsome gift they had made to the shares committee. It is a certificate for three weeks' vacation

Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Short Jr. were among the seven newly named members of the Woman's Board of St. Luke's Hospital introduced at Monday luncheon in the Casino. (Sun-Times Photo by Larry Nocerino) for two at any one of the several hotels the company operates. These include Jokake Inn and Paradise Inn at Phoenix, the King and Prince on St. Simon's Island and several hotels in Florida.

In deference to their collaborator, the Fashion Show Committee is planning a very elaborate showing of resort fashions.

#4766 1954-16

St. Luke's Style Show Plans Laid

By Thalia

When the first St. Luke's Hospital benefit fashion show was presented 28 years ago, with amateur models, it not only caused a furor but started a trend in benefits which has become nation-wide. It was two Chicago women who made that then-daring innovation in the United States—Mrs. Walter B. Wolf and Mrs. Frank Hibbard. They now are the advisory committee.

Both, belying the passage of a quarter century, were on hand last Monday at a luncheon in the Casino club when the "collaborator" of this year's benefit fashion show not only was announced, but also introduced.

Charles H. Alberding, president of the Alsonett Resort hotels, and Mrs. Alberding were welcomed by almost all of the 50 or so board members, Mrs. James Waller Rogers and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, fashion show chairmen; Mrs. Eric Oldberg, publicity chairman who arranged the luncheon, and Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the woman's board of the hospital.

Mr. Alberding is providing the stage setting [always a big and challenging item] and also is offering as a fashion show prize a three weeks' holiday, including transportation and all expenses, at any of the Alsonett Resort hotels.

Already a large share of fashionable Chicagoans have the afternoon of Oct. 20 red-circled on their engagement calendars and luncheon planned at one of the fashionable clubs.

Last year the St. Luke's Fashion show netted $60,860, an all-time high, and enthusiasm already is bubbling to make this year's profit even more spectacular.

Published weekly by Lloyd Hollister Inc., 584 Lincoln Avenue, Winnetka, Illinois

Entered as Second Class Matter March 13, 1925, at the post office at Winnetka, Illinois, under the act of March 3, 1879.

XLIII, No. 11

Ten cents a copy—$3.00 a year

Thursday, May 13, 1954

Vacationers Discuss St. Luke's Fall Benefit

Pictured from left to right, Paul Graham, manager of an Arizona inn, one of the seven of a hotel chain backing St. Luke's Hospital fall fashion show, discusses plans with Mrs. Gilbert Scribner, Winnetka, Mrs. George Rich, Kenilworth, and Mrs. Homer Hargrave and Mrs. Niblack Thorne, Chicago, on the grounds of the inn, where they have been vacationing. (Photo by Karl)

St. Luke's Hospital Fashion Show benefit will be held at Medinah Temple on Wednesday, October 20.

Charles H. Alberding, president of the hotel chain, ranging in geographical location from Arizona to Georgia and Florida, who will be the "angel," and Mrs. Alberding attended the meeting of the Woman's Board of St. Luke's hospital.

At the recent meeting of the Woman's Board, of which Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams is president, with Mrs. James Waller Rog-

Entertain New Members

The Women's Auxiliary of the Sheridan Shore Yacht Club members entertained new members at a tea Thursday afternoon, May 6.

ers fashion show chairman and her co-chairman, Mrs. Watson Armour III, new members welcomed from the North Shore, were Mrs. Jeffrey Short Jr., and Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., both of Winnetka.

Service League Luncheon May 17

The North Shore Service League of the Chicago Maternity Center will hold its annual luncheon Monday, May 17, at the Chicago Athletic Club. Mrs. Elis Carlson of 135 Seventeenth Street, Wilmette, will retire as president, and she will also make known the new officers for the coming year.

Mrs. John Andrews King, chairman of the board of directors of the Maternity Center, will receive from Mrs. Carlson a check which is the annual donation of the service league to benefit the center.

Miss Helen Hoffman, director of the Maternity Center, will be present at the luncheon as a guest and will give a short talk to the new members of the league about the work done at the center.

The members of the board of the league who have served this year have been, besides Mrs. Carlson, Mrs. Vincent Newman, Wilmette, Mrs. Vernon Garner, Mrs. McKendree Hutchins, Mrs. Richard Lee, and Mrs. Edward Randlett of Evanston, Mrs. Fred Kasper and Mrs. Ralph Blakesley of Winnetka, Mrs. Parker Dolan, Mrs. John Bartholomew, of Glenview, and Mrs. William Croft, Mrs. James Bard, and Mrs. Daniel Poor of Wilmette.

Arrives Just in Time to Greet New Grandson

While on a business trip, recently, Edward Gammie of 620 Ridge Avenue, Kenilworth, stopped in Baltimore, Md., on May 1, and arrived just in time to greet his grandson, who was born that day, to his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Sullivan Wilson III (Diana Gammie).

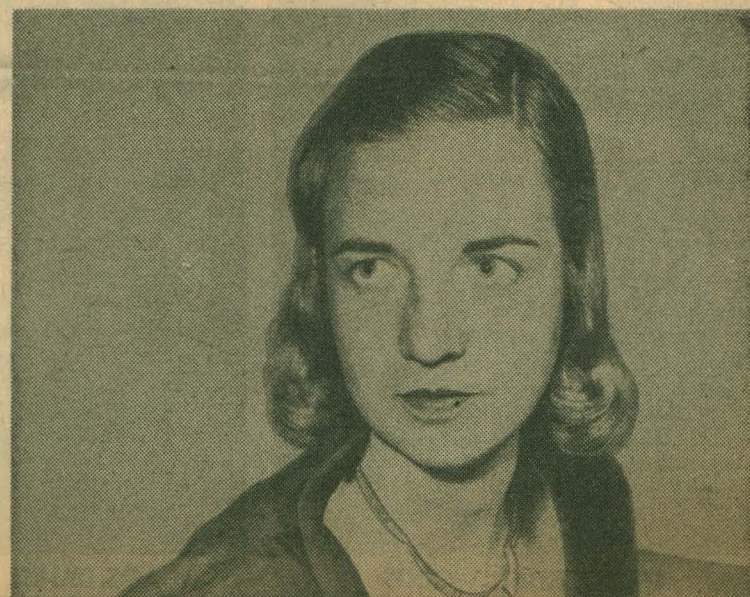

#4766 1954-17

Gems Glitter For St. Luke's Show

ABOVE: Marcia Haggerty (left) and Mrs. James Somes display bracelets with value of nearly $25,000. Young women will be mannikins in 1954 St. Luke's Fashion Show.

LEFT: Mrs. Darwin Curtis enjoys thrill of wearing $40,000 worth of gems from Trabert & Hoeffler Mauboussin jewel collection.

#49660 1954-18

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

A multimillionaire whose entire career may have been shaped by a $10-a-week pay difference will be host Monday evening to a group of Lake Foresters of great inherited wealth.

The business tycoon is Charles H. Alberding, president and major stockholder in the Alsonett Hotels Corp. and president, managing director and major stockholder in several oil companies. The group he and his wife will entertain are trustees of St. Luke's Hospital, members of the Woman's Board, and the children of this group. The party is to be given in the handsome old Charles H. Schweppe house in Lake Forest, as a special gesture toward the committee of St. Luke's Woman's Board members who are working on the annual Fashion Show. The Alsonett Hotels Corp. is sponsoring this fall's show.

Co-hostess of the affair will be Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, co-chairman of the Fashion Show Committee. Mrs. Armour is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Schweppe.

THE $10-A-WEEK EPISODE came up in Alberding's life just after his graduation from Cornell University in 1923. As an honor graduate in engineering, Alberding was offered a job by the General Electric Corp. It looked promising, but Alberding had a weather eye out for something better. In no time at all he heard of a post out in Wyoming which paid $10 more a week than the GE job.

The son of a family of moderate means, Alberding never had been out West but he unhesitatingly boarded a train for Laramie and thus took the first step that led to a successful career in the oil world. The Wyoming company to first hire him was later absorbed by Sinclair. After a comparatively short stay in the West, Alberding went to Oklahoma, then to Arkansas.

MRS. CHARLES H. ALBERDING

MRS. A. WATSON ARMOUR III

WHEN J. OGDEN ARMOUR became interested in the Universal Oil Products Co., Alberding joined that organization, working in London for two years and later in Romania, Italy, Sweden and Rangoon. Meanwhile, his weekly paycheck became less and less important as his stock dividends from oil investments increased at a fabulous rate.

Alberding is not the "all work and no play" type. For one thing, he always has loved to dance, and while he was figuratively swimming on the rising tide of his oil investments in London, he remembered a pretty girl he had met at a community dance down in Ardmore, Okla. The truth is that Bethine Wolverton was constantly on his mind during his first two years in London. Mrs. Alberding says they were not engaged but that their courtship ripened through correspondence and he came back from his London post to marry her. They now have three pretty daughters: Beth Ann, a student at the University of Oklahoma; Mary Katherine, a sophomore at New Trier High, and Melissa Linda, a fifth-grader in a Kenilworth school.

DURING THE WAR ALBERDING served as petroleum administrator with the War Production Board. He got into the hotel business because through his wide travels he figured he had learned how hotels should be run to the best advantage of the customer as well as to the operator.

For one thing he realized the radical change in the clientele of the modern resort hotel. Previous generations of wealthy families took suites in fashionable resorts for entire seasons. They went in for great formality and were good spenders. Since the advent of the surtax, that type of hotel trade has considerably lessened. Today the best patrons of resort hotels are businessmen

Chicago Daily Tribune

Today with Women

MOVIES • AMUSEMENTS

Monday, June 28, 1954

Part 3—Page 3

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, who are spending the summer in Lake Forest, have worked out their own little "international exchange" plan. While their daughter, Mervyn, is leading an Experiment in International Living group in Brussels, Belgium, the Adamses are entertaining a house guest from that city, Miss Marie Claire Pouleur. The young woman, who will study this fall in Kansas City, Mo., will be introduced to a number of young people in Lake Forest by Mr. and Mrs. Adams' younger daughter, Janys, who returned last Friday from a house party in Richmond, Ky.

A pleasant gathering around the pool at the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe's estate in Lake Forest is in store for the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital today. Guests have been invited by the board and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Alberding to assemble at 5:30 p. m. for cocktails and a buffet supper.

The annual luncheon and day at the races of the Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association has been postponed from today at the Post and Paddock club at Arlington park to July 13.

#4766 1954-19

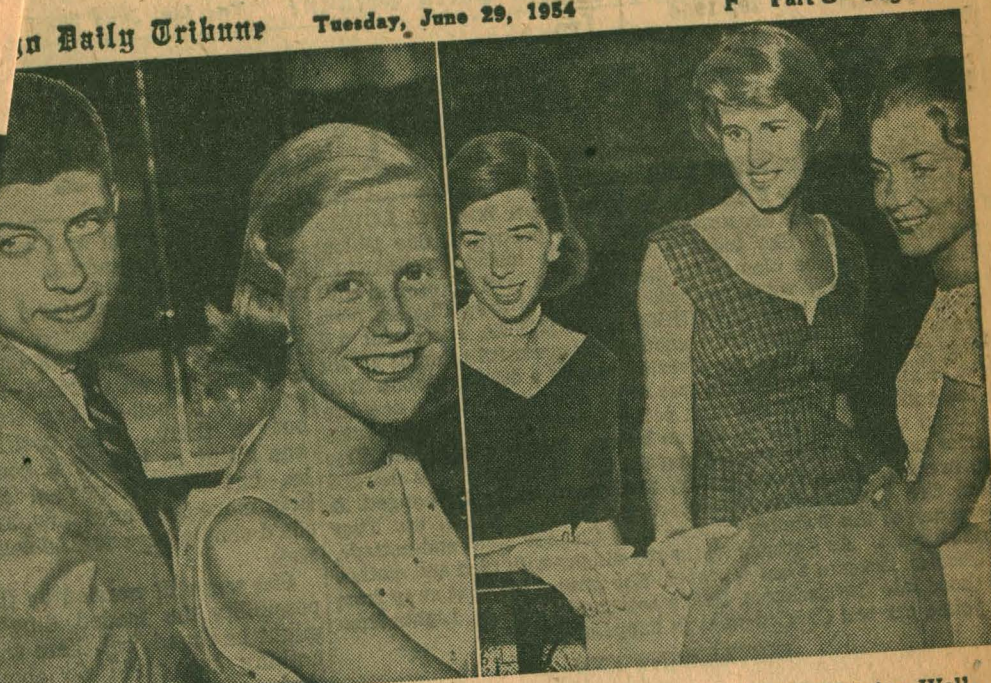

THEY WERE THERE

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III (left) and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles B. Armour, at cocktail and supper party yesterday around the pool at the Schweppe estate in Lake Forest.

Mrs. J. Beach Clow (left), Samuel J. Walker, Mrs. W. Irving Osborne at party given by St. Luke's hospital woman's board and Charles H. Alber

James Donnelley and Miss Leola Armour enjoy party, which included exhibition of diving at swimming pool. [TRIBUNE Photos]

Miss Jany Adams (left), Miss Ann Walling, and Miss Marie Claire Pouleur (right), who is Miss Adams' guest from Belgium.

Pool Party Given by Unit of St. Luke's

BY ELEANOR PAGE

The woman's board of St. Luke's hospital, which prides itself on giving some unusual parties in addition to its autumn fashion show, and Charles H. Alberding, president of the Alsonett Resort hotels, donor of this year's fashion show stage setting, should get together more often. At least, that was the opinion of those who attended a merry gathering arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Alberding and the board around the pool at the Schweppe estate yesterday evening in Lake Forest.

The pool setting would be an asset to the most luxurious resort imaginable. It is situated atop a bluff overlooking

WOMAN'S WORLD

Chicago American * Tues., June 29, 1954—11

AN UNEXPECTED DIVERSION at the St. Luke's women's board party in Lake Forest last evening was an exhibition diving program. The beautiful swimming pool on the estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe was perfect for such entertainment.

Co-hosts for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Alberding and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Schweppe. Mrs. Alberding is president of the Alsonett Hotels Corporation, which will sponsor this year's St. Luke's fashion show.

Though the handsome brick and stone mansion has been closed for some twelve years, the lawns of the estate overlooking Lake Michigan are beautifully maintained. Cocktails were served on the stone terrace overlooking the pool and for the buffet supper tables were set up against a natural backdrop of towering evergreens and carefully kept flowerbeds.

Among over 150 guests: Mr. and Mrs. James Waller, the Robert McCormick Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift III, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ticken, Mr. and Mrs.

Continued from Page 11

Thomas Connors, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, and Mrs. Charles H. Glore.

○ ○ ○

497100 1954-20

SOCIETY IN CHICAGO

New York Debs Bow
Wednesday to Kin
And Friends HereAda Forgan, Phyllis Field
To Be Feted in Shoreacres

BY ATHLYN DESHAIS

It should be interesting to get the views of Ada Forgan and Phyllis Field on debut life, on sophisticated New York styles vs. the hale and hearty Midwest kind.

These two dark-haired charmers from Gotham, both of whom are to bow to Lake Forest society at Shoreacres Wednesday, certainly are qualified to speak their minds.

Phyllis, daughter of the Marshall Fields of New York, made her bow in the East a few weeks ago.

Ada, daughter of the Russell Forgans of New York, will come out in her own home town in December. She was just graduated from Garrison Forest and will be going on to Vassar.

PHYLLIS FIELD

HOSTS at Wednesday evening's dinner dance will be Phyllis' half-brother, Marshall Field Jr., and Mrs. Field; the Clifford Rodmans (she was a Field); the Henry P. Wheelers (she's Ada's sister), and the junior John T. Piries.

MRS. WHEELER

Arriving here Tuesday with her parents and brother, Russell Jr., Ada is being met by her sister Joan, Mrs. Elton Parks Jr. of Denver. Elton will arrive Wednesday. He and Joan and Russell Jr. will be the Wheelers' house guests.

The Forgans and their debutante daughter will be with the Rodmans,

* * *

ALTHOUGH Marshall Field can't be here, Mrs. Field and her son, Bobby Phipps, and a friend of his from England, Bendor Drummond, all are due to arrive Tuesday. Phyllis, who was suddenly taken ill in the East, won't arrive until Wednesday.

The deb and her mother will be guests of the Piries. Mr. Phipps and Mr. Drummond will be with the James Cooks (Daphne Field).

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nichols are giving a cocktail party Tuesday for the Forgans and their friends in all age groups.

Mrs. Clarence Prentice (mother-in-law of Mrs. Wheeler), will give a luncheon Wednesday for all age groups.

For Wednesday night's debut dinner in Shoreacres, where the decorations will be pink streamers and flowers, 125 have been invited. Many others will come in later for dancing after dutch treat dinner at Onwentsia. Cocktail parties are being hosted by the Bowen Blairs and the Donald McKellars in their homes.

Both Ada and Phyllis are accomplished horsewomen, having ridden for several years in shows at Madison Square Garden.

Subdeb Crowd in the Lineup

The subdeb crowd took the limelight away from this

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

A striking illustration of the progressive spirit of Chicagoans is seen in the current trend toward the obliteration of famous old homes. Most of these were symbolic of the wealth and eminence as well as the cultural background of the families that built them. But this has not deterred the present generation from allowing them to pass into other hands.

During the last week the magnificent home of the late Mrs. Richard T. Crane was sold for use as a nursing home and the 40-room residence of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen was bought by a group to be converted into small rental apartments.

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, who with her brother, Dr. John S. Schweppe, is preserving the Lake Forest home of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe.

Three main factors of modern life have combined to bring about the doom of the mansions: High taxes, lack of household help and a genuine desire on the part of the younger generation to live in simpler and more conveniently arranged homes.

IN A DISCUSSION of the now-almost-forgotten way of life that once flourished here, Mrs. Alice H. Patterson recalled the types of entertaining that hostesses provided in these fine old homes. She spoke of one memorable ball given by the late Mrs. Franklin MacVeagh in her home, which then stood on the site now occupied by the fashionable 1500 Lake Shore Dr. apartment building.

The ballroom of the house, which was of great spaciousness, had a balcony. At the midnight hour, the then Hazel Martyn, who later became the wife of Sir John Lavery, famous British painter, stepped to the rail of the balcony dressed in a flowing gown of white chiffon and presented a monolog in her beautifully cultured voice. Mrs. MacVeagh's entertaining always was done on a lavish scale, comparable in fact to the more widely heralded fetes presented by Mrs. Potter Palmer, who was then the reigning high priestess of society.

MRS. PATTERSON ALSO RECALLED that in her younger days, the late Mrs. Emmons Blaine was regarded as a great hostess. She gave balls and musicals in her home, and her dinner guests always included the most interesting persons in Chicago. Mrs. Blaine's house was, of course, not comparable in size to the huge home of her parents, the late Cyrus McCormicks, which was across the street.

The McCormick place, recently razed, also boasted a fine ballroom, but Aunt Nettie, as Mrs. McCormick was known, was not inclined toward elaborate entertaining. Mrs. Patterson said that the ballroom was frequently used for the dancing classes which were attended by herself, her late husband, Joseph Medill Patterson, and their friends. Harold McCormick lived there with his second wife, Ganna Walska.

Illustrative of the tastes of the descendants of these owners of palatial homes, Fowler McCormick, for instance, lives in a modern apartment at 1500 Lake Shore Dr. He and Mrs. McCormick also spend a considerable part of their time in their ranch house near Phoenix, Ariz.

ONE OF THE FINE ESTATES in Lake Forest, which is being preserved, is the enormous residence of the late Charles H. Schwepes. Unoccupied for the last 12 years, the house is kept exactly as it was while the Schwepes lived, and there is no intention on the part of the heirs to dispose of it. The beautiful swimming pool and the fine tennis court are used by the Schwepes' daughter, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III.

Last week she invited the entire board of trustees of St. Luke's Hospital, the Woman's Board and their children and grand-

#4766 1954-21

PARTY IN LAKE FOREST

St. Luke's hospital directors and wives, Woman's Board and husbands, with their children all gathered at the estate of the late Charles H. Schweppe for a party held around the pool. Fete was held for members of the Woman's Board. Among partygoers are (above, l. to r., seated) Gerry Taylor, Tom Carper, Margot Donald, (standing) Louise Smith and Lynn Beach.

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, daughter of the late Mr. Schweppe and a hostess for the party, chats with Mrs. William H. Mitchell Jr., who decorated the pool.

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

"There never has been a party in Lake Forest like it and probably there will never be another half so good." That comment by Mrs. Charles F. Glore is a good description of the informal reception held Monday evening on the magnificent estate of the late Charles H. Schweppe.

Hosts for the gathering were Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, co-chairman of the 1954 St. Luke's fashion show and Charles H. Alberding, who is the angel for the show.

There was a remarkable spirit of warmth and gaiety in the crowd. Trustees of the hospital and members of the Woman's Board and their children and grandchildren combined to make the gathering something of a big family reunion.

While the cocktails were being served on the terrace of the estate's beautiful swimming pool, a group of champion swimmers put on a diving exhibition that was thrilling to behold.

After that show ended, everyone crossed to another handsomely landscaped terrace where tables were laid for a buffet supper. Needless to say, the guests represented practically all the leading families in Lake Forest and Chicago.

ON JULY 14 George Russell Carr, president of the Post and Paddock, will give a party for his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Carr.

Walter Carr was born on the anniversary of Bastille Day and he and Mrs. Carr chose the historic day in 1909 for their marriage. Missing from the family gathering for the celebration will be the Carrs' daughter, Mrs. Marshall Grosscup Sampsell, and her husband and children. They are spending the summer on Fire Island, N.Y., and Mrs. Sampsell and the children will not return until Sept. 1.

Last week the Sampsells visited Gov. and Mrs. John Lodge at Hartford, Conn., and Nikki and Randy, the two young Sampsell girls, had a wonderful day rambling through the executive mansion. Needless to say, they sent a full report of their explorations to Grandmother Carr.

WHEN IT WAS ANNOUNCED that "a wedding gown that has never been used" would be among the offerings in Wednesday's rummage sale at Horticultural Hall in Lake Geneva, the obvious query: "Was the bride jilted?" Turns out, no such exciting history attaches to the beautiful white satin gown. It is a new dress contributed by one of the department stores.

The sale, which is for the benefit of Holiday Home, opens at 10 a.m. standard time, which will make it possible for city folk to get to Lake Geneva during the early hours of the sale.

AMONG THE OFFERINGS will be several pieces of furni-

#4766 1954-22

THIS WEEK... in Lake Forest

Two Young Women Will Bow July 4 At Tea with Red, White, Blue

Red, white, and blue flowers will provide a setting for a patriotic theme the afternoon of July 4 when Miss ReQua and Miss Martha Beck von Peccoz, stepsisters, will have a tea in their parents' home on Melody road, Libertyville. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. ReQua.

Miss ReQua has chosen a white organza frock trimmed with embroidered white bands, and Miss von Peccoz will wear white organza with an applique of embroidered flowers on the full skirt. Both young women will carry bouquets of garnet roses, bachelor buttons, and stephanotis to carry out the red, white and blue theme.

The possibility of extremely warm weather on July 4 will not distress the two debutantes and their friends since Mr. and Mrs. ReQua have planned a swimming party with music for them that evening in the ReQua pool.

A June graduate of Dana hall, Miss ReQua will enter Briarcliff Junior college in the fall. Her stepsister is studying at Bennett Junior college where she has completed her freshman year.

Two sets of uncles and aunts, the William S. Covingtons of Melody road, Libertyville, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr. of Melody road, will fete them at parties later in the season.

* * *

Miss Patricia Sudler, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr. of North Sheridan road, will be feted at a party in Shoreacres on Saturday night. Her parents will be hosts, as will Stephen Y. Hord of West Deerpath, whose daughter, Brent, will share honors with Miss Sudler.

Both young women will wear bouffant dresses of white lace and taffeta, floor length, and carry sandalwood fans decked with Amazon lilies and ivy. They will receive in the clubhouse, and there will be dancing outside, later on, under a marquee decked with

Announce Betrothal Of Miss Joan Car To Charles Garland

Mr. and Mrs. Marion of Louisville, Ky., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joan Burns, to Charles Garland Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Sr. of Baltimore. The betrothal was told Saturday in the Cardwell parents' home, date for the wedding has not yet been decided upon as yet.

The Garlands were residents of Lake Forest from 1931 to 1932. Mr. Garland Jr. attended Forest Day school and was graduated from the Hotchkiss school in 1945. He received his bachelor's degree from Yale university where he was a member of the French club and Wolf's club.

Miss Cardwell was graduated from the Kentucky Honor Society for Girls and from Bradenton college. She is a member of the Spinners' cotillion and her debut in 1952.

Cradle Society Date for Fashion Show

The date selected for the fashion show of the Cradle Society is September 16. The Elizabeth Arden fashion show will be staged at the Hilton.

Plans for 1954 St. Luke's Show Are Announced at Buffet Supper

Plans for the 1954 St. Luke's fashion show were announced Monday at a buffet supper on the estate of the late Charles H. Schweppe on North Mayflower road. Guests gathered for cocktails on the terrace above the pool where divers had been engaged to entertain with an exhibition. Hosts for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Alberding.

Miss Cynthia Mead Chooses Attendants For July 10 Wedding

The Rev. John J. Ahern of Barrington will officiate at the July 10 ceremony in St. Anne's church there uniting Miss Cynthia Mary Mead in marriage with William A. P. Watkins Jr., son of the senior Watkins' of East Maplewood road. Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Mead II of Barrington, formerly of North Washington road, will give the reception at home immediately after the 4 o'clock ceremony.

Miss Mead's sister, Judy, will be maid of honor; and four Lake Forest girls will be bridesmaids. They are Miss Anne Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Reynolds of West Laurel avenue; Miss Margaret Kerwin, daughter of the Charles Kerwins of Meadow lane, Miss Betty McAlvin, daughter of Mrs. H. Clark Corbin of East Illinois road; and Miss Claiborne Watkins of East Maplewood road, sister of the bridegroom-elect.

Best man for Mr. Watkins will be the bride's brother, George of Chicago. Another brother, Robert G. Mead III, of Washington, D.C.; a cousin, Michael Blow of Yorktown, Va.; H. Brooks Smith of Burrill avenue, Lake Bluff; and Leonard Fink of New York will usher.

(Continued on page 12)

Mr. Alberding is president of hotels in Arizona, Georgia and Florida, sponsors of the benefit this year. Receiving guests with him was Mrs. A. Watson Armour III of East Deerpath, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Schweppe, and a member of the woman's board. Directors of the hospital and their wives, woman's board members, and their families, were there to hear details of benefit plans.

Travel will be the theme of the 28th annual show, to be carried out in stage settings and costumes. As usual, the benefit will be given in the Medinah temple, Chicago; and the date chosen is October 20.

Award for the 1954 show will be a three weeks' holiday for two persons, complete with transportation and all expenses, at one of the hotels.

The following Lake Foresters have been named to committee memberships:

Mrs. Morrison Waud of North Green Bay road, chairman of boxes, whose assistants include Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams of East Onwentsia road, Mrs. A. Watson Armour Sr. of North Waukegan road, Mrs. John A. Chapman of North Green Bay road, Mrs. Thomas A. Connors of North Washington road, Mrs. Huntington B. Henry of North Green Bay road, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon of Walden lane, Mrs. Stanley Keith of North Lake road, Mrs. Charles H. Morse of North Stone Gate lane, Mrs. John C. Pitcher of Meadow lane, Mrs. John A. Stevenson of North Elm Tree road, and Mrs. Edward F. Swift III of East Wisconsin avenue.

Pat Tea June 21

St. Luke's Board Gives Chic Party

By Thalia

A setting such as no eyes had ever before seen, dramatic in sparkle and color, greeted guests at the chic buffet supper party given Monday evening by the members of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital and their "angels" for the annual St. Luke's Fashion show on Oct. 20 at Medinah Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Alberding. He is president of the Alsonett resort hotels.

Among the seven hotels in the chain are two in Arizona, the popular Jokake Inn and Paradise Inn, and their locale inspired the evening's decorative scheme of silver cacti adorning each table and sparkling in the greenery around one of the most beautiful swimming pools in the country. Turquoise table covers echoed the shimmering waters in the turquoise-tiled pool.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell Jr., of Dayton, formerly of Lake Forest, was responsible for the dramatic decorations. She returned to Lake Forest for the party. Mrs. A. Watson Armour III was responsible for the lodebutantes were busy enough elsewhere not to be miffed over not being invited to the party which their younger sisters and brothers attended with glee.

It was an evening of gayety and charm. Mrs. James Waller Rogers, chairman of this year's fashion show, came down from her summer home in Fish Creek, Wis., for the party and for the meeting of the woman's board which preceded it at 4 p. m.

There, incidentally, only routine business was discussed, for so skillfully planned is the famous St. Luke's benefit fashion show that by mid-summer only routine reports need be made. It is a fact that the day after the show closes each year the wheels are set in motion for next year's show. Last year's show netted $60,860—an all-time high—for the charitable work and maintenance of the hospital which the members of the woman's board accept as their responsibility.

THIS WEEK in Lake Forest

ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL BOARD, TRUSTEES, FETED AT BUFFET SUPPER

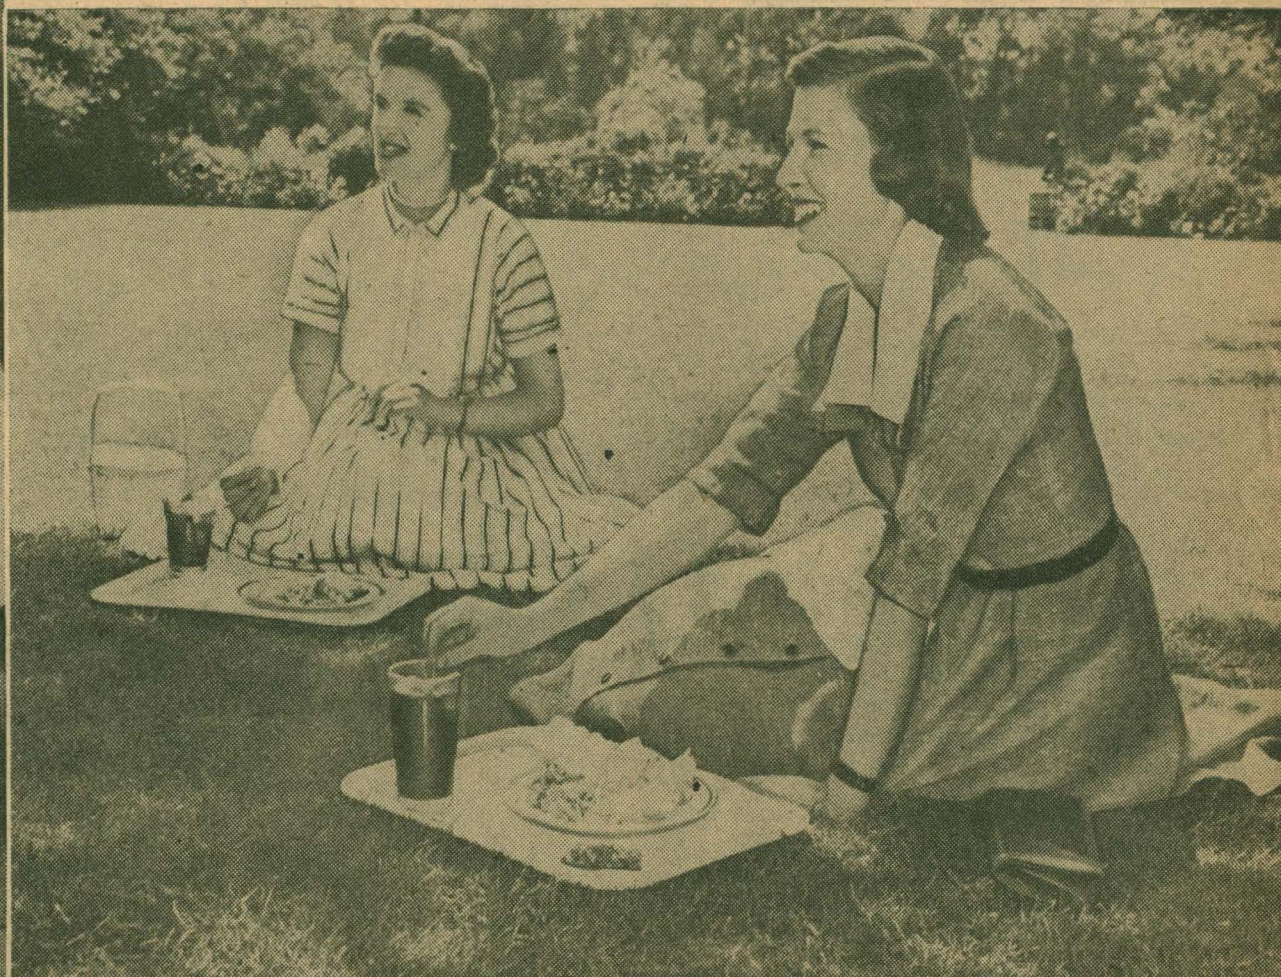

Among the guests at a buffet supper given June 26 to announce plans for the 1954 St. Luke's fashion show were woman's board members of the hospital and their husbands, trustees of the hospital and their wives, and teen-aged sons and daughters of both groups. Gathering at the pool on the North Mayflower road estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe where they watched a diving exhibition were (above left) Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr. of North King Muir road, former board member; Mrs. Jay N. Whipple of North Edgewood road, and Mrs. Franklin G. Clement of North Thorne lane, left to right, board members working on the mannequin committee.

Another member on that committee is Mrs. Bowen Blair of East Deerpath, left, pictured with Mrs. DeWitt W. Buchanan Jr. of East Laurel avenue, just elected to the board (center picture). Two of the hosts, Charles Alberding, hotel president who will sponsor this year's St. Luke's show, and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III of East Deerpath, right, woman's board member, pose with Mrs. Charles F. Glore of North Maple court, a board member who is working on the clothes committee. Mrs. Alberding and Mrs. Armour also were hosts at the gathering which took place at the home of Mrs. Armour's late parents, the Schwepes.

IN THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Mrs. Charles H. Alberding (center) and her three daughters, Beth Ann (left), Mary K. (right) and Melissa Linda (on the floor) attended a recent meeting of St. Luke's Hospital fashion show committees. Charles H. Alberding is sponsoring St. Luke's annual fashion show. Oct. 20.

Presbyterian Hospital's fund-raising committees in Winnetka are hard at work this summer on late fall plans. Mrs. William A. Pope (left) and Mrs. Oglesby Paul lunched at the home of Mrs. Harold Nutting of Winnetka to plan sale in November for the benefit of Presbyterian Hospital. The sale is sponsored by the Winnetka Auxiliary of the Woman's Board of the hospital. Mrs. George Smith of Winnetka is president of the auxiliary. (Sun-Times photos by Bill Knefel)

#4766 1954-25

SOCIAL WHIRL

By Kathryn Lewis

The sequel is being written to a story which began at a party given in June to honor Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Bell. Bell celebrated his 50th anniversary as head of the Lake Forest Bell School on that occasion.

A board of representative Lake Foresters is organizing for the purpose of relieving Bell of the financial responsibilities of running his school. Bell will continue as headmaster and a board of trustees, now being chosen, will handle the finances.

The school was founded in 1888 and since then the children of almost every Lake Forest family have received their grade school educations there.

More than 400 alumni honored Bell on his anniversary at a party given on the lawn of the estate of Lilace Reid Barnes.

JOHN KEEFE MILLS will take his bride to St. Charles next week when they return from a California honeymoon. John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Mills, married Mrs.

Mrs. Thomas G. Martin (left) and Mrs. Arthur Swanson take Tuffy, the Swanson pet, for a ride. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Swanson are members of the Evanston Junior Auxiliary of the Mary Bartelme Club who cruised aboard the Swansons' boat while planning an Aug. 25 benefit fashion show at the Ambassador.

Nancy Niedringhaus Lambert July 16 in the home of the bride's father at Harbor Springs, Mich. Nancy is the daughter of Warne Niedringhaus, St. Louis industrialist, and the late Mrs. Josephine Edgar Niedringhaus.

The couple met several weeks ago when John ushered at the wedding of Nancy's brother, James Selwyn Niedringhaus, in St. Louis.

Nancy had been divorced recently from Elliott Ludington Lambert, heir to the Lambert pharmaceutical fortune. Under the terms of the divorce, she was given custody of their two children.

Lambert achieved worldwide publicity when, shortly before his marriage to Nancy in 1948, he took a competitive examination and won an appointment as a patrolman on the St. Louis police force. He was hailed as the only policeman in the nation who was listed in the Social Register.

HAVING A WISDOM TOOTH REMOVED and enrolling in Harvard University have kept George Oldberg busy. A house guest coming from Manchester, Mass., will cheer him up. Francis (Taffy) Welsh Jr., who was George's classmate at Milton Academy, is making his first trip to the Middle West. He will have news for George about the Bermuda yacht races, having entered them last week.

George's mother, Mrs. Eric Oldberg, is meeting with Mrs. Samuel Bodman at Onwentsia Wednesday to plan publicity for

ATION • ART • NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

nday Tribune

Today with omen

AUGUST 1, 1954
Part 7—

THEATER • MUSIC • MOVIES

Ration Romance, Wives Find

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan Jr., and Mrs. Robert T. Isham, left to right, enjoy a few leisure moments in one of Lake Forest's most beautiful settings, by the side of the pool at the Lake Forest estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Schweppe, parents of Mrs. Armour. Leisure moments for the three women come between various chores as members of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital who are doing the spadework now for the success Oct. 20 of their annual fashion show in Medinah Temple.

#4766 1954-27

is imagining Things

Fishing is Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. De Young's favorite vacation pastime. Mrs. De Young's delightful straw hat suggests that she'd prefer to catch her fish in the tropics. They came like this to the Bodman party.

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

For and about WOMEN

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

SATURDAY, AUG. 7, 1954.

PAGE 13

to Their Heads

Secret vacation desires dominate society this week and uninhibited costumes and parties were popping up all over. Mr. and Mrs. George Rich III had no trouble imagining they were on a spotted pony in the Arizona desert.

Guests at the San netka—where eve they'd like best to snited to their for

#4960 1954-28

Hansol
TO DUPLICATE--
ORDER 4113
FROM YOUR RETAILER

634

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
401 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

LAKE FOREST ILL FORESTER
THURSDAY AUGUST 12 1954

St. Luke's Board's Travel Plans Follow Annual Show Theme

A good many members of the St. Luke's hospital board who annually devote their energies towards making the St. Luke's fashion show a successful event each October are leaving for brief holidays or just returning. Their travels are quite in keeping with the theme of this year's fashion show which will feature resort wear.

Prior to October 20, when the annual showing takes place in the Medinah temple, Chicago, Mrs. John C. Pitcher of Meadow lane, a member of the boxes committee, will move to the Drake hotel. She has sold her house to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lang of Chicago. A long time board member, Mrs. Lang is on the properties committee this year.

Another member of that committee is Mrs. Harold C. Smith of North Sheridan road, who is due home soon from a North Cape cruise.

Mrs. William J. Carney of Chicago, assisting on the shares committee, will be a Lake Forest resident by spring, since she and Mr. Carney are building a house on property adjoining the home of Carney's parents of North Green Bay road.

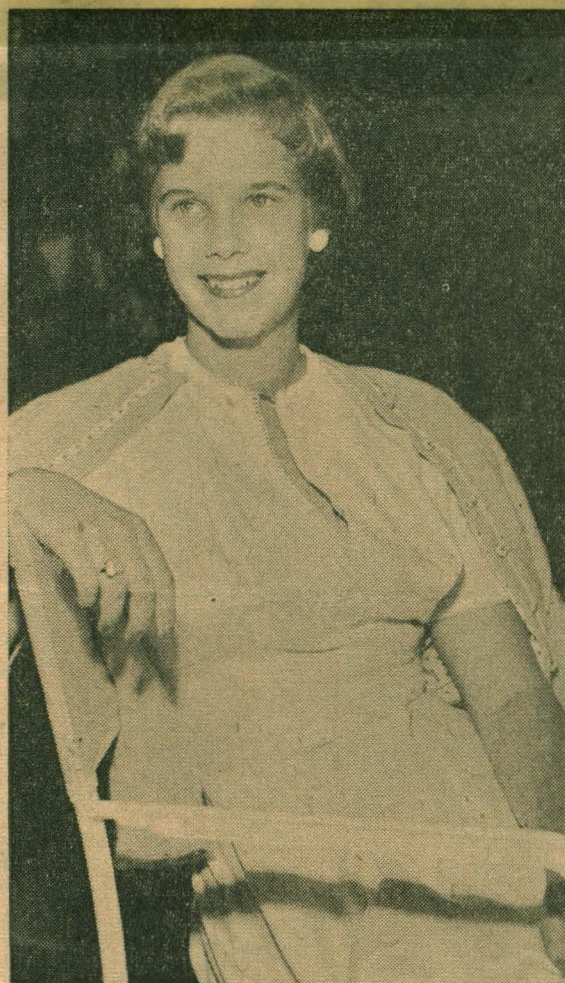

A former Lake Forester, Mrs. Sterling Morton, who is working on the properties committee, is again at home in Lake Forest, now that the house she and Mr. Morton were building on Lake road has been completed.

Chicago Sunday Tribune

Today with Women

August 22, 1954
Part 7— Page 2

Miss Deanne Beach is among Lake Forest sub-debutantes who someday will be modeling in the annual St. Luke's Fashion show, set for Oct. 20 this year. Daughter of the junior George R. Beaches, Miss Beach was snapped at a recent supper given by the woman's board of the hospital.

#4766 1954-29

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

For and about WOMEN

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

TUESDAY, AUG. 31, 1954.

★

St. Luke's Models Set for Style Show

BY JEAN RUSSELL

To Chicago socialites St. Luke's fashion show is a "must" on the fall calendar. With many, it's as firm an autumn tradition as Halloween and football weekends.

Oct. 20, at Medinah Temple, will mark the 28th year of the show.

Veteran models such as Mrs. Louis Sudler, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, Mrs. George Chapell, Mrs. Harry Drake and Mrs. Hixon Glore will strike a familiar note for every yearly benefit goer.

But even St. Luke's has its changes. New fashions and new faces add to the excitement of the occasion.

Three of last year's pretty young models have moved out of town—Mrs. Ross Siragusa Jr. to the West Coast, Mrs. John Ruffin (Betty MacFarland) to Virginia and Mrs. Roger Jackson Coleman (Judy Hargrave) to Baltimore, Md.

THE NEW models this year include Mrs. William F. Borland whose husband is a trustee of the hospital.

Two recent Vassar graduates who have joined the modeling ranks are Nancy Cummings and Calvine Burnett, whose sister, Mrs. Robert Isham, is a new member of the hospital board.

Marnie Dick and Mary Beth Alberding, daughter of Charles Alberding, whose resort hotels are underwriting the show, also will appear on the runway for the first time Oct. 20.

634
CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 9 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL MARY-GO-ROUND

THE WOMAN'S BOARD OF ST. LUKE'S will meet for lunch at the Casino Sept. 27. Every committee chairman for the 28th annual Fashion Show is expected to be prepared to give a final report on her advance work for the Oct. 20 show in Medinah Temple.

THE GOOD NUNS AT MARILLAC HOUSE will have, to them, the very rare privilege of seeing a parade of the latest Paris fashions Tuesday. The Women's Board and Auxiliary of Marillac will give the show in the Jackson Blvd. convent. On exhibit that day will be a collection of handmade articles, which will be sold at the annual bazaar sponsored by the Marillac benefit group.

"NO PUBLICITY FOR THE COTILLION debutantes' dance Thursday night," ruled Mrs. Homer Hargrave, president of the Woman's Board of Passavant Hospital. Reason for the decision was the "Hawaii Calls" party being given Friday night by the Cotillion Auxiliary. The current Cotillion debutantes will get the spotlight on the night of their debut ball in December.

#9760 1954-30

634
CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
SUNDAY SEPTEMBER 12 1954

By Thalia

Chicagoans will have their eyes glued to the runways at the Hilton hotel on Thursday afternoon when at a tea for the benefit of the Cradle Society in Evanston, the latest importations will be shown by Elizabeth Arden, the whole afternoon, her contribution to the Cradle's work.

Mrs. Seymour Wheeler and Mrs. Hunter V. R. Nicol are co-chairmen of the benefit and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, honorary chairman. Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Wheeler gave a luncheon at the Onwentsia club last Wednesday in honor of the models, all of whom, like the models in the White Elephant Shop Fashion show, are amateurs, daughters or friends of board members, and are all being drafted from the huge St. Luke's fashion show on Oct. 20.

The Winnetka Board of the Northwestern University settlement has a delightful pattern for its annual benefit luncheon—followed by a fashion show.

Luncheon will be served in four of the settlement's board members' homes—with a hundred guests entertained in each. The meal will be exactly the same in each of the homes [provided, as is the fashion show, by Carson Pirie Scott & Co. as its contribution to the work of the settlement].

After the luncheon the four hundred guests will gather in Christ Church Parish house for the fashion show. The four hostesses this year will be Mrs. Philip G. Atwood and Mrs. Otto Neumann, hostesses in previous years, and Mrs. Samuel H. Bingham Jr. and Mrs. Gilbert P. Bogert. Mrs. H. Baker Jenner, Mrs. Norman Waite, and Mrs. G. Lyle Fischer are chairmen of the day.

That same evening, Wednesday, one of the year's big events will be the professional football game at Comiskey park between the Chicago Cardinals and the Baltimore Colts from which the work of the Chicago Boys Clubs will benefit.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 14 1954

Cholly Dearborn

"BEST-DRESSED woman on the firing line" is the way a new national sports magazine describes Mrs. Leon Mandel, in a series of stunning color pictures of the beautiful Carola in various sports outfits. The "firing line" is, of course, the various skeet-shooting grounds throughout the country where Carola (Annie Oakley) Mandel has demonstrated her fabulous skill.

This girl, who seems to have "everything"—beauty, brains, and wealth—has just added new sports laurels to her crown. By winning, recently, the National Open Skeet championship she becomes the only woman ever to have captured this title—accomplished even with the handicap of a painful broken toe.

Having done the "shooting circuit" all over the country for five months, Carola is really exhausted—but it won't be long before she's on the social whirligig again, particularly in preparation for the St. Luke's Fashion Show on Oct. 20, when she will be one of the large corps of models.

NOTHING COULD be more appropriate than the setting for the Wayne Art League's 5th annual show. On Thursday this small band of devoted part-time artists will display the fruits of their year of labor at an outdoor show at the Mill Race Inn on the banks of the Fox River in Geneva.

In the Winter the women—somewhat impatiently—must confine their Monday morning painting dates to sessions of still life work in the Wayne Community House. But as soon as the weather allows they are out roaming the lovely Fox River Valley in search of paintable scenes. And this section of country has provided much of the inspiration for their works.

Among those who will show Thursday are Mrs. George Hamilton of Wayne, Mrs. Lawrence Henry and Mrs. Carl Wagner of Wheaton, Mrs. Waldo Hauxhurst of Batavia, Mrs. Grove Compton and Mrs. William Maxwell of Geneva.

#4766 1954-31

Chicago Daily Tribune

Today with Women

MOVIES • AMUSEMENTS

Friday, September 17, 1954

Part 3—Page 3

First Rehearsal Set for St. Luke's Show

BY JUDITH CASS

INDICATIONS of a busy autumn season arrive daily by the postman. Invitations are out to a tea the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will give Oct. 4 after the first rehearsal for the hospital benefit fashion show at 2 p. m. in the Casino club.

Board members will discuss the 1954 fashion show at luncheon Sept. 27 in the same club, and next Monday they will open their ticket office in the Palmolive building, with Mrs. C. Gardner Stevens in charge. The show will be presented Oct.

20 in the Medinah temple.

Mrs. Otto K. Eitel, third term president of the Chicago Chamber Music society, sends word that the Pro Musica Trio's 1954-55 season will open with a concert at 11:30 a. m. Oct. 13 in the Arts club. All concerts will be morning events except that of Dec. 8, which will be a dinner and concert, with Mrs. John Alden Carpenter as program chairman.

Margaret Etter Creche members are celebrating the fact that Mrs. Judson Large again has persuaded Consolidated Cosmetics to act as sponsor for the creche's benefit Golden Fantasy dinner dance to be held Nov. 13 in the Congress hotel's Gold ballroom.

Today's Events

Winnetkans will have the opportunity to shop conveniently for brides, babies, or birthdays at an all-day sale of Vocational Society for Shut-Ins goods today in the Winnetka home of Mrs. Herbert W. Kochs.

Rummage and smart fashions will be linked for good cause today in the Children's Memorial hospital benefit fashion show at 3 p. m. at the Lake Forest home of Mrs. D. Mark Cummings. The price for seeing dozens of amateur mannequins model the latest in fashions will be a gift of rummage for resale at the White Elephant Rummage shop, operated for the hospital's benefit.

The crowning of a "rummage queen" will climax festivities at the picnic luncheon Mrs. W. Donald Roberts will give at home in Winnetka today for members of the Woman's guild of Christ church,

Mrs. Stevens

Winnetka. All the guests' costumes—which they will model and which promise to range from the chic to the hilarious—will be donated to the guild for its rummage sale Oct. 14 in the church parish house.

Romantic News

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Hawes of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jane, to Joseph Hingeley Blake, son of Mrs. Edgar Blake Jr. of Oberlin, O., and Chicago and the late Mr. Blake. Miss Hawes is a graduate of Denison university. Mr. Blake was graduated from Wesleyan university. The wedding will take place next spring.

Miss Kate Becker will become the bride of William L. Morrison, son of the James Morrisons of Aberdeen, S. D., in a small family ceremony at 3 p. m. today in the Highland Park home of her parents, the James H. Beckers. Mrs. Jane Becker Schoenfeld will be her sister's only attendant. Miss Becker is a graduate of Radcliffe college, and her fiancé was graduated from Harvard university.

Here and There

The Charles A. Mortimers have invited a large group of friends to join them at home in Winnetka tonight for a supper dance at which the Mortimers will celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary.

Because Miss Patricia J. Holmes and her fiancé, Albert C. Buehler Jr., have decided on a wedding trip to Hawaii, his brother and sister-in-law, the Carl Buehlers, and sister and brother-in-law, the O. Howard Grosses, will entertain at a costume Hawaiian party for them tonight at the Carl Buehler home in Palatine.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Reebie [Ruth Ross] of Winnetka are being congratulated on the birth of a third child, Diane, Sept. 8.

#4766 1954-32

Chicago Sunday Tribune

Today Women

SEPTEMBER 19, 1954
Part 7—

THEATER • MUSIC • MOVIES

Janys Adams (left), Rosamond Stanton (center) and Ann Walling are learning to be helpful at St. Luke's hospital at an early age. Daughters of members of the woman's board, they volunteered to staff a rolling wagon loaded with gift shop items on hospital rounds. The board's annual fashion show will be held Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAUS
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. DAILY NEWS
TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 21 1954

SOCIETY: St. Luke's Women Get Busy

It's a full calendar for St. Luke's board members—

Some important announcements regarding St. Luke's fashion show will come out at Mrs. Gardner Stern's cocktail party Oct. 5.

Other details will be discussed next Monday when the board lunches at the Casino.

Following the first rehearsal of the St. Luke's fashion show Oct. 4, the woman's board is planning a tea at the Casino.

A FOND FAREWELL to Edith Atwater and the cast of "Time Out for Ginger" will be given by Edith's mother, Mrs. Harold Pynchon, and Mr. Pynchon at cocktail time next Monday in the Tavern Club. Mrs. Pynchon's other daughter, Mrs. Phil Maher, will assist as hostess.

So many of the Pynchons' friends have entertained for Edith and the cast during the play's long run here, and now they'll have a chance to say good-by in person.

SHEILA Marie Finneran, born last Wednesday in Englewood, N.J., to the junior Edward T. Finnerans, has been named for her aunt, Sheila Phoenix.

The aunt and the new mother, the former Margaret Phoenix, are the daughters of Mrs. Jay Turner of Evanston.

The senior Finnerans of New York are the paternal grandparents.

RADCLIFFE College supporters will meet at tea in the home of Mrs. Frank V. Theis on Thursday.

Mrs. Samuel A. Marx, noted art collector and guest speaker, will rouse interest in the Radcliffe art tour scheduled for Dec. 4.

The tour will include four distinguished contemporary art collections for the benefit of the college's scholarship fund.

A WHITE POODLE with a very sophisticated air decorates the handpainted invitations to a luncheon and fashion show at the Saddle and Cycle Sept. 29.

The benefit show, "Wherever She Goes," is being presented by St. Catherine's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church.

#4766 1954-33

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 S. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24 1954

Cholly Dearborn:

Style Show for St. Luke's

THAT ANNUAL STYLE review which is the St. Luke's Fashion Show has ceased to be merely a fashion show. In its metamorphosis from a small social event into a great sartorial spectacle it has also become something of an institution in Chicago, commanding the attention of the town's leading merchants and perhaps the largest combined feminine segment of society and the general public.

At this time the committees in charge of various aspects of the 1954 production, to be staged at Medinah Temple on Oct. 20, are going into high gear and from now on all their efforts will be concentrated on finalizing plans for this fabulous event.

Not the least hard-working committee member is Mrs. Eric Oldberg who, now that she has shipped her son George off to his freshman year at Harvard, can devote all her time to publicizing the show. In this connection I might add that a prominent advertising man, once told me that when it comes to beating the drums for their annual event, the St. Luke's gals could give lessons in publicity to the biggest public relations firms in the country.

○ ○ ○

MRS. OLDBERG and her husband, Dr. Oldberg, returned 10 days ago from what sounds like an exciting trip by air through South America—a trip which took them from the Virgin Islands to such cities as Sao Paulo, Buenos Aires and Montevideo, to countries like Chile and Peru and other fascinating places. Flying from Lima to Miami they were almost caught in a storm over Florida, the pilot avoiding it by flying high over the storm. The lightning flashes beneath them made for an exciting—albeit, at times, frightening—sight, according to the travelers.

Mrs. Oldberg and other St. Luke Fashion Show officials will be hostesses at a luncheon Monday at the Casino Club, at which time plans for the show will be announced, and the following day Mrs. Gardner Stern, whose stunning, sparkling daughter-in-law, Jill Stern, will be on of this year's new models, will give a cocktail party for St. Luke's personnel at her home.

In addition to Jill Stern I hear that other new additions to the roster of models—a role which is about the most coveted thing among the Smart Set—are newlywed Mrs. Alexander Baldwin Jr., who was Joan Morgan, Nancy Cummings, Mrs. Arthur Dole Jr., Marny Dick, Mrs. E. P. Evans, Mrs. Phelps H. Swift, Mrs. John E. Hughes, Mrs. Edward D. French, Sharon Kelley and Claudia Olds.

○ ○ ○

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 S. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
WEDNESDAY SEPT 22 1954

Cholly Dearborn:

Happy Note for October

FRIENDS OF THE THIBODEAUX clan here will be interested to learn of the engagement of Page J. Thibodeaux to Virginia Thomson Cobb. Her parents, Mrs. C. Thomson Cobb of Baltimore and Roland H. Cobb of Augusta, Me., have just announced the betrothal and coming October marriage.

Young Thibodeaux is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Gardner of Upland, Cal., formerly of Highland Park and Lake Forest.

He formerly was married to Suzanne Miller, daughter of Mrs. William Howard Miller of Pratt, Kan.

Page's bride-to-be is a San Francisco career girl, working for the Sierra Club. She was graduated from the George School in Bucks County, Pa., and Swarthmore College. Young Thibodeaux received his degree at Claremont College. He has also served as a Navy lieutenant.

(Chicago American photo by Charles Keller.)

• PRESIDENT of the Lyric Guild, Mrs. John J. McAllister (left) enjoys a bit of program discussion with Carol Fox, Lyric Theatre president at Guild fashion show party at Bramson's.

○ ○ ○

WELL KNOWN AS ARDENT skiers, it is not surprising that the junior Edgar Stantons have decided to make their home in the heart of the wide open slopes at Aspen, Col. They are building a house there which they hope to occupy about Christmas time.

Edgar and Rosamond Stanton who recently sold their beautiful Winnetka house bade goodbye to their legion of friends last week amid a round of farewell festivities. They first went to New York to put daughter Roddie in school at Dobbs Ferry. From there they will drive directly to Aspen where they will stay with Edgar's brother and sister-in-law, the Francis Stantons, at Victoria House, until their new digs are ready.

Mrs. Stanton, who has been on the Women's Board of St. Luke's for years, certainly will be missed in the coming excitement before the gala annual fashion show on Oct. 20. Among the pre-show powwows are the tea the Women's Board is giving Oct. 4 and a cocktail party at Mrs. Gardner Stern's the following afternoon.

○ ○ ○

#4766 1954-34

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 56, DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
MONDAY SEPTEMBER 27 1954

Society Notebook

Mary Borden Spears (Lady Spears), former Chicagoan and author of a new novel, "Margin of Error," plans to see Adlai E. Stevenson during her stop in Chicago today . . . The new board of the Friends of Orphans will meet at 1 p. m. today in the Glenview home of Mrs. Ralph Buzard to discuss plans for the group's annual fashion show and luncheon March 26 in the Hilton hotel . . . At luncheon today, in the Casino club, the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will tell of final plans for its annual fashion show Oct. 20 in the Medinah temple. . . . Telephone requests for tickets to St. Luke's Fashion show may be phoned to Michigan 2-3230, special number of the office the woman's board has opened in the Palmolive building.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 56, DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 28 1954

Cholly Dearborn:

'Opening Gun' for St. Luke's

OPENING GUN in the program of preparatory activities that will launch St. Luke's Fashion Show on Oct. 20, was fired yesterday at the Casino.

Some 60 members of the Board, various committee officials and the press heard John P. Bent, acting president of the Board make an impressive and appealing speech, explaining St. Luke's Hospital's need for funds.

Asserting that many people are under the impression that St. Luke's is a wealthy institution, Mr. Bent cited facts and figures to the contrary, comparing the financial picture with that of other hospitals. For instance, "St. Luke's has an endowment of $3,000,000 compared to the $12,000,000 of another well known hospital." He said: "We must raise much more money to meet the demands on the hospital."

The great fashion show in Medinah Temple on the 20th will be one painless and glamorous way of raising funds for the hospital—painless and glamorous, that is for the small army of spectators who see in the finished job a beautiful style spectacle. But for members of the board Clifford Rodman, in a white felt hat, and a black silk frock set off by a snowwhite dickey.

Also glimpsed in the smart crowd were Mrs. Franklin

Continued on Next Page.

● TWO MEMBERS of the young married set, Mrs. J. Bernard Mullen (left) and Mrs. Mark Willing, pictured at yesterday's Casino Club luncheon at which plans for the gala St. Luke's Fashion Show, Oct. 20, at Medinah Temple were announced.

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 28 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

The fall season, socially speaking, had its official opening Monday with the luncheon of the St. Luke's Woman's Board at the Casino.

From widely separated summer sojourns the members gathered for the exciting forecast of how the famous St. Luke's Fashion Show will be presented this year. Of course, as in the professional world, "the show's the thing," but much interest does center on the backdrop which the current "angel" will provide for it.

Drawings of the stage sets done by John Holabird Jr. were shown at the luncheon. They reveal a beguiling vacation-land background, one panel of which shows the tropical Paradise Inn at Phoenix, Ariz., and the other the luxurious Holiday Hotel at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The implication is that prospective visitors to either of these resort hotels should take careful note of the smartest new fashions being presented in the St. Luke's show.

IN THE FOREGROUND of the stage will be a simulated swimming pool spanned by a graceful bridge over which the models will walk. This feature will serve to emphasize the inevitable swimming pool and to give the audience a better view of the gowns as the models pause briefly on the gentle eminence.

Because the 1954 show is being sponsored by Charles H. Alberding, owner of the Paradise Inn and the Holiday Hotel as well as several other resorts catering to wealthy travelers, much emphasis will be laid on sportswear and other resort fashions. The whole range of new clothes for daytime and evening wear for both town and country also will be covered in the show.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, chairman of the Woman's Board of St. Luke's Hospital; Mrs. James W. Rogers, chairman of the Fashion Show Committee, and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, an assistant chairman, were technical hostesses at the Monday luncheon.

SPEAKING OF RESORTS, Robert O. Law is working on a program to extend the so-called season in Florida from the usual three months to at least six. As one step toward that end he is building himself a most impressive five-bedroom penthouse atop the lavishly appointed Beach Club he has sponsored at Fort Lauderdale.

He is setting up the five-bedroom household so that he can accommodate visiting friends from time to time. Since he went to Florida for his health he occasionally has found himself quite lonely when the winter visitors have departed each year at the end of what has been accepted as the close of the season. With his completely equipped penthouse he hopes to entertain more and more of his Chicago friends during the later spring months and into early summer each year.

Law first made a fortune in the book bindery business carrying his name. He recently sold his Hammond (Ind.) toy manufacturing concern for a huge amount.

He was legally separated from his wife, Mrs. Maud Law, in 1944.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Judith Gaylord Bowe to Arthur E. Pew III has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Bowe of Glencoe. Pew's mother is Mrs. Edmond Q. Trowbridge of Oyster Bay, Long Island, N.Y. His father is Arthur E. Pew Jr., an official of the Sun Oil Co., a corporation controlled by members of the Pew family.

Judith and her fiance met at a football game a year ago. She was graduated from Pine Manor School last year and currently is a student at Finch College. Pew is a senior at Princeton. Their marriage will take place next June.

POST-DEBS BARBARA PEASE, Virginia Boyer, Audrey Gallery and Edie Jones, wearing peasant blouses and green and white striped skirts, will serve as ushers at the Boulevard Boutique fashion show Wednesday afternoon.

The show, which is being sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, will consist of Marshall Field & Co.'s fall import collection.

The show will be given in Teatro del Lago in Wilmette.

#49704 1954-35

THEY WERE THERE

Mrs. Samuel W. Bodman (left) and Mrs. James W. Rogers with sketch of stage setting for St. Luke's hospital fashion show to be held Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

Mrs. Jay N. Whipple (left) and Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, members of woman's board of hospital, at luncheon meeting yesterday in Casino club to hear fashion show plans.

Mrs. Theodore Ticken (left) and Mrs. Gordon Lang, other board members at the meeting. Stage setting will have mock swimming pool and bridge over which models will walk.

Mrs. Jeffrey R. Short Jr. (left) and Mrs. Herbert C. De Young at the luncheon meeting. Show's special intermission feature will be announced next Tuesday. (TRIBUNE Photos)

Show Sketches of Setting for Fashion Event

BY ELEANOR PAGE

"Wish You Were Here!" was the first thought of most luncheon guests in the Casino yesterday when they saw sketches of the stage setting for the annual St. Luke's Hospital fashion show, to be held Oct. 20 in the Medinah Temple. The thought was provoked by the swimming pool shown on the sketch and which will occupy the center of the Medinah's apron front stage.

However, the pool will not be for swimming as was the one specially constructed for the stage production of the title above.

"In fact, there won't even be any water in the pool," said Mrs. James W. Rogers, show chairman, "It will just look as if filled with water."

A colorful backdrop to the pool setting will show the Paradise inn near Phoenix, Ariz., and the holiday hotel in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., both properties of the Alsonett Resort Hotels, who are donating the setting as a contribution to the hospital, and who appropriately enough selected the "Wish you were here" resort idea.

John P. Bent, acting president of the hospital's board of trustees, discussed the hospital's 90th year and its finances. Also present at the luncheon were John A. Holabird Jr., who made the sketches, and Helen Ticken Geraghty

634

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAUS
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
WEDNESDAY SEPT 29 1954

AMONG THOSE PRESENT

● STAGE SETTING for the forthcoming 1954 St. Luke's fashion show is inspected by the co-chairmen of the show committee, Mrs. A. Watson Armour (left) and Mrs. James Rogers. Event will be held Oct. 20 at Medinah Temple.

● ARDENT St. Luke's workers Mrs. Cormick Adams (left), John P. Bent, president of hospital board, and Mrs. Eric Oldberg are in the group meeting at the Casino to map out the fashion benefit.

● MEMBERS of the board, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan (left) and Mrs. Charles Morris, were among the guests hearing the plans. This year's show will be set against a make-believe swimming pool flanked by two Alsonette Resort Hotels, sponsors of the benefit.

(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller)

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAUS
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

WINNETKA ILL TALK
THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 30 1954

In Interest of Fashion Show

The Woman's Board of St. Luke's Hospital, for the purpose of announcing plans for its fashion show on October 20, gave a luncheon Monday at the Casino Club.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAUS
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

HIGHLAND PARK ILL NEWS (W)
THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 30 1954

Mrs. Bradley Will Model In St. Luke's Fashion Show Oct. 20

One of the very attractive mannequins who will appear on the runway at the 28th annual St. Luke's fashion show October 20 will be Mrs. Claiborne Sheldon Bradley of Hazel avenue. Mrs. Bradley is the former Nancy Newman, daughter of Mrs. Baldwin Newman of the Hazel avenue.

Plans for the elaborate show in the Medinah temple were discussed at a luncheon-meeting Monday in the Casino club when this year's chairman, Mrs. J. Waller Rogers of Chicago, met with her aides.

The stage setting will center around a swimming pool, built to look like it was filled with water. The backdrop is being constructed to resemble the Paradise inn near Phoenix and the Holiday hotel in Fort Lauderdale, both owned by the Alsonette Resort hotels, who are giving the setting as their donation to the hospital. Charles H. Alberding is president of the hotels.

#4766 1954-37

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
401 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
SATURDAY OCTOBER 2 1954

Miniature Poodles Join Cudahy Household

[TRIBUNE Photo]

Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy and her new miniature French poodle puppies, Nikki and Bobo.

It's a lucky thing Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy solved the stage setting problem for the St. Luke's hospital fashion show Oct. 20 in the Medinah temple before she took on the care and training of a couple of miniature French poodle puppies. Mrs. Cudahy took Nikki first, but because he cried so for his brother, and his brother kept the kennels stirred up crying for Nikki, the brother, Bobo, joined the Cudahy household, too. The puppies represent quite a change in the kind of pets the Cudahys have. They formerly kept great danes!

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
401 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
SUNDAY OCTOBER 3 1954

Style Show Motif to Be Fun and Sun

By Thalia

When the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital met for luncheon last Monday at the Casino club, members had their first peek at the stage setting for their fashion show on Oct. 20 at Medinah temple. Theirs was the first fashion show in American social history to use amateur models and still is the most successful—last year it siphoned $60,860 into the hospital's treasury.

This year the Alsonett Resort hotel chain, with hotels in Arizona, Florida, and Georgia, is providing the stage set and, appropriately the accent is on fun and sunshine.

John Holabird Jr. [son and grandson of illustrious architects] has designed a setting which will give an illusion of two huge swimming pools in front of chic buildings reminiscent of resort hotels, one of which will be the destination for three weeks of some lucky friend of St. Luke's.

The models will enter the stage thru a chic archway of simulated New Orleans iron grill work and make their way between and around the two brilliant blue "pools."

The St. Luke's fashion show always is glamor personified, from mannequins to the women's board, membership on which is one of the city's coveted social plums. And the board of trustees of the hospital has, during all of its 90 years, included city fathers and leading sons of the community.

But, said John Bent, speaking for the board at the luncheon, altho St. Luke's always has been considered a very wealthy hospital, its endowment actually has not kept pace with those of other hospitals. To emphasize this, he contrasts St. Luke's present endowment of about $3,000,000 with another great hospital's $12,000,000. He also noted that the training of nurses and internes and the free services provided for needy patients cost more than $525,000, and regretfully added that the hospital would be in the red some $50,000 this year.

As he thanked the members of the women's board for their wonderful annual financial help, he also urged them to work toward an enlargement of the endowment, and hinted at some spectacular plans for the future toward that end.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the woman's board, introduced Helen Tieken Geraghty, who produced the famous spectacles at the world and railroad fairs, who again this year will produce the intermission "show." Mrs. Alberding, whose husband is president of the Alsonett hotel chain, and Mr. Holabird, creator of the stage set.

Mrs. James Waller Rogers is chairman of this year's fashion show and Mrs. A. Watson Armour is her assistant.

This week the actual production business of the fashion show will start with a rehearsal tomorrow afternoon at the Casino for the mannequins, followed by tea. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Gardner Stern will entertain members of the committees working on the show in her home.

On Tuesday the Kenwood Social Service center, the first of all of the Infant Welfare centers, will hold its annual benefit, a luncheon and fashion show, in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison hotel.

Special guests will be the wives of visitors to the American Academy of Pediatrics [what could be more appropriate?].

The Terrace Casino also was the setting of the recent fashion show which benefited the Mothers Aid of the Chicago Lying-In hospital, marking 50 years of that organization's help to the hospital.

Announcement of a pledge of $300,000 to the hospital was made by Mrs. Arthur K. Koff, president of Mothers Aid, as the golden anniversary gift. It brings the group's contributions to the hospital to $1,300,000. The 1,570 members of the auxiliary proudly claim that they are the largest women's organization connected with any maternity hospital in the country.

Much fewer in number but also devotedly hard workers are the members of the Cuneo hospital auxiliary, who are planning their annual glamor fashion show for Oct. 13 at the Drake hotel. For the event, Mrs. John F. Cuneo, honorary president of the auxiliary, while in Rome this summer, persuaded the famous Fontana sisters to bring over their entire fall showing, models and all, with Nicole Fontana herself as chaperone and stage manager.

#4766 1954-38

02 52
Cholly Dearborn

Why St. Luke's Show Appeals to All

FOUR LITTLE WORDS—but what magic words to a woman! Just the mention of "St. Luke's Fashion Show" is enough to conjure up visions of the most beautiful clothes in the world. For breathes there a woman—especially in fashion-conscious Chicago—who does not love the sight of and cherish the thought and hope of possessing lovely raiment.

Hollywood, New York, Paris, Dublin, and Rome, great style centers all, may have the professional shows that make international fashion news—but there isn't another city anywhere that stages an amateur fashion review as famous or as glamorous as Chicago's St. Luke's Show.

And it is not an event exclusively for the "400." On the contrary, it is taken to heart by all of the 4,000 feminine spectators who crowd into Medinah Temple each year and, I dare say, could the Temple hold 40,000 it would undoubtedly be as complete a sellout.

This year's show is set for the afternoon of Wednesday, October 20, and some hundred and fifty of our most chic and pulchritudinous socialites will appear on the runway wearing clothes from all the most important merchants in the city.

★ ★ ★
THERE IS not a more coveted role among Chicago socialites than that of a St. Luke's model. It is the accolade that confers upon them both social and sartorial distinction.

On this page are pictured five young women who make their debuts this year as St. Luke's Fashion Show models. Selected for style, grace and attractiveness, as well as their place in the social scheme of things, they are pictured here wearing their personal "fashion favorites."

An outstanding beauty is Mrs. Alexander Baldwin Jr., nee Joan Morgan. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan, her marriage to Mr. Baldwin, Mrs. Brooks McCormick's brother, united a well known Chicago family with one of New York's most socially con-

WOMAN'S

Chicago American

Sun., Oct. 3, 1954—43

PART 3—★—C—

WORLD

Clubs . . . Fashions . . . Travel

02 52
Cholly Dearborn

Why St. Luke's Show Appeals to All

FOUR LITTLE WORDS—but what magic words to a woman! Just the mention of "St. Luke's Fashion Show" is enough to conjure up visions of the most beautiful clothes in the world. For breathes there a woman—especially in fashion-conscious Chicago—who does not love the sight of and cherish the thought and hope of possessing lovely raiment.

Hollywood, New York, Paris, Dublin, and Rome, great style centers all, may have the professional shows that make international fashion news—but there isn't another city anywhere that stages an amateur fashion review as famous or as glamorous as Chicago's St. Luke's Show.

And it is not an event exclusively for the "400." On the contrary, it is taken to heart by all of the 4,000 feminine spectators who crowd into Medinah Temple each year and, I dare say, could the Temple hold 40,000 it would undoubtedly be as complete a sellout.

This year's show is set for the afternoon of Wednesday, October 20, and some hundred and fifty of our most chic and pulchritudinous socialites will appear on the runway wearing clothes from all the most important merchants in the city.

★ ★ ★

THERE IS not a more coveted role among Chicago socialites than that of a St. Luke's model. It is the accolade that confers upon them both social and sartorial distinction.

On this page are pictured five young women who make their debuts this year as St. Luke's Fashion Show models. Selected for style, grace and attractiveness, as well as their place in the social scheme of things, they are pictured here wearing their personal "fashion favorites."

An outstanding beauty is Mrs. Alexander Baldwin Jr., nee Joan Morgan. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan, her marriage to Mr. Baldwin, Mrs. Brooks McCormick's brother, united a well known Chicago family with one of New York's most socially con-

WOMAN'S

Chicago American

Sun., Oct. 3, 1954—43

PART 3—★ —C—

WORLD

Clubs . . . Fashions . . . Travel

Tall and slender, she is a light brunet with gray

Continued on Next Page

• A FASHION favorite with Mrs. John E. Hughes, who will make her debut on Oct. 20, as a St. Luke's model, is the century-old rare Brussels lace scarf which belonged to her great-grandmother in Germany and which Mrs. Hughes uses as a stole with her red velvet, short-skirted evening gown. Gold evening shoes give added formality to the ensemble.

(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller.)

• HONEY-GOLD IN COLOR, Mrs. Alexander T. Baldwin Jr.'s brocaded satin evening gown sets off her own honey-gold complexion. The former Miss Joan Morgan, a bride of last month, is a natural addition to the ranks of this year's models for St. Luke's, for she combines beauty and grace with an assured social position.

• WITH A little bow, Miss Sharon Kelley, (above) who will "bow-in" as a model at the St. Luke's Fashion Show, shows off one of her favorite frocks, a short-skirted white evening dress trimmed with criss-cross braid and bows. Miss Kelley is a daughter of Mrs. John A. Prosser of Lake Forest.

• IT WOULD appear that Mrs. Phelps Swift (seated right) and Mrs. Gardner Stern Jr., both like striped tweeds for day-time wear. Just back from South America, Mrs. Swift will debut as a fashion show model at Melnah Temple, as will Mr. Stern, whose mother-in-law, Mrs. Stern Sr., is new member of St. Luke's Women's Board.

Why Show Appeals to All

Continued from preceding page.

eyes, and the dress she selected for this picture, is one of her preferred evening gowns, of gleaming champagne-colored satin brocade, with a full skirt that forms a shirred short train effect in the back.

A serious member of the Junior League, she has a lighter side in her taste for literature and music—James Thurber being her favorite author, Cole Porter and George Gershwin her favorite composers.

★ ★ ★

PETITE, brunet, brown-eyed Sharon Kelley looks more like a young 'teen-ager than a young lady of serious years and serious tastes. To look at her and hear her "bubbling-over" speech, you wouldn't think she was the "intellectual type," but this young lady really goes in for languages, music and the arts in a Big Way.

In between duties at the Art Institute she is studying Russian and she pursues the poetic muse as a hobby. When it comes to sports, fishing is her favorite.

★ ★ ★

MRS. JOHN E. HUGHES, who speaks with a delightful accent, reflects her continental background. Born Countess Beatrice M. L. von Rex, she is a niece of Sir Marmaduke and Lady Strickland Constable of London, of the Hon. Lady Russell, whose late husband was Minister to The Hague and the Holy See, and of Count Christian Rex.

Her marriage to the widowed Lake Forester, John E. Hughes, took place in London two years ago.

Mrs. Hughes is an artist who specializes in copying Old Masters of Bavarian art collections, a hobby she took up over ten years ago in Munich, Germany, where she lived until she came to America as a bride.

She also has done portraits, one of which was exhibited here last year.

The picture of Mrs. Hughes shows her wearing, with her deep garnet-colored velvet dress, a beautiful, hundred-year-old stole of delicate and rare Brussels lace which had belonged to her great-grandmother, and one which she treasures highly.

She is delighted that stoles have come back into style again, for it gives her an opportunity to wear her favorite. Thoroughly continental, she honestly loves the opera as well as other forms of music and her taste in literature is on the more serious side.

★ ★ ★

MRS. GARDNER STERN Jr., and Mrs. Phelps Swift, who are also among the new models to make their debuts as St. Luke's mannikens on the 20th, chose day-time frocks, both of tweedy horizontal striped material, for their picture.

Mrs. Swift has just returned from living in Montevideo, South America, and being so deeply interested in hospital work, it is not surprising that she plunged into work for the Montevideo-British Hospital down there.

The mother of three, she is a gay, jolly person who adores travelling, goes in for many sports, especially golf and prefers small intimate gatherings to large noisy shindigs.

"Vivacious" is the term for Jill Stern, whose jet black hair and enormous dark eyes mark her as outstanding in every gathering she attends.

Possessed of a slender, graceful figure, she wears clothes beautifully. And you should see her in a bathing suit! Could be a candidate for "Miss America" were she not married.

Ask her what her hobby is, and she'll answer "taking care of my two children." And they say she can cook, too!

These five young socialites are typical of the talented, attractive and style-conscious women who make up the roster of St. Luke's fashion show models.

That's when your stick fragrance comes in handy. Cooling off aching heads, too. Ann Robinson of a daily pick-up.

MAIL YOUR ORDERS OR PHONE STATE 2-1500

Shop Monday 9:15 to 8:30, Lincoln Village 9:30 to 9

Mandel Brothers HAIR GIVEN ITS NATURAL-LIKE COLORING

Color to faded, streaked, off color or aging hair . . . in just minutes

"Because of what it can do for you, because of what it has done for thousands and thousands of men and women all over the world, Bon Coif is my proud achievement."

John Barton

Mr. Barton, now internationally known for his famous formula, is recognized as one of America's leading hair-color authorities.

IN ALL THE WORLD, we believe, you'll find no other color-action hair conditioner like Bon Coif, for here is a brilliant masterpiece that performs and grooms—all at the same time. IN NO OTHER PRODUCT—only in Bon Coif—can you have your own individual hair color in minutes. When colorless Bon Coif comes in contact with the natural oils of your scalp it induces the gray in just minutes. The Bon Coif formula bears not the slightest relation to the commonly known aniline dyes, tints and rinses with which most people are familiar.

ABOVE ALL, IN NO OTHER HAIR PRODUCT can you enjoy the exciting performance of Bon Coif. No mixing—no mess—no fuss—because creamy-white Bon Coif is not shampoo out; will not stain scalp or soil linens. Because Bon Coif is a perfect hair-conditioner that colors as it grooves, there is no need to apply anything else to keep your hair sparkling with youthful color—soft and manageable and you will be pleasantly surprised when you use Bon Coif. BON COIF CAN BE USED OVER TINTED, HENNAED OR DYED HAIR. Proven to thousands of satisfied users as the finest color-action hair-conditioner in the world's greatest market. No other product, regardless of rating, can match how often you see or read about a product you try it. Bon Coif is very easy to use—it until you follow the simple instructions you should have your own individual color within a few minutes. If after obtaining your color you want to go back to your gray hair, you can do so easily and safely by a very simple procedure. Bon Coif is not to be used if you want anything but your own individual color—gray hair can be a real handicap. Youthful appearance and this applies to 6 months.

fashions

Secure hours! Sleek some twinning shirts. The under one an added measure of $5.98; shirts $2.98 each.

Horoscopes By Frances Drake

FOR MONDAY, OCT. 4
MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Do what you have to do to the best of your ability, then trust in God and make plans thoughtfully, but don't waste time mulling over this or that.

APRIL 21 to MAY 20 (Taurus)—When you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

MAY 21 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—The month you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—The month you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—The month you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—The month you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—The month you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—The month you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—The month you have made mistakes, but don't let them cause you to repeat them.

*plus 10% federal excise tax.
Cosmetics, 1st. State, also State 2-1500 or Mandel Brothers, P.O.

634
CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
SUNDAY OCTOBER 3 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

A stranger in our local social world, hearing the frequent references to St. Luke's might readily get the impression that our fashionables suddenly had become evangelists.

Only a person really in the know could appreciate the significance of the St. Luke's under discussion. It is the annual fashion show staged by the Woman's Board of that hospital. The models who appear on the stage and the women in the audience constitute the one assemblage of the year which brings together the largest group of the most distinguished families of Chicago and the North Shore.

Members of the board, and especially those of the Fashion Show committee, have been working at their various tasks in connection with the show for several months. During the next two and a half weeks the models will be occupied getting themselves in shape, literally and figuratively, for their respective appearances on the Medinah Temple stage Oct. 20.

IT IS NO EXAGGERATION to say that girls are groomed for the show from childhood. Women who directed the first show, back in 1927, have in the succeeding years seen their daughters and in some cases their granddaughters act as models. Occasionally an outsider gets into the cast, and when one does she invariably steals the spotlight. The reason for this is that any girl outside the St. Luke's family group who is invited to model has some very special feature of face or figure which is bound to attract special attention.

Happily there are a great many stunning young women available. Among those who have made lovely appearances in recent years are Mrs. Edward Byron Smith, Mrs. George S. Chappell, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, Mrs. Philip D. Armour Jr., Mrs. Gordon Bent, Mrs. Charles A. Percy, Mrs. Edgar J. Uihlein Jr., Mrs. John Hurley, Mrs. Louis Sudler, Mrs. Wesley Dixon Jr., Mrs. William Gold Hibbard IV, Mrs. William Stenson, Mrs.

MRS. ROBERT B. CRANE

MRS. CHARLES H. PERCY

Charles M. Dering Jr., Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman, Mrs. Howard Peabody, Mrs. Leon Mandel, Mrs. Robert Crane, Mrs. Walter Cushman, Mrs. Dewitt Buchanan, Mrs. Clyde Doran, Mrs. Charles Compton, Mrs. Thomas A. Dent III, Mrs. Lloyd W. Bowers, Mrs. Walter Cherry Jr., Mrs. Vernon Armour, Mrs. Howard Gillette, Barbara McClurg, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr., Mrs. George Rich III, Mrs. William J. Hagenah Jr., Mrs. Gail Borden, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay Jr., Mrs. Jack Williamson and Mrs. William H. Mitchell.

Many of these women will no doubt appear on the runway

634
CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. DAILY NEWS
TUESDAY OCTOBER 5 1954

St. Luke's Models

Models in the forthcoming St. Luke's fashion show, Mrs. Ike Sewell (left) and Mrs. Bruce Morris, sign in with Mrs. Charles F. Glore at the first rehearsal and tea Monday, held at the Casino. Oversized purses seem to be the amateur-model equivalent of professional model hatbox.

Elegance at teatime is personified by Mrs. Frank J. Hughes. She attended the St. Luke's rehearsal tea in a brocade silk frock and carried a luxurious fur scarf. St. Luke's

#4766 1954-40

THEY WERE THERE

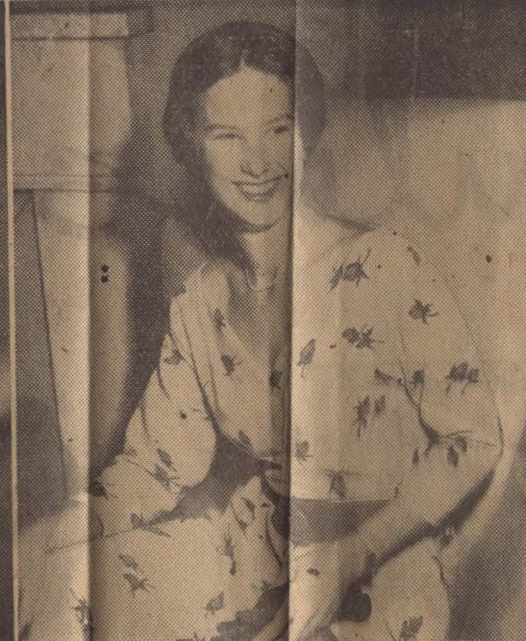

Mrs. Durand Smith (left), Mrs. Parker Evans, and Miss Mary K. Alberding (right), among new St. Luke's fashion show models who practiced Monday in Casino club.

Another new face, Mrs. Bruce Norris (left), and a veteran of the St. Luke's runway, Mrs. Ike Sewell, at rehearsal and tea.

Mrs. Robert Douglas Stuart Jr., who also will appear in 28th annual St. Luke's style show on Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

Miss Claudia Paxton Old, another first timer, at rehearsal. Miss Alberding, 16, was youngest of Monday's models.

Mrs. John E. Hughes (left) and Mrs. Arthur Dole III, both newcomers to show. Mrs. Wyndham Hasler is chairman of mannequins.

(TRIBUNE Photos)

Novel Headdress Party Boosts Club's Benefit

BY MARILYN UNMACHT

TWO SERVICE CLUB members were telling their fellow members about new homes at the club's headdress cocktail party yesterday in the Arts club. Mrs. Nelson D. Stoker and her husband and two youngsters moved only last Wednesday into a new home in Kenilworth. Their former residence in Winnetka is in the hands of painters, who are readying it for new owners, the Robert Hunts. Also on the move are the Robert B. Southers—from Highland Park to Lake Forest.

Yesterday's party was held to ballyhoo the group's benefit dinner dance Oct. 22 in the Hilton hotel. Prizes were awarded to those wearing headdresses best suggesting their wearers' favorite recordings. There were orchids for the women and cases of beer for the men with the prize winning toppers.

And to further tie in the "Break the Record" theme of the party, the club invited a disk jockey to judge the headdress. An added treat was a gay song written by Mrs. Hubert Kampp and Miss Marjorie Sinek. Mrs. Robert H. Gurley was in charge of reservations for the cocktail party.

Infant Welfare Benefit

The Kenwood Social Service club luncheon and fashion show yesterday in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison hotel provided an autumn reunion for many members of the group as well as a handsome return for the Infant Welfare society. Mrs. George K. Hendrick returned from her summer home in Lakeside, Mich., in time to entertain at luncheon.

Mrs. Myron Hipkind, benefit show chairman, has been having a busy early autumn as she is moving into a new apart-calendar engagement book sold by members of the center and received with popularity each year. To launch this year's sale, members of the center met for luncheon yesterday in the Pump room. On hand with them to give the calendars a send off was Burr Tillstrom, who brought along some of his celebrated puppets.

Virginia Payne, famed as radio's "Ma Perkins," was the special guest at the Lake Shore club's opening Ladies day program yesterday. A fashion showing of jewel tone coiffures, a book review, and astrological forecasts were other events on the program to entertain the women.

St. Luke's Show

Figures were of top importance at the first rehearsal Monday in the Casino of more than 140 of the city's smartest amateur models, who will participate in the 28th annual St. Luke's fashions show Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

In welcoming the mannequins, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the woman's board which sponsors the show, introduced the first figure, one million dollars. She vans, and Miss

s fashion show

Another new face, Mrs. Bruce Norris (left), and a veteran of the St. Luke's runway, Mrs. Ike Sewell, at rehearsal and tea.

Mrs. Robert Douglas Stuart Jr., who also will appear in 28th annual St. Luke's style show on Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

Miss Claudia Paxton Old, another first timer, at rehearsal. Miss Albeiding, 16, was youngest of Monday's models.

(TRIBUNE Photos)

Mrs. John E. Hughes (left) and Mrs. Arthur Dole III, both newcomers to show. Mrs. Wyndham Hasler is chairman of mannequins.

Novel Headdress Party Boosts Club's Benefit

BY MARILYN UNMACHT

TWO SERVICE CLUB members were telling their fellow members about new homes at the club's headdress cocktail party yesterday in the Arts club. Mrs. Nelson D. Stoker and her husband and two youngsters moved only last Wednesday into a new home in Kenilworth. Their former residence in Winnetka is in the hands of painters, who are readying it for new owners, the Robert Hunts. Also on the move are the Robert B. Southers—from Highland Park to Lake Forest.

Yesterday's party was held to ballyhoo the group's benefit dinner dance Oct. 22 in the Hilton hotel. Prizes were awarded to those wearing headdresses best suggesting their wearers' favorite recordings. There were orchids for the women and cases of beer for the men with the prize winning toppers.

And to further tie in the "Break the Record" theme of the party, the club invited a disk jockey to judge the headdress. An added treat was a gay song written by Mrs. Hubert Kampp and Miss Marjorie Sinek. Mrs. Robert H. Gurley was in charge of reservations for the cocktail party.

Infant Welfare Benefit

The Kenwood Social Service club luncheon and fashion show yesterday in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison hotel provided an autumn reunion for many members of the group as well as a handsome return for the Infant Welfare society. Mrs. George K. Hendrick returned from her summer home in Lakeside, Mich., in time to entertain at luncheon.

Mrs. Myron Hipskind, benefit show chairman, has been having a busy early autumn as she is moving into a new apartment and opening up a new home in Woodstock. Mrs. Nelson Utley was hostess to a group of honorary club members, including Mrs. Edwin Whitaker, Mrs. Carl Defebaugh, Mrs. Wilson Killough, and Mrs. Ralph Johnson.

Mrs. Defebaugh is moving out of the Defebaugh's beautiful old home in Kenwood into an apartment in Lake View av.

Also present were wives of doctors attending the American Academy of Pediatrics meeting now in progress here, among them Mrs. Alfred Biggs, Mrs. Harry Faulkner, Mrs. John Burgess, Mrs. Eugene McEnery, and Mrs. C. S. Henn.

Other Meetings

The Evanston Infant Welfare society's steadiest source of income is from Social Capers, a calendar engagement book sold by members of the center and received with popularity each year. To launch this year's sale, members of the center met for luncheon yesterday in the Pump room. On hand with them to give the calendars a send off was Burr Tillstrom, who brought along some of his celebrated puppets.

Virginia Payne, famed as radio's "Ma Perkins," was the special guest at the Lake Shore club's opening Ladies day program yesterday. A fashion showing of jewel tone coiffures, a book review, and astrological forecasts were other events on the program to entertain the women.

St. Luke's Show

Figures were of top importance at the first rehearsal Monday in the Casino of more than 140 of the city's smartest amateur models, who will participate in the 28th annual St. Luke's fashions show Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

In welcoming the mannequins, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the woman's board which sponsors the show, introduced the first figure, one million dollars. She announced that during the last 28 years the board had donated $981,000 to St. Luke's hospital and hoped this year to top the million dollar mark.

Just as important was the "figure" or overall picture each model will present on the runway Oct. 20. To teach the young women the do's and don'ts of walking and pivoting, Mrs. James Waller Rogers, fashion show chairman, turned them over to four attractive instructors from a modeling school.

Among those who will walk down the St. Luke's runway for the first time this fall is Mrs. John E. Hughes, the former Countess Beatrice Rex of Munich, Germany. She has lived in Lake Forest since her marriage in 1952.

THEY WERE THERE

Mrs. Durand Smith (left), Mrs. Parke Evans, and Miss Mary K. Alberding (right), among new St. Luke's fashion show models who practiced yesterday in Casino cab.

Another new face, Mrs. Bruce Norris (left), and a veteran of the St. Luke's runway, Mrs. Ike Sewell, at rehearsal and tea.

Mrs. Robert Douglas Stuart Jr., who also will appear in 28th annual St. Luke's style show on Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

Miss Claudia Paxton Old, another first timer, at rehearsal. Miss Alberding, 16, was youngest of yesterday's models. [TRIBUNE Photos]

Mrs. John E. Hughes (left) and Mrs. Arthur Dole III, both newcomers to show. Mrs. Wyndham Hasler is chairman of mannequins.

Seek to Top Million Mark in Style Show

BY MARILYN UNMACHT

Figures were of top importance at the first rehearsal yesterday in the Casino of more than 140 of the city's smartest amateur models, who will participate in the 28th annual St. Luke's fashions show Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

In welcoming the mannequins, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, chairman of the woman's board which sponsors the show, introduced the first figure, one million dollars. She announced that during the last 28 years the board had donated $981,000 to St. Luke's hospital and hoped this year to top the million dollar mark.

Just as important was the "figure" or overall picture each model will present on the runway Oct. 20. To teach the young women the do's and don'ts of walking and pivoting, Mrs. James Waller Rogers, fashion show chairman, turned them over to four attractive instructors from modeling schools.

Among those who will walk down the St. Luke's runway for the first time this fall is Mrs. John E. Hughes, the former Countess Beatrice Rex of Munich, Germany. Mrs. Hughes, who has lived in Lake Forest since her marriage in London in 1952, is excitedly looking forward to her first modeling experience. "We seldom use amateur models in Europe and our shows are not on such a large scale," she

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
TUESDAY OCTOBER 5 1954

THEY WERE THERE

Mrs. Durand Smith (left), Mrs. Parke Evans, and Miss Mary K. Alberding (right), among new St. Luke's fashion show models who practiced yesterday in Casino cab.

Another new face, Mrs. Bruce Norris (left), and a veteran of the St. Luke's runway, Mrs. Ike Sewell, at rehearsal and tea.

Mrs. Robert Douglas Stuart Jr., who also will appear in 28th annual St. Luke's style show on Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

Miss Claudia Paxton Old, another f at rehearsal. Miss Alberding, 16, was of yesterday's models. [TRIBUNE]

Seek to Top Million Mark in Style Show

BY MARILYN UNMACHT

Figures were of top importance at the first rehearsal yesterday in the Casino of more than 140 of the city's smartest amateur models, who will participate in the 28th annual St. Luke's fashions show Oct. 20 in Medinah temple.

In welcoming the mannequins, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, chairman of the woman's board which sponsors the show, introduced the first figure, one million dollars. She announced that during the last 28 years the board had donated $981,000 to St. Luke's hospital and hoped this year to top the million dollar mark.

Just as important was the "figure" or overall picture each model will present on the runway Oct. 20. To teach the young women the do's and don'ts of walking and pivoting, Mrs. James Waller Rogers, fashion show chairman, turned them over to four attractive instructors from modeling schools.

Among those who will walk down the St. Luke's runway for the first time this fall is Mrs. John E. Hughes, the former Countess Beatrice Rex of Munich, Germany. Mrs. Hughes, who has lived in Lake Forest since her marriage in London in 1952, is excitedly looking forward to her first modeling experience. "We seldom use amateur models in Europe and our shows are not on such a large scale," she commented.

On the Calendar

Mrs. Edward Hyde Ball III, president of the Cenacle Chapel guild, and her officers are hoping for a crowd of 1,200 women at the guild's annual benefit card party Saturday, Oct. 23, in the Hilton hotel. The Cenacle is a retreat house where women can withdraw for meditation and spiritual refreshment.

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

Watching a rehearsal of the St. Luke's Fashion Show is a most revealing experience. The first meeting of the whole cast at the Casino Monday afternoon reflected the intense earnestness with which every member of the woman's board and the girls who will model in the Oct. 20 show take their responsibility.

Women who in their private lives are waited on by highly trained servants were working away at their appointed tasks with the diligence of business girls striving for promotions in their professional work. Seated at a table just inside the doorway and working with great efficiency were such women as Mrs. Wyndham Hasler, Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, Mrs. T.

Lynda A. Hitzrot of Mercersburg, Pa., whose engagement to Lt. (jg) Stephen C. Chandler was announced last spring. While visiting in Chicago recently she was feted by her fiancé's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler.

Claudia Old will make her first appearance as a model on the runway of St. Luke's Fashion Show Oct. 20. She is the daughter of former Rear Admiral and Mrs. Francis B. Old, now residing in Lake Forest. (Sun-Times Photos by Howard Lyon)

Clifford Rodman and Mrs. Charles F. Glore. Their immediate responsibility was checking in the girls who were to appear in the models' rehearsal.

SINCE THE DRESSES to be exhibited had to be fitted to the individual girl, it was vitally important that every model be present.

The show committee has had its usual complications in organizing its cast. Many of the young matrons, who earlier in the season had promised to appear, have dropped out for one reason or another. Some in the meantime have made appointments with the stork and others have other family obligations that prevent them from taking the time necessary for rehearsals. Some other girls who have gone in for careers also find it difficult to take as much time as is required for the preparation for the show.

However, there are about 150 girls who will appear on the runway. In addition there are about 80 prominent matrons who devote themselves unstintingly to the background work involved.

AT MONDAY'S MEETING Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the woman's board, stimulated the group by her introductory speech in which she reminded the workers that this year's earnings would bring the woman's board's contribution to the hospital to more than $1 million.

Mrs. James Waller Rogers is chairman of the 1954 show. With Mrs. A. Watson Armour she is devoting herself to her manifold responsibilities with the intensity of a professional producer. Others busy at their tasks are Mrs. Samuel Walker, Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr., Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, Cornelia Conger, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. John V. Farwell, Mrs. Marshall Grosscup Sampson, Mrs. Theodore Ticken, Mrs. William S. Covington, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson and Mrs. Grant Laing.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
THURSDAY OCTOBER 7 1954

(Chicago American photo by Charles Keller.)

● TWO BLOND and pulchritudinous young matrons who will appear as St. Luke's Fashion Show models this year are Mrs. Walter Cherry (left) and Mrs. Charles Compton. They are shown at recent rehearsal in the Casino for the glamorous style review to be held at Medinah Temple, Oct. 20.

#4766 1954-43

THIS WEEK in Lake Forest

First Consular Ball Will Take Place Tomorrow Night in Conrad Hilton Hotel

Chicago's first consular ball, sponsored by the Library of International Relations and given to honor the consuls and consuls general who represent 46 foreign countries here, will take place tomorrow night in the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton hotel.

Winifred Trimble Selects Attendants For Wedding on 23rd

Her stepsister, Miss Zaidee Parkinson of New York City, will be maid of honor for Miss Winifred Trimble of Old Westbury, Long Island, N. Y., when she and Clive Runnells Jr., son of Mrs. Clive Runnells Sr. of North Mayflower road and the late Mr. Runnells, are married on October 23. Their engagement was announced last month by her stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Parkinson Jr. She is the daughter of the late Richard Trimble.

Mrs. John S. Runnells of North Lake road is to be matron of honor, and Miss Edith McBride also of North Lake road is to be a bridesmaid. Mrs. Thomas H. Bancroft Jr., Mrs. Michael Canfield, Miss Peggy Hitchcock, Miss Mathilde Johnston, and Miss Brigid Snow, all of New York City, Mrs. Frederick Melhado of Virginia Beach, Va., and Mrs. Shephard Brown of Boston are the other bridesmaids. A cousin of the bride-to-be, Mary Pease of New York City, will serve as flower girl.

Mr. Runnells, who makes his home in Houston, Tex., has asked his brother, John, to be best man. Ushers from this area include John A. Stevenson of North Elm Tree road, Mason Phelps Jr. of North (Continued on page 12)

Wearing evening dress and some of their decorations, the chiefs of mission will take part in a grand march at 8 p.m., immediately before dinner. Each table in the ballroom will have a member of the diplomatic corps as its special guest.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon of Walden lane is one of the patrons of the ball as are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Byron Smith of East Maplewood avenue. Mrs. Hixon has turned her table over to the library and will not be attending, but Mr. and Mrs. Smith have invited a number of Lake Foresters to be their guests.

Others from Lake Forest attending the ball are Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Gillette of East Illinois road, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Casady of East Maplewood road, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Williamson of East Onwentsia road.

Gilbert Rayner Visits Daughter in Darien, Conn.

Gilbert Rayner of North Washington road is home from a 10-day stay with his son-in-law and daughter, the Andrew F. Ensors of Darien, Conn. The Ensors have two children, David, three and a half, and Barbara, five months.

Mrs. John R. Howland Returns from Dusseldorf

Mrs. John R. Howland of North Sheridan road arrived in Lake Forest Saturday from a six-weeks' trip abroad. She spent several weeks in Dusseldorf, Germany, (Continued on page 12)

Her Engagement Told

Miss Edith McBride

Photo by John Lane

Edith McBride To Wed Mr. Bass On New Year's Day

The engagement of Miss Edith McBride to Jack M. Bass Jr. was announced last Friday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul McBride of North Lake road. The couple will be married on New Year's day in the First Presbyterian church with a reception following at Onwentsia. They will live in Nashville, Tenn., where Mr. Bass is in business.

Mr. and Mrs. Bass Sr., also of Nashville, were in Lake Forest recently as house guests of the McBrides. The bridegroom-elect is a 1951 graduate of the University of Virginia.

Miss McBride studied at Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn., and was graduated in June from Vassar college. She took her junior year of study at the University of Geneva. In July, 1951, Miss McBride and her sister, Jean, were introduced to society at a supper dance in their parents' home. The granddaughter of C. Frederick Childs of East Deerpath, and the late Mrs. Childs, she also is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. McBride of Chicago.

Ralph Bards to Leave

The Ralph A. Bards of North Lake road leave today for a six-week stay at Hunting Creek plantation, their farm near Clover, Va.

Darley, the Channers are building a house in Lake Forest.

Mrs. McCutcheon has been living in the Lincoln log cabin at Ragdale during the summer and soon will move back to her apartment in town.

Miss Singleton, Richard Needham To Wed November 1

When Richard Needham and Miss Martha Singleton are married November 6, they will leave on a wedding trip to Honolulu and return to live in the apartment on North Sheridan road he has been occupying since late spring.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Singleton of Kenilworth; and her fiance's parents are the Maurice Needhams of Woodstock, formerly of Chicago.

Lake Forest residents met the young couple on September 11 at a dinner dance given in their honor by Daniel Haerther of Lake Villa. An informal Halloween party and dinner is planned for October 30 with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Montgomery III of North Sheridan road as hosts. On November 1, the bridegroom-elect's birthday, the engaged pair will be feted at a cocktail party at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Getz of Saunders road. (Continued on page 11)

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Channer Rent J. T. McCutcheon Home

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Channer, who occupied the North Sheridan road house of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. McLeod this summer, have taken Ragdale, Mrs. John T. McCutcheon Sr.'s home on North Green Bay road for the winter. Parents of a nine-year-old daughter,

St. Luke's Fashion Show Models To Meet for Rehearsal in The Casino

The traditional excitement at the first rehearsal for the annual St. Luke's fashion show prevailed Monday in the Casino club where 140 amateur models who will appear in the October 20 show gathered to practice their turns.

Fete Bryan Reids At Shoreacres Party On 40th Anniversary

Their four children, several nephews and nieces, and a host of other relatives and friends will gather Saturday night at Shoreacres to toast the senior Bryan S. Reids of East Woodland road on their 40th wedding anniversary.

Joint hosts of the dinner dance are Mrs. Reid's brother and sister-in-law, the Thomas E. Brittinghams of Wilmington, Del., and another sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold Hixon Brittingham of Fort Worth, Tex. The latter's two sons, John, just back from Korea where he served with the U.S. Marine corps, and his brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Brittingham of St. Louis, are scheduled to arrive tomorrow. They will stay with the junior Elliott R. Detchons of East Illinois road, daughter and son-in-law of the Reids. The Reids' other daughters and sons-in-law are the Goodwin Carters of Longmeadow, Mass., and the Alanson (Continued on page 12)

Mrs. Robert M. Adams, of Chicago, chairman of the woman's board of the hospital, welcomed the group. Joining the corps of young women from Lake Forest who will parade down the runway this year are several new models, Miss Claudia Old of North Green Bay road, Mrs. Bruce Norris of Libertyville, Mrs. John E. Hughes, and Mrs. Robert D. Stuart Jr., among them.

Good seats for the event, which will take place in the Medinah temple, are still available, according to ticket chairman, Mrs. C. Gardner Stevens Jr. of Chicago. Tickets may be ordered by telephoning Michigan 2-3230, or by writing 919 North Michigan avenue, Room 332.

The list of models from the Lake Forest area includes:

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, Mrs. Vernon Armour, Mrs. Stanton Armour, Mrs. Gordon Bent, Mrs. John A. Berkey III, Mrs. William F. Borland, Mrs. John Otis Carney, Miss Jean Carney, Mrs. Jerome Cerny, Mrs. George Chappell, Mrs. Silas Cathcart, Mrs. Harry B. Clow Jr., Mrs. Michael Cudahy, Mrs. Thomas A. Dent III, Mrs.

Wesley Dixon Jr., Mrs. Parker Evans, Mrs. Howard F. Gillette, Mrs. James Getz, and Mrs. Charles F. Glore Jr.

Mrs. Garfield King, Mrs. Donald McKellar, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Mrs. William B. McIlvaine III, Mrs. Stewart T. Peck, Mrs. Frederick C. Pullman, Mrs. Clifford Rodman, Mrs. Durand Smith, Mrs. Edward B. Smith, Mrs. R. Douglas Stuart Jr., Mrs. Edward F. Swift III, Mrs. Phelps Swift, Mrs. Edgar Uihlein Jr., Mrs. Gardner B. VanNess Jr., Mrs. Malcolm M. Walker, Mrs. Robert Williams and Mrs. Jack A. Williamson, are others. Children who will model include Alison Rich, Leslie Hailand, Mary Kelley and Daphne Wood.

Antiquarian Society Lectures Tuesday Cover Background of American Design

The Antiquarian society of the Art Institute of Chicago will begin a series of lectures next Tuesday at 11 a.m. for members and their friends on "The European Background of American Design." Four lectures will be held in the society's club room at the Institute as a continuation of a series begun last year when principal phases of English and Continental decorative design prior to 1700 were discussed. The entire lecture program on the background of American design will extend two more years, with this year's series concentrated on "The Early 18th Century."

Mrs. Burke Williamson of East Deerpath, president of the Antiquarian society's board, has announced that Tuesday's lecture on "The Rococo Style and the Chinese Taste in Europe in the 18th Century," will be given by J. A. Lloyd Hyde of New York City, author of "Oriental Lowestoft," the "bible" of collectors in that field. Mr. Hyde will be guest of honor at a luncheon Mrs. Williamson is giving in the Casino after the lecture.

F. St. George Spendlove of Toronto, Canada, is scheduled to talk October 19 on "English Furniture and Decoration" covering the period of 1700 to 1760. During his visit to this area, he will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Williamson. He is the curator of the Sigmund Samuel Canadiana gallery, Royal Ontario Museum of (Continued on page 11)

500 Maternity Center Volunteers Will Be Feted at Tea

The 500 volunteers who contribute thousands of hours of service each year at clinics of the Chicago Maternity center, besides devoting their time to fund-raising and other activities beneficial to the center, are to be honored next Wednesday at a tea at Onwentsia.

The center's board of directors will fete the volunteer groups which are the Mothers' Service club and the South Shore Service league in Chicago, the North Shore auxiliary, the North Shore Service league, and the West Suburban auxiliary.

Mrs. John Andrews King of North Green Bay road, chairman of the board of directors, will be a hostess as will board members Mrs. Harry B. Clow Jr., Mrs. Howard Linn, and Mrs. F. Hampden Winston, all of Shoreacres; Mrs. Dexter Cummings of North Lake (Continued on page 13)

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
THURSDAY OCTOBER 7 1954

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
MONDAY OCTOBER 11 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

Congratulations are in order for Roger Poole Baldwin. His engagement to Mary Louise Stewart was announced Wednesday by her mother, Mrs. Lottie M. Stewart of Bar Harbor, Me.

Mary Louise studied at Northwestern University and at the University of Chicago. She specialized in encephalography. Later she worked in St. Mary's Hospital in London. She now is doing research in the biological laboratories at Harvard University. In spite of her profound studies Mary Louise is charming and gay of spirit. She has many friends in Chicago, not only those with whom she associated during her college years here but others whom she met through the Baldwin family.

Roger is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Rosecrans Baldwin. He took his early schooling at St. Mark's School. He was graduated from Yale University and later studied at the Illinois Institute of Technology. During the war he served with the Navy. He and Mary Louise will be married in Bar Harbor some time next month. They will make their home in Chicago.

MRS. ERNEST WAUD is looking forward to a visit from her former daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Beadleston of Shrewsbury, N.J., who will arrive here Oct. 26. Mrs. Beadleston was the widow of Mrs. Waud's son, Dr. Sydney Waud. While her present husband is campaigning for a second term in the New Jersey legislature, Mrs. Beadleston is taking advantage of his absence on speaking tours to visit Mrs. Waud and her many other friends here.

Mrs. Beadleston will not be able to bring her children out to see their Grandmother Waud as they are in school. Isabel, the eldest, is at Bryn Mawr. Beverly, the younger daughter, is at Farmington, and Sydney is a student at St. Paul's School.

EVERYONE HAD FUN at the Service Club's "Break-the-Record" party at the Arts Club Tuesday evening. The girls, who wore fantastic hats in a competition for the most original design, seemed to enjoy the proceedings even though several of them had to spend most of their time holding the hats on their heads. Mrs. Richard D. Culver's "Doing the Mambo" got the bottle of perfume, which was the first-prize award. Her broad-brimmed headdress suggested a royal palm growing out of a colorful tub. Among the palm fronds was a capering monkey. "The Most Elaborate" award was won by Mrs. Joseph Lafferty, whose hat was piled high with luscious grapes tumbling out of a horn of plenty and topped with a bottle of wine in a wicker basket. Other winners were Mrs. William Faurot, Jayne Olmsted and Mrs. Frank Bering.

Mrs. Gardner H. Stern (right), co-chairman of the box committee for St. Luke's Fashion Show, takes a few minutes from her hostess duties to chat with Mrs. Gail Borden, who will be one of the models. Plans for the "Special Feature" of the Oct. 20 show were announced at the tea. (Sun-Times Photo by Howard Lyon)

THE GROUP OF VERY CHIC WOMEN lunching in the Drake French Room Tuesday was the Chicago committee of Arden Shore. The committee members had gathered to announce plans for their Oct. 30 dinner-dance which this year will be called the Strong Heart Ball. This event is always one of the brilliant affairs of the early fall. The sale of tickets to it, together with the auction of donations, annually raises more than $50,000 for the Arden Shore Camp for Boys. The articles donated are of wide variety. One woman has announced that she might even have a furnace for auction at the ball.

During the luncheon the group heard impressive talks by Mrs. Kenneth A. Corvell, president of the senior board, and Josephine Strode. Both stressed that the money raised by the ball had provided the most approved methods of training and education for the boys cared for in the camp.

Miss Strode, a widely experienced sociologist, explained that the boys there were all exceptional, each having a high IQ rating and most having special talents. These boys all come from disrupted family environments and without special, sympathetic training they might not be able to become responsible citizens.

Cholly Dearborn:

"HOW TO MAKE a million dollars" could well be the theme—and title—of a book by the women's board of St. Luke's Hospital.

For when the 28th annual Fashion Show, to be staged Oct. 20 by this energetic group, is over, the board will be in a position to boast—were it given to boasting—of having raised over $1,000,000 via their annual style spectacles.

At a model's rehearsal tea at the Casino, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, this year's chairman, informed the gathering that to date the board has raised $981,000 from the preceding 27 shows. Since last year's event brought in some $60,000 and the committee hopes to exceed that amount this year, it goes without saying they'll go well over the top of a million.

Come to think of it, the women could raise another large sum by writing a book telling "how to do it." I'm sure every woman's organization would rush to secure copies.

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
TUESDAY OCTOBER 12 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

The Secret Committee of the Twelfth Night Ball has decided to give its annual costume party a week later than usual. It will be held Jan. 14 in the Blackstone Hotel. The ball seldom has been given on Twelfth-night, as the group prefers to have its party on Friday night. Heretofore, the ball has been given on the first Friday following the witches' eve. This year, the committee decided its group would appreciate a week's rest after the various holiday celebrations.

WHEN MRS. CHARLES F. GLORE leaves the St. Luke's Fashion Show in Medinah Temple on Oct. 20, she will drive straight to the airport. There she will board a plane for Paris. She plans to spend one full day there in bed to recuperate from the stress of the show and the strain of the trans-Atlantic flight. The following day she will go to Rome to meet Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, who are now in Saudi Arabia on a business trip. With the Mitchells, Mrs. Glore will spend three weeks exploring Rome and Florence.

#4766 1954-45

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
THURSDAY OCTOBER 7 1954

CHICAGO ILL. AMERICAN
MONDAY OCTOBER 11 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

Congratulations are in order for Roger Poole Baldwin. His engagement to Mary Louise Stewart was announced Wednesday by her mother, Mrs. Lottie M. Stewart of Bar Harbor, Me.

Mary Louise studied at Northwestern University and at the University of Chicago. She specialized in encephalography. Later she worked in St. Mary's Hospital in London. She now is doing research in the biological laboratories at Harvard University. In spite of her profound studies Mary Louise is charming and gay of spirit. She has many friends in Chicago, not only those with whom she associated during her college years here but others whom she met through the Baldwin family.

Roger is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Rosecrans Baldwin. He took his early schooling at St. Mark's School. He was graduated from Yale University and later studied at the Illinois Institute of Technology. During the war he served with the Navy. He and Mary Louise will be married in Bar Harbor some time next month. They will make their home in Chicago.

MRS. ERNEST WAUD is looking forward to a visit from her former daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Beadleston of Shrewsbury, N.J., who will arrive here Oct. 26. Mrs. Beadleston was the widow of Mrs. Waud's son, Dr. Sydney Waud. While her present husband is campaigning for a second term in the New Jersey legislature, Mrs. Beadleston is taking advantage of his absence on speaking tours to visit Mrs. Waud and her many other friends here.

Mrs. Beadleston will not be able to bring her children out to see their Grandmother Waud as they are in school. Isabel, the eldest, is at Bryn Mawr. Beverly, the younger daughter, is at Farmington, and Sydney is a student at St. Paul's School.

EVERYONE HAD FUN at the Service Club's "Break-the-Record" party at the Arts Club Tuesday evening. The girls, who wore fantastic hats in a competition for the most original design, seemed to enjoy the proceedings even though several of them had to spend most of their time holding the hats on their heads. Mrs. Richard D. Culver's "Doing the Mambo" got the bottle of perfume, which was the first-prize award. Her broad-brimmed headdress suggested a royal palm growing out of a colorful tub. Among the palm fronds was a capering monkey. "The Most Elaborate" award was won by Mrs. Joseph Lafferty, whose hat was piled high with luscious grapes tumbling out of a horn of plenty and topped with a bottle of wine in a wicker basket. Other winners were Mrs. William Faurot, Jayne Olmsted and Mrs. Frank Bering.

Mrs. Gardner H. Stern (right), co-chairman of the box committee for St. Luke's Fashion Show, takes a few minutes from her hostess duties to chat with Mrs. Gail Borden, who will be one of the models. Plans for the "Special Feature" of the Oct. 20 show were announced at the tea. (Sun-Times Photo by Howard Lyon)

THE GROUP OF VERY CHIC WOMEN lunching in the Drake French Room Tuesday was the Chicago committee of Arden Shore. The committee members had gathered to announce plans for their Oct. 30 dinner-dance which this year will be called the Strong Heart Ball. This event is always one of the brilliant affairs of the early fall. The sale of tickets to it, together with the auction of donations, annually raises more than $50,000 for the Arden Shore Camp for Boys. The articles donated are of wide variety. One woman has announced that she might even have a furnace for auction at the ball.

During the luncheon the group heard impressive talks by Mrs. Kenneth A. Corvell, president of the senior board, and Josephine Strode. Both stressed that the money raised by the ball had provided the most approved methods of training and education for the boys cared for in the camp.

Miss Strode, a widely experienced sociologist, explained that the boys there were all exceptional, each having a high IQ rating and most having special talents. These boys all come from disrupted family environments and without special, sympathetic training they might not be able to become responsible citizens.

Cholly Dearborn:

"HOW TO MAKE a million dollars" could well be the theme—and title—of a book by the women's board of St. Luke's Hospital.

For when the 28th annual Fashion Show, to be staged Oct. 20 by this energetic group, is over, the board will be in a position to boast—were it given to boasting—of having raised over $1,000,000 via their annual style spectacles.

At a model's rehearsal tea at the Casino, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, this year's chairman, informed the gathering that to date the board has raised $981,000 from the preceding 27 shows. Since last year's event brought in some $60,000 and the committee hopes to exceed that amount this year, it goes without saying they'll go well over the top of a million.

Come to think of it, the women could raise another large sum by writing a book telling "how to do it." I'm sure every woman's organization would rush to secure copies.

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
TUESDAY OCTOBER 12 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

The Secret Committee of the Twelfth Night Ball has decided to give its annual costume party a week later than usual. It will be held Jan. 14 in the Blackstone Hotel. The ball seldom has been given on Twelfth-night, as the group prefers to have its party on Friday night. Heretofore, the ball has been given on the first Friday following the witches' eve. This year, the committee decided its group would appreciate a week's rest after the various holiday celebrations.

WHEN MRS. CHARLES F. GLORE leaves the St. Luke's Fashion Show in Medinah Temple on Oct. 20, she will drive straight to the airport. There she will board a plane for Paris. She plans to spend one full day there in bed to recuperate from the stress of the show and the strain of the trans-Atlantic flight. The following day she will go to Rome to meet Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, who are now in Saudi Arabia on a business trip. With the Mitchells, Mrs. Glore will spend three weeks exploring Rome and Florence.

#4766 1954-45

Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, a veteran St. Luke's model, who again will appear on St. Luke's runway Wednesday in Medinah temple.

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, another "tried and true" mannequin, in her own gown, similar to stunning ones to be seen Wednesday.

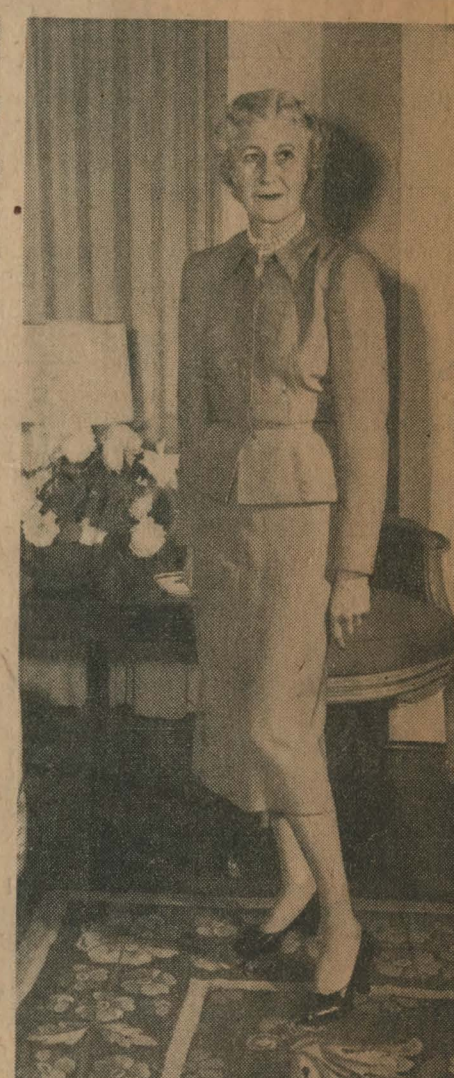

Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, another whose past modeling chores include many appearances in St. Luke's hospital fashion shows, photographed in her home.

Still another favorite with St. Luke's audiences is Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., who will participate in St. Luke's 28th shows, always an outstanding event.

Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr., whose entrance onto St. Luke's runway assures audiences of a poised and seasoned mannequin. Show starts at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman, another seasoned model, shown in her home, where Mrs. McIlvaine also was photographed. Both are golfers.

Veteran Models for St. Luke's Show

Benefit Will Be Held Wednesday

By Eleanor Page

VETERAN St. Luke's hospital fashion show models are hailed as props, mainstays and also as stars of the annual fashion shows held to raise funds for the institution. When the curtain goes up on this year's production of the hospital woman's board at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in Medinah Temple, the six women pictured above will rate high in audience appeal.

Each has a distinct clothes style of her own. Each has modeled sufficiently to have professional poise. Each knows how to show off a costume without showing off!

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III has appeared in every St. Luke's fashion show since 1933, the year she made her debut. Her costume

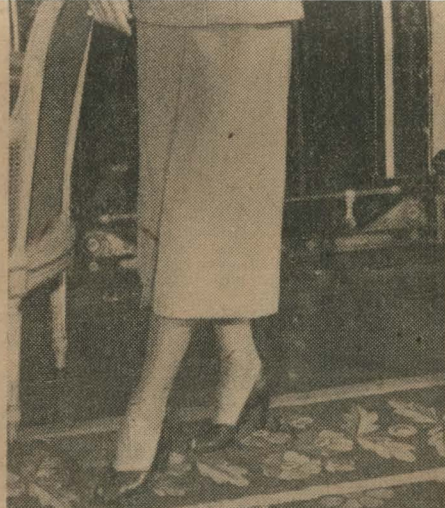

Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, a veteran St. Luke's model, who again will appear on St. Luke's runway Wednesday in Medinah temple.

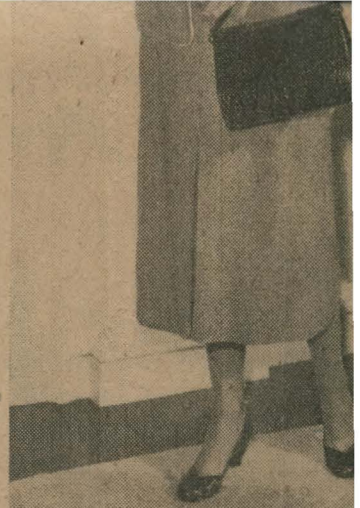

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, another "tried and true" mannequin, in her own gown, similar to stunning ones to be seen Wednesday.

Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, another whose past modeling chores include many appearances in St. Luke's hospital fashion shows, photographed in her home.

Still another favorite with St. Luke's audiences is Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., who will participate in St. Luke's 28th shows, always an outstanding event.

Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr., whose onto St. Luke's runway assures a of a poised and seasoned model. Show starts at 2:30 p. m.

Veteran Models for St. Luke

Benefit Will Be Held Wednesday

By Eleanor Page

VETERAN St. Luke's hospital fashion show models are hailed as props, mainstays and also as stars of the annual fashion shows held to raise funds for the institution. When the curtain goes up on this year's production of the hospital woman's board at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in Medinah Temple, the six women pictured above will rate high in audience appeal.

Each has a distinct clothes style of her own. Each has modeled sufficiently to have professional poise. Each knows how to show off a costume without showing off!

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III has appeared in every St. Luke's fashion show since 1933, the year after she made her debut. Her costume that year was "a darling beige suit with a beaver capelet," Mrs. Armour recalls. Ever since that first year she has appeared as a model for Marshall Field & Company, which is appropriate because her grandfather, the late John G. Shedd, was president and then chairman of the department store for many years.

In common with the other veteran models, Mrs. Armour doesn't worry about her runway appearance.

"Just before you go on you wonder how awful you look, or if something will fall off," she said.

"I couldn't do it if I were frightened," said Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., about her annual appearance. "I never did feel any trepidation; just the fun and excitement!"

Mrs. McIlvaine, who plays lots of golf at the Shoreacres club, wears slacks and shorts in the country—she lives in Lake Forest—and likes well tailored suits. She used to do a lot of riding, as did Mrs. Armour. The latter now prefers tennis, golf, and swimming.

Tennis was the first sports love of Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, grandmother of twin boys, who now enjoys golf, also. She, too, wears slacks and shorts informally in the country.

• • •

Mrs. Clement and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler agree that they have been lucky in what they are asked to model in St. Luke's shows, and that they usually wear something they like.

"I'm usually a little nervous before I go on stage," said Mrs. Sudler, "but when I get out there I feel fine—as soon as I hear applause. The music and an appreciative audience help."

Mrs. Sudler and Mrs. Cal-

Benefit Will Be Held on Wednesday

[Continued from first page]
tall, slim blondes. Both like tailored clothes and evening dresses. Mrs. Sudler is the only town dweller among the six pictured above.

Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman has achieved a reputation as a tremendously chic woman, very soignee, with never a hair out of place. She, too, is a golfer, playing mostly at the Shore-acres club, and she also enjoys cards. Another veteran model is Mrs. Kimball Salisbury.

While most of the expensive seats for the Wednesday performance have long since been sold, a number of $3 balcony seats are available. They may be obtained from the St. Luke's Fashion show office in the Palmolive building [telephone Michigan 2-3230], until Wednesday when they will go on sale at the temple box office.

"Considering that the Duke of Iron and his calypso singers, currently appearing at the Blue Angel, will entertain during intermission, that's a bargain price," said a board member. Miles Nekolny, singing cowboy, also will appear during the in-

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
SUNDAY OCTOBER 17 1954

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

It is a great pleasure to make this exclusive announcement: Mrs. Gordon Bent has been chosen to play the role of the bride in next Wednesday's St. Luke's Fashion Show.

In the 1952 show I nominated Mrs. Bent as "the most beautiful model" in the cast. It was not a difficult choice to make. Though there were many strikingly beautiful girls modeling in the show, Susan Drake Bent's ethereal loveliness really was incomparable. Her facial expression is beautiful both in repose and animation; her tall, slender figure is faultlessly molded and her coloring is of that perfect natural blondness that little girls rarely retain in their adulthood.

Mrs. Bent will be attended in her bridal scene by Mrs. John Otis Carney, Patricia O'Riley and Mrs. Frederick Childs Pullman. In adjoining columns the four girls are shown in a photograph taken in the Lake Forest home of Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr. when they met to discuss their big scene in the show.

INCIDENTALLY ANOTHER BENT, who is no relation to Mrs. Gordon Bent's husband, may make a star appearance on the Medinah Temple stage during the show. He is John P. Bent, who is doing yeoman service as acting president of the board of trustees of St. Luke's. At a recent luncheon of the Woman's Board he spoke glowingly of the glamor of the annual show and gratefully of the money it raises each year for the hospital. "But let us not permit the glamor of the show to create the impression that St. Luke's is a wealthy hospital," he said. "We are desperately in need of funds."

When he is presented by Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the Woman's Board, he no doubt will make a similar speech.

There are still some $3 seats available. They can be obtained through the St. Luke's Fashion Show office in Room 332, Palmolive Building. In addition to the fashions, calypso music will be provided by the Iron Duke and a troupe of calypso performers.

CHICAGOANS WERE SURPRISED at the report cabled from London that Mrs. Hedwig-Maria von Chapuis Gage, former wife of British Ambassador Berkeley E. F. Gage, is about to marry Rostislav Romanoff. Anthony Gage, who is employed in an advertising office here, has no information on his mother's plans. He met Romanoff two years ago at a cocktail party in London but at that time did not view him in the light of a prospective stepfather.

Anthony's father, who was former consul general here and now is ambassador to Thailand, was married two weeks ago to Mrs. Lillian Riggs-Miller, whose father, Vladimir Vukmirovich, was formerly Yugoslav consul general here.

Romanoff is well known in Chicago. He was married for several years to the former Aleka Galitzine, who is now the wife of Lester Armour. His son by that marriage makes his home with the Armours. After he and Aleka were divorced, Romanoff married Alice Eilken. He was divorced from her a year or so ago.

ROMANOFF, a nephew of the last Czar of Russia, has experienced much hardship since, with members of his family, he fled the Bolsheviks when they massacred the Russian royal family and took over the country. The Romanoffs were given refuge by the British royal family, but Rostislav, determined to become self-supporting, came to the United States. During the time he was living in London he met Aleka Galitzine, also a titled refugee from Russia, when both were doing volunteer work during World War I. After the war, when both were working for a living in Chicago, they met again; and in 1928, when he was a salesman in Marshall Field & Co.'s store and Aleka was working at Carson Pirie Scott & Co.'s store, they were married.

Both continued working at their jobs but their joint income provided only the most modest means of existence. After they were divorced, Romanoff took a clerical job with a trucking company. When he left that post, he returned to London and has been living there in Wilderness House, a royal home in Hampton Court.

Now that he is to marry Mrs. Gage it is natural to assume he may again enjoy some of the luxuries he knew as a child. Mrs. Gage is said to be a wealthy woman in her own right. She inherited a fortune from her father, the late Baron Chapuis of Liegnitz. Liegnitz once was a part of Germany and now is behind the Iron Curtain in Poland.

IN FASHION SPOTLIGHT

The strains of "Here Comes the Bride" bring the same dramatic hush throughout the crowd at the St. Luke's Fashion show as in real-life weddings. Mrs. Gordon Bent (center), who will be this year's St. Luke's bride, plays the role in advance with her make-believe bridesmaids, Mrs. John Otis Carney (left), Patricia O'Riley (rear) and Mrs. Frederick Childs Pullman. The bridal procession is the climax of the first half of Tuesday's fashion show at Medinah Temple. (Sun-Times Photo by Howard Lyon)

Mrs. Hedwig-Maria von Chapuis Gage, former wife of Berkeley E. F. Gage, former British consul general here, who is reported engaged to Rostislav Romanoff.

#4766 1954-47

The New 'Cat Look' Arrives in Chicago —for St. Luke's Fashion Show

BY ELEANOR NANGLE

THE WOMEN, several thousand strong, who will gather Wednesday afternoon in Medinah temple for the 28th annual St. Luke's fashion show will see some examples of a new French born make-up that will vie with the clothes for distinction.

This is the much heralded "cat look" which was launched in Paris for the fall showings. It is highly dramatic and frankly exotic.

The base used for this make-up is extremely light, with a faintly luminous quality. Rouge is a pinky mauve. Eyelids are dramatized first with a line, fine and bravely orchid in color, drawn close along the lashes, which are darkened with mascara, and then with a new and completely different shade of eye shadow called "sunburst."

This is yellowish in tint and it is applied with obviousness. At the outer eye corners, one line, sometimes even two lines, are drawn obliquely—and not unobtrusively—right up to the eyebrow!

The mouth make-up is entirely different from anything popularized here up to this point. First the mouth is delicately outlined in a fine black line, then filled in with two shades of lipstick, both of the Parma violet shade rather than a conventional red. The affect is arresting, curiously catlike.

St. Luke's show spectators will learn that there is even a required hair silhouette for the cat look. It is drawn up and back from the face, very sleek, very smooth, broken only by the widest of waves.

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo]

Mrs. Thomas Dent III, who will model Wednesday in the St. Luke's fashion show, will display this French inspired "cat look" in make-up.

Cholly Dearborn:

'Romance' at Fashion Show

"ROMANTIC" IS A WORD to add to the adjectives certain to be employed in generally describing the St. Luke's Fashion Show tomorrow, and most particularly with reference to Claudia Old.

Today, on the eve of the town's most glamorous and highly publicized fashion production, Vice Adm. and Mrs. Francis P. Old are formally announcing daughter Claudia's engagement to Malcolm Chandler, brilliant young Chicago lawyer.

So Claudia not only will be making her debut in the coveted role of a St. Luke's model, but she will be wearing, in addition to a lovely creation of one of our more important merchants, a big sparkler on that certain finger.

Vice Adm. Old, retired former head of the 9th Naval District here, and his family now live in Lake Forest. Before that, like all Navy people, they wandered over the globe, and Claudia's schooling reflects the cosmopolitan background of a "Navy offspring." A graduate of the Turnbull School for Girls at Norfolk, Va., she attended Gin Ling College for Women at Nanking, China, the Convent of Assumption at Manila, the Goucher School in Baltimore and Northwestern University in Evanston, where she received her sheepskin last year. Manila was the place where she made her debut in 1949.

(Chicago American photo by Charles Keller.)

● ART for the sake of—Radcliffe, is keeping enthusiastic Mrs. Frank Theis busy with plans for the Dec. 4 art tour. Co-chairman of the benefit, which features tours of four privately owned contemporary collections, Mrs. Theis has just started one of her own with this Matisse drawing shown in background.

Young Mr. Chandler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Chandler of Washington, D. C. He was graduated from Harvard and took his law degree there two years later. He is associated with the law firm of Bell, Boyd, Marshall and Lloyd.

○ ○ ○

INCIDENTALLY, Mrs. Old, who has just returned from a trip out of town, had planned to take a party of friends to St. Luke's Show in celebration of Claudia's first modeling stint. She commissioned Claudia to secure the tickets, but Dan Cupid brought on a case of forgetfulness on Claudia's part, and when Mrs. Old returned, she discovered that Claudia, in all the excitement of getting engaged, just plain forgot to order the precious ducats.

So mamma has for several days been trying in vain to get a block of tickets, but found the show a sellout. She did, somehow, manage to get a single—in the balcony—and from this vantage point will look down on the proceedings.

And if any of those who had been invited by Mrs. Old are a bit peeved being out of it—today I'm sure, after reading these lines, they forgive her—and her absent-minded daughter.

○ ○ ○

PRECIOUS TICKETS in hand, over 4,000 women will descend upon Medinah Temple tomorrow for the 2:30 curtain of the 28th annual shindig. The more foresighted long since have had luncheon reservations at such places as the Woman's Athletic Club, the Casino, the Fortnightly, the Racquet Club, the Arts Club, the Key Club, the Pump Room, etc. Those who planned parties but procrastinated are out of luck.

The Woman's Athletic Club is braced for a capacity crowd of 400—with over a hundred additional names on a waiting list for a possible last minute cancellation. Always popular for luncheon, the WAC has the added advantage of being within easy walking distance of Medinah Temple, a decided point in its favor when you consider the traffic snarl which perennially accompanies the show.

Mrs. Charles Walgreen, Mrs. Harold Nutting, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, Mrs. Joseph Magnus, Mrs. Earle Zimmerman, Mrs. Edward Hurley, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Britton Budd and Mrs. Kenneth Bahe will have luncheon parties there.

○ ○ ○

MRS. ERRETT VAN NICE, Mrs. William E. Clow, Mrs. Robert Wood, Mrs. Jarvis Hunt, Mrs. Irene Sidley, Mrs. Morris McCormick, Mrs. G. Rockefeller Prentice and Mrs. Fred A. Poor will be entertaining at the Casino, and the Fortnightly will have its share of luncheon hostesses with Mrs. Bennett Harvey, Mrs. Charles C. Shedd, Mrs. George A. MacDonald and Mrs. Carol W. Alton entertaining there.

Socialites lunching at the Arts Club will be able to linger over their coffee for they, too, are just a few minutes from the temple. Among the capacity crowd there will be Mrs. Ednyfed Williams, Mrs. Richard Donnelley, Mrs. G. W. Morgan, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, Mrs. Clinton King, Mrs. Lee Alberts and Mrs. Edward B. Blair.

Those invading the Racquet Club include Mrs. William Carney, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Russell Kelley and Mrs. Movius Palmer as hostesses.

The real stars of the day, the corps of St. Luke's models will have their own exclusive luncheon right at the scene of the show. Downstairs in the basement-turned-dressing room, the mannikins—some sans lipstick and powder, waiting to be made-up in professional style, others already set for the runway in the new, "cat-look" make-up Elizabeth Arden is featuring—will munch from box lunches while they await their moment in the spotlight.

○ ○ ○

Cholly Dearborn:

'Romance' at Fashion Show

"ROMANTIC" IS A WORD to add to the adjectives certain to be employed in generally describing the St. Luke's Fashion Show tomorrow, and most particularly with reference to Claudia Old.

Today, on the eve of the town's most glamorous and highly publicized fashion production, Vice Adm. and Mrs. Francis P. Old are formally announcing daughter Claudia's engagement to Malcolm Chandler, brilliant young Chicago lawyer.

So Claudia not only will be making her debut in the coveted role of a St. Luke's model, but she will be wearing, in addition to a lovely creation of one of our more important merchants, a big sparkler on that certain finger.

Vice Adm. Old, retired former head of the 9th Naval District here, and his family now live in Lake Forest. Before that, like all Navy people, they wandered over the globe, and Claudia's schooling reflects the cosmopolitan background of a "Navy offspring." A graduate of the Turnbull School for Girls at Norfolk, Va., she attended Gin Ling College for Women at Nanking, China, the Convent of Assumption at Manila, the Goucher School in Baltimore and Northwestern University in Evanston, where she received her sheepskin last year. Manila was the place where she made her debut in 1949.

Young Mr. Chandler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Chandler of Washington, D. C. He was graduated from Harvard and took his law degree there two years later. He is associated with the law firm of Bell, Boyd, Marshall and Lloyd.

INCIDENTALLY, Mrs. Old, who has just returned from a trip out of town, had planned to take a party of friends to St. Luke's Show in celebration of Claudia's first modeling stint. She commissioned Claudia to secure the tickets, but Dan Cupid brought on a case of forgetfulness on Claudia's part, and when Mrs. Old returned, she discovered that Claudia, in all the excitement of getting engaged, just plain forgot to order the precious ducats.

So mamma has for several days been trying in vain to get a block of tickets, but found the show a sellout. She did, somehow, manage to get a single—in the balcony—and from this vantage point will look down on the proceedings.

And if any of those who had been invited by Mrs. Old are a bit peeved being out of it—today I'm sure, after reading these lines, they forgive her—and her absent-minded daughter.

PRECIOUS TICKETS in hand, over 4,000 women will descend upon Medinah Temple tomorrow for the 2:30 curtain of the 28th annual shindig. The more foresighted long since have had luncheon reservations at such places as the Woman's Athletic Club, the Casino, the Fortnightly, the Racquet Club, the Arts Club, the Key Club, the Pump Room, etc. Those who planned parties but procrastinated are out of luck.

The Woman's Athletic Club is braced for a capacity crowd of 400—with over a hundred additional names on a waiting list for a possible last minute cancellation. Always popular for luncheon, the WAC has the added advantage of being within easy walking distance of Medinah Temple, a decided point in its favor when you consider the traffic snarl which perennially accompanies the show.

Mrs. Charles Walgreen, Mrs. Harold Nutting, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, Mrs. Joseph Magnus, Mrs. Earle Zimmerman, Mrs. Edward Hurley, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Britton Budd and Mrs. Kenneth Bahe will have luncheon parties there.

MRS. ERRETT VAN NICE, Mrs. William E. Clow, Mrs. Robert Wood, Mrs. Jarvis Hunt, Mrs. Irene Sidley, Mrs. Morris McCormick, Mrs. G. Rockefeller Prentice and Mrs. Fred A. Poor will be entertaining at the Casino, and the Fortnightly will have its share of luncheon hostesses with Mrs. Bennett Harvey, Mrs. Charles C. Shedd, Mrs. George A. MacDonald and Mrs. Carol W. Alton entertaining there.

Socialites lunching at the Arts Club will be able to linger over their coffee for they, too, are just a few minutes from the temple. Among the capacity crowd there will be Mrs. Ednyfed Williams, Mrs. Richard Donnelley, Mrs. G. W. Morgan, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, Mrs. Clinton King, Mrs. Lee Alberts and Mrs. Edward B. Blair.

Those invading the Racquet Club include Mrs. William Carney, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Russell Kelley and Mrs. Movius Palmer as hostesses.

The real stars of the day, the corps of St. Luke's models will have their own exclusive luncheon right at the scene of the show. Downstairs in the basement-turned-dressing room, the mannikins—some sans lipstick and powder, waiting to be made-up in professional style, others already set for the runway in the new, "cat-look" make-up Elizabeth Arden is featuring—will munch from box lunches while they await their moment in the spotlight.

(Chicago American photo by Charles Keller.)

● ART for the sake of—Radcliffe, is keeping enthusiastic Mrs. Frank Theis busy with plans for the Dec. 4 art tour. Co-chairman of the benefit, which features tours of four privately owned contemporary collections, Mrs. Theis has just started one of her own with this Matisse drawing shown in background.

Behind the scenes with the St. Luke's properties committee, Mrs. Herbert C. De Young posts a "No Smoking" sign. Preparations are being made for the fashion show to be held Wednesday in the Medinah Temple.

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

One of the models in the St. Luke's Fashion Show on Wednesday will have a very special piece of jewelry to show off. She is Claudia Old, who will be wearing for the first time in public the diamond ring she has received from Malcolm Arthur Chandler. Their engagement was announced Monday by Claudia's parents, Adm. Francis P. Old and Mrs. Old. Their wedding is to take place late in December.

Claudia was graduated from Miss Turnbull's School for Girls in Norfolk, Va., and the Gin Ling College in Nanking, China. She attended the Convent of the Assumption in Manila and Goucher College in Boston, and in 1953 was graduated from Northwestern University. She made her debut in Manila in 1949. Chandler, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Chandler of Washington, D.C., was graduated from Harvard College and from Harvard College of Law. He is practicing law in Chicago.

THOSE WHO CHERISH the illusion that socialites are a pampered lot incapable or unwilling to do any form of manual labor would have had a rude awakening had they been in the basement of Medinah Temple Monday morning.

By 9 o'clock the backstage crew members of the St. Luke's fashion committee were exchanging their mink coats for kitchen aprons and smocks in preparation for setting up the dressing rooms for the show.

Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, who has always been captain of the crew, arrived from Lake Forest with a huge box filled with soap flakes and all the other paraphernalia a well-equipped charwoman uses in her daily chores.

MRS. EDWARD A. CUDAHY, who like Mrs. Wheeler has worked backstage through the 28 years of the show, was another early arrival. She and her chauffeur lugged in a box filled with props for the intermission entertainment. In one hand she had a pair of trainmen's lanterns and in the cumbersome box were an assortment of inflated rubber floats which youngsters splash around in swimming pools. These, of course, will be used to depict the dilemma of the prize winner in trying to choose which of the Alsonett resort hotels to spend his vacation in.

Mrs. John A. Prosser, well fortified with polishing cloths,

MRS. WILLIAM J. CARNEY and Mrs. J. Bernard Mullen were doing what looked like a very efficient job in setting up the room in which the press photographers will work. This year they are using grass mats on the floor instead of canvas so that the set will have a tidier look. As an example of how carefully they were making arrangements, they made big placards announcing that only DC electric current was available. They recalled an incident of a previous show when someone connected an AC current lamp and knocked out the whole lighting system.

Ironically enough, these unsung heroines won't even see the show. With the exception of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Oldberg, the women who were in the basement Monday will be in the same place all day Wednesday.

SOCIETY WOMEN AT WORK

Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, chairman of the stage setting committee, lends a helping hand to the workers who are busy unpack-in supplies to be used by models. (Sun-Times Photos by Larry Nocerino)

Mrs. John A. Prosser (left) and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, chairman of the properties committee, polish mirrors to be used at each model's place in the huge dressing room.

CHOLLY DEARBORN

Million Dollar Fashion Show Going Over Top

WOMAN'S WORLD

Chicago American  Wed., Oct. 20, 1954—31

• TODAY'S THE DAY! Di Di Kelley, a veteran

• "SIGNING IN." Mrs. Richard M. Bennett, pretty socialite, registers with Mrs. Charles Glore (right) at the Casino during a rehearsal of models for St.

Luke's Fashion Show, while Mrs. Theodore Ticken registers smiling approval.
(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller.)

Mary Haworth

A Wife's 'Life in Vacuum'

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 40, well-educated, a Navy wife—and I am having blue moods lately. Perhaps I am looking at as she enters Medinah Temple this morning to play her part in the 28th annual fashion review for benefit of St. Luke's Hospital.

• FLUFFY GOWN over her arm, Mrs. Robert V. Rasmussen hurries toward her date with the St. Luke's fashion show runway. With today's show, St. Luke's will have benefited by more than a million dollars in proceeds.

Cholly Dearborn: It's Big Day for St. Luke's

ST. LUKE'S 28TH FASHION SHOW went over the top today—the top of a cool million dollars!

It's news when anyone makes a million dollars. It's special news when a group of women—amateurs at that—can manage to raise that sum over a period of years by the mere giving of one fashion show a year.

When the books are balanced following this afternoon's spectacle in Medinah Temple, the figures will reveal that the annual show, which started as a small, intimate society benefit back in the mid '20s and is now an institution in Chicago, has netted something like $1,050,000 for the hospital.

To the ladies of St. Luke's the feather of my cap sweeps low. They've achieved the almost impossible—they've combined glamor with big business.

It takes big business ability to put on any single event attended by over 4,000 people, with a cast of 150 principals, a production crew (committees to you) of several hundred, some 50 collaborating merchants showing a million dollars worth of gowns and jewels; getting up a new "book" and musical program, setting up dozens of dressing rooms for a single performance and co-ordinating the other numerous chores so necessary for smooth-running perfection.

It's not done with a flip of the wrist. It's one year of hard, grueling work, and when all the hubbub and shouting die down, after a brief respite a new committee will set the wheels in motion again for St. Luke's 1955 production.

○ ○ ○

FOR THE SHOW PEOPLE themselves the day started shortly after dawn. Early morning found the models arriving, make-up kit in hand, hurrying to their dressing rooms to prepare for their roles.

Elsewhere on this page is a list of all the fortunate young women who have been chosen to model in the show. For some it is a repeat performance, for others it marks a debut as a St. Luke's model. For all it is a great social distinction, the accolade which marks them as persons of con-

Continued on next page.

Lillian Roth's Story

'I'll Cry Tomorrow' in Sunday's American

Now you can read Lillian Roth's own account of her courageous fight against alcoholism!

Starting Sunday, "I'll Cry Tomorrow"—Lillian Roth's great best-seller—will be serialized in The Chicago American.

Don't miss "I'll Cry Tomorrow," the most inspiring and heartwarming comeback story ever told. It starts in Sunday's Chicago American.

● DOORWAY TO DAZZLING society fashion show beckons Mrs. Paul Oliver (left) and Mrs. Herbert De Young, who carry their makeup cases into Medinah Temple, where they were to model scintillating clothes at annual charity affair.

key canfield's Beauty Spot

AREN'T you a little tired of that rigid, unnaturally "set" look so many hair sprays give? Yet most of us need control for our coiffures. We've been investigating a new spray on the market with much interest for just that reason. Containing no lacquer, it CAN'T make your hair harsh, stiff. Yet it provides that necessary manageability that every well-mannered head needs. Use it to tame your children's baby-fine tresses, too. Over-bleached hair will welcome its lanolin content. Helene Curtis' Super Soft Spray Net is $1.25, plus tax, at your favorite cosmetic counter.

It's Christmas Time for Gl Joe

BY KAY CANFIELD
Chicago American Beauty
Editor

IF SOMEONE very special will be spending Christmas overseas, now is the time for you to get in the holiday spirit. You'll want to send a gift from home.

To be sure it arrives, on time, plan to mail it now.

Along with groceries and sweets, why not include some toiletries in your gift box? A spokesman from Shulton's PX and Ship Stores market research tells us that toiletries are high on the Christmas lists of servicemen.

A big bar of soap, for instance—on a neck cord—will provide a foamy lather wherever the shower might be. Wrap it in a large size crocheted or knit washcloth.

Shave cream in an easy-to-pack tube, stick deodorant, or body talc in an aluminum container will be welcome. Wrap them in handkerchiefs or socks. Fill corners with candies.

Pack everything in a bread

Use metal bread box for overseas Christmas gifts; wrap well, address plainly.

box you've decorated yourself. It's sturdy and he'll use it as a catch-all to keep his quarters neat. Seal it with mastic tape, and don't forget to indicate "Christmas Gift."

trifles too closely; but also, we seem to be living in an almost friendless vacuum. It has happened before, and will happen again, unless I can find a way out.

Henry and I have moved often in our 14 years of marriage, and at first his associates drew us into their social life.

WE HAVE young children, the eldest already a bit shy, and I feel they will profit if we can achieve a more stimulating social life.

Henry enjoys bridge, but I have no card sense; and we don't dance.

He likes reading and travel, has no hobbies.

I enjoy music, painting and folk dancing.

MY HEALTH is uncertain and ruled out social exchange at one time; but I am not medically considered ill now.

If I remember to get enough rest I am fine... Henry is a very good man, interested in helping others when he sees the need clearly, and very fond of me and the children.

Just what is the problem?

Continued on next page.

Style Queens for a Day

HERE IT IS—THE STAR-STUDED, gilt-edged list of models for the 28th annual St. Luke's Fashion Show. They will appear today.

Beth Ann Alberding, Mary K. Alberding, Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, Mrs. T. Stanton Armour Jr., Mrs. Vernon Armour.

Mrs. William T. Bacon Jr., Mrs. Alexander Baldwin Jr., Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay III, Mrs. Richard Bennett, Mrs. Gordon Bent, Mrs. John A. Berkey, Mrs. Tilt Bissell, Mrs. Hill Blackett Jr., Mrs. F. Kent Blatchford, Mrs. P. D. Block Jr., Mrs. William Borland, Mrs. Thomas E. Brittingham III, Mrs. C. Foster Brown, Daria Brown, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan Jr., Mrs. Grinnell Burke, Calvine Burnett.

Mrs. John Otis Carney, Mrs. William J. Carney, Mrs. Silas Cathcart, Mrs. Jerome Cerny, Mrs. Walter Cherry Jr., Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, Mrs. Harry B. Clow Jr., Mrs. Charles Compton, Mrs. Robert L. Craig, Mrs. Robert Crane, Mrs. Michael Cudahy, Mrs. William Cudahy, Mrs. Darwin Curtis, Mrs. Walter Cushman.

Mrs. James Davis Jr., Mrs. James Dern, Mrs. Thomas Ashley Dent III, Mrs. Charles Dering Jr., Mrs. William S. Dilworth, Mrs. Wesley Dixon Jr., Mrs. Arthur Dole III, Mrs. Harry L. Drake.

Mrs. A. Bradley Eben, Mrs. H. Boyd Edwards Jr., Mrs. Ralph Ellis, Mrs. Byron Elting.

Mrs. E. P. Evans, Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr., Mrs. James FitzMorris, Mrs. George Fraker, Mrs. Edward French, Mrs. William Friedeman.

Mrs. Howard Gillette, Mrs. Charles Glore Jr., Mrs. Robert Gurley.

Jane Haggerty, Mrs. Hunt Hamill, Mrs. Daggett Harvey, Mrs. William Gold Hibbard, Mrs. James C. Hoover, Mrs. Frank Hughes, Mrs. John Hughes, Diana Hunt, Mrs. John Hurley, Mrs. John S. Hutchins.

Sharon Kelley, Mrs. James A. Kennedy, Mrs. Garfield

King, Mrs. James Kinnear, Deborah Kneedler, Mrs. William Komlos, Mrs. John Kovas.

Mrs. Rankin Lashmet, Mrs. Keith Lewis, Mrs. Kendal Lingle.

Mrs. Alexander MacArthur, Mrs. Cyrus MacKinnon, Ann McArthur, Mrs. Norman McClave, Barbara McClurg, Mrs. Roger McCormick, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Mrs. William B. McIlvaine III, Mrs. Donald McKellar, Mrs. Leon Mandel, Jill Miller, Mrs. Walter Mills, Mrs. Clokey Moore, Mrs. Lawrence Morgan, Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr.

Mrs. Bruce Norris, Elinor Notz.

Claudia Old, Patricia O'Riley, Mrs. John Ottman, Mrs. Paul W. Oliver.

Mrs. Stewart Peck, Mrs. Royal Peterson II, Mrs. James Pope, Mrs. Frederick C. Pullman.

Mrs. Robert V. Rasmusen, Mrs. T. Hamil Reidy, Mrs. Channer Richardson, Mrs. Dwight Rockwell, Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman, Mrs. A. Loring Rowe.

Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, Mrs. Carpenter Seidlitz, Mrs. Ike Sewell, Elizabeth Shedd, Mrs. R. Sargent Shriver, Martha Singleton, Mrs. Gerald Sivage, Mrs. Edward Byron Smith, Mrs. Dunham Somes, Mrs. Durand Smith, Mrs. Emery Smyth, Mrs. William Stenson, Mrs. Gardner Stern Jr., Mrs. Louis Sudler, Mrs. Edward F. Swift III, Mrs. Phelps Swift.

Mrs. James G. Torian, Mrs. Philip Towle.

Mrs. Edgar Uihlein, Mrs. George Van Hagen III, Mrs. Gardner Van Ness Jr.

Mrs. Malcolm Walker, Mrs. Thatcher Waller, Mrs. Henry Wheeler, Mrs. Jack Williamson, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. Mark Willing, Mrs. Christopher Wilson, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Henry C. Wood.

Mrs. Herbert De Young, Mrs. John Zick.

WE'LL GUARANTEE NO ONE ELSE WILL with our fabulous equipment designed at one of the country's leading universities—Especially for SLENDERELLA INTERNATIONAL, to improve your posture, proportion you, mold you, give you a wonderful lift... MAKE YOU THE DRESS SIZE YOU OUGHT TO BE... It's so-o-o relaxing, satisfying. It's like a caress... You'll love it.

IT'S EVERYTHING YOU'VE ALWAYS WANTED... experts to give you individualized calorie control—answer your every question—amazing Slenderella's vitamin packed wafers that keep you feeling wonderfully alive—youthful. You'll never feel hungry again.

ALL THIS IS GUARANTEED... By Slenderella the world's largest slenderizing system... Used by 2,000,000 women.

FREE TRIAL—Phone now or come in to your nearest Slenderella Salon—You'll love the care—the individual attention—the privacy—the charming decor... $2.00 per visit—Weekly budget plan. Open 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. ... phone today... We'll keep our promise. M. LINCKS, Director

✓ NO DISROBING ✓ NO EXERCISE
✓ NO ELECTRICITY ✓ NO STARVATION DIET

slenderella INTERNATIONAL

• PARIS • NEW YORK • CHICAGO • BEVERLY HILLS • and PRINCIPAL CITIES •

LOOP—30 West Washington at Dearborn, Rm. 1319.....ANdover 3-1642

IVANSTON—1743 Sherman Avenue (Free Parking).....DAvis 8-5464

DAK PARK—650 Lake Street, Opp. Town Hall.....EUclid 3-2420

IVERGREEN PLAZA—95th and Western—Lower Level....GArden 4-2400

Just Picture it!

ONE BILLION CANS
of RIVAL DOG FOOD
Already Sold!

ENOUGH CANS
TO CIRCLE
THE EARTH
2 3/4 TIMES

Millions know from experience

RIVAL feeds their dogs BEST!

One billion cans of Rival Dog Food have been sold, because millions of dog owners have proved Rival is the right food for all dogs! Variety meats, liver and other essentials give Rival an abundance of natural vitamins, more proteins than most canned dog foods, to keep dogs healthy, with bright eyes and glossy coats! Remember there is no substitute for quality—buy Rival because it is a wonderful product, sensibly priced!

Check any other dog food against this RIVAL VALUE CHART

✓ MEAT	RIVAL HAS PLENTY!—A nourishing combination of variety meats, plus other essential foods.
✓ LIVER	RIVAL HAS IT! An important "extra," added for greater nourishment and tempting flavor.
✓ PROTEINS	RIVAL CONTAINS MORE of the essential and important proteins than most canned dog foods.
✓ VITAMINS & MINERALS	RIVAL HAS PLENTY—all in their natural form; vital to good health, growth and vigor.
✓ FLAVOR	RIVAL HAS IT!—A rich, natural, unadulterated flavor dogs love.
✓ NO ARTIFICIAL COLOR	NEVER ARTIFICIALLY RED! Rival has the pleasing natural color of cooked meats.
✓ A COMPLETE FOOD	RIVAL IS A COMPLETE FOOD—scientifically balanced to meet every dog's nutritional needs.
✓ DOG FEEDING TESTS	LABORATORY CONTROL and daily feeding tests assure you that Rival feeds your dog best.
✓ ALWAYS PRICED RIGHT	CONSISTENT HIGH QUALITY and sensible low price make Rival first in sales in city after city.

jersey blouse. Skirt and bag, $12.98; blouse, $5.98. At Gassman's, 3014 East 92nd Street. (Chicago American photo taken at Chicago Museum of Natural History by Bob McHugh.)

Fashion Show Now a 'Big Business'

Continued from preceding page. sequence and importance in the social world of Chicago.

A detail of Pinkerton detectives was on duty at the Temple checking each arrival for credentials. Along with the early arriving models, all sans make-up, many with hair still in pin curlers, came a group of about 25 or 30 cosmeticians from Elizabeth Arden's salon, who by the time the curtain rose had every girl looking her glamorous best. Miss Arden's new "cat-look" makeup may not be right for all of them—but each girl was primped to make the most of her particular beauty.

While the models dressed, had a quick lunch (basket style) and waited their turn for the last minute coiffure brush (some reading, some knitting, some playing scrabble to while away the time), the audience gathered. From all the points of the city and suburban areas they converged on the pivot of Wabash and Ohio; by train, taxi, bus and on foot, from luncheon parties near and far, all dressed up in best bibs and tucker. For it's quite THE thing to see and be seen at St. Luke's.

TRAFFIC WAS IN a snarl and the traffic cops were in a swivet. Fortunate indeed were those who had lunched within walking distance; the ones in cars and taxis made their way to the Temple in a slow, slow procession; the lobby was a noisy, milling throng. But by curtain time, there wasn't a single empty seat in the house, and the babble of voices became a sudden, dramatic hush as the lights went down and the curtain went up.

Not only women are in the audience. Here and there one saw an interesting group of men, and not the least important was the group entertained at the Attic Club before the show by Robert McCormick Adams. Mr. Adams' guests include James Waller Rogers, whose wife is chairman of this year's show; John P. Bent, acting president of St. Luke's Board of Trustees; Dr. Paul Holinger, chief of staff for the hospital; Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr., and Charles H. Alberding, this year's show sponsor.

Mrs. Adams, head of the Women's Board of St. Luke's and one of the powers that be for the show, was just too busy for lunch.

NOW FOR A look-see at the show.

With an all society cast, wearing almost a half million dollars in dazzling jewels and a king's ransom (or what was once a king's ransom) in furs and gowns, the curtain rose on a beguiling vacation-land scene of soft tropical blues, greens and yellows. On one side the backdrop showed Paradise Inn, Phoenix; on the other, Holiday Hotel, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with a swimming pool (picture, not real) between them. Against this backdrop, the theme of this year's fashion show took on the nature of a vacation travelog.

It was a scene to put everyone in the audience in a know better—if you hope to be "counted in."—MARY HAWORTH.

vacation-planning mood—with its attendant fashion planning.

To further accent the vacation theme, intermission found a presentation entitled "Happy Holiday" in which Peter Seidlitz, Sam Andy, Larry Crawford and Wisty Ellis, accompanied their "parents" (played by Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin and Roger Hall), to a resort hotel. An extra added attraction included a program of Calypso music by the Iron Duke and other calypso artists, and the cowboy singer Miles Nekolny.

WHAT IS A fashion show without a bride and her wedding party! And at Medinah this afternoon the bride was none other than that beautiful young matron Mrs. Gordon Bent. Her bridesmaids, equally lovely, were Mrs. John Otis Carney, Patricia O'Riley, Mrs. Frederick Childs Pullman and Beth Ann Alberding.

WERE I TO have to select the most stunning model in the show I'd be hard put to it to choose between Mrs. Bent and Mrs. Thomas Dent III. The latter is unutterably chic, and strikingly beautiful. Hers is the form divine—and she is one amateur model who really knows how to walk with professional grace. Her appearance on the elicited murmurs of oh's and ah's from the audience.

SEPARATE CUSHION COVERS TO Specially priced.....75c $1.25

CHAIR $3.95

SOFA $5.95

prices for standard sizes only phone ANdover 3-6480 HOUSE of SCHILLER 180 N. WACKER DRIVE CHICAGO 6, ILL.

Midland's for SECTIONAL FURNITURE

Definitely, this is the firm to choose for beautiful workmanship and RELIABILITY!

We give you that something extra... the true "knowledge" of creating smart sectionals, exactly right in proportion, shape and style. This "EXTRA" is yours for

As Low as $89.50 Per Section Plus a $20 to $100 Trade-in allowance on your old furniture!

Up to 2 Years to Pay
Phone for our SECTIONAL EXPERT to come to your home for FREE ESTIMATE. No obligation.

GRaceland 7-2120

24-Hour Switchboard Service Open 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

MIDLAND'S House of Sectionals

69 Years of Manufacturing Experience

2671 N. Lincoln Ave.—GRaceland 7-2120 (2600 North—1200 West)

BUY U. S. DEFENSE BONDS NOW

it's Brooks Kettle Fresh ...and Oh! so TANGY

Brooks CATSUP

Makes your meals taste wonderful

IF YOU TASTE IT FIRST... YOU'LL MAKE BROOKS YOUR FIRST CHOICE

Extravaganza in Gems, Furs, Hats and Gowns

BY ATHLYN DESHAIS

St. Luke's woman's board members had their 28th annual triumph Wednesday afternoon—drawing an audience of 4,000 members of the carriage trade and the fashion-conscious to their great fashion spectacle in Medinah Temple.

Theirs was an extravaganza that would "send" Cinderella and Mrs. Croesus alike, with its magnificent display of jewels, furs, hats and gowns.

St. Luke's women, creators of the idea of fashion shows for benefits, have the distinction of producing the oldest continuous pageant of its kind in the world. Even New York, center of luster, pomp and chi-chi, doesn't have a group who hold exclusive rights to such a dazzling, over-all panorama.

HIGHLY organized as they are, St. Luke's women with Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams at the helm, and with Mrs. Wyndham Hasler in charge of models, have worked for a solid year to perfect this, their '54 de luxe edition.

Show day excitement, as always, started shortly after dawn Wednesday morning with models arriving in staggering shifts and unconventional dress.

Old sweaters, slacks, baggy skirts, loafers and mules comprised their costumes as they alighted, with make-up kit in hand, from cabs, convertibles and limousines.

Almost as exciting as the backstage life was the luncheon hour bustle at the private clubs and more exclusive restaurants.

Fashionable uniform at the luncheon hour was the little fur jacket or stole over suits and sheath wool dresses, dark-toned or light, and little velvet, feather or winter white hats.

The very first to arrive at the Casino was Mrs. Donald F. MacKinnon. She wore a turquoise hat with her beige dress.

She was with her mother, Mrs. Selim McArthur, here from Elkhart, Ill., and Mrs. William Barnes of Decatur and Mrs. Dean Hill of Lincoln. Mrs. McArthur was in navy blue, even to her beaded hat.

SECOND party to arrive at the Casino was made up of Mrs. Egan Prosser, Mrs. John W. Miller Sr. and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Miller, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Howard Peabody.

Mrs. Robert E. Wood arrived at the Casino to await her party of guests. Likewise Mrs. Phelps Hoyt.

Mrs. David Taber was at the Casino door ahead of her hostess, Mrs. Jarvis Hunt. Mrs. Hunt's black suit was banded with black fox along the bottom of the jacket.

MRS. DeForest Davis was all in black, with fitted coat. Following custom, she and her sister, Mrs. Errett Van Nice lunched together.

Twelve months of work is climaxed Wednesday for Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams in the 28th annual St. Luke's extravaganza. She is president of the hospital woman's board, sponsors of the fundraiser.

Mrs. Arthur Farwell wore a straight sheath, mossy colored feather hat, and fur jacket.

Mrs. Walter Ware was at the Casino with a party of 11 that included Mrs. Herbert Knight and Mrs. Stuart Templeton.

COMING on from the Woman's Athletic Club were Mrs. William A. Patterson and her guests, Mrs. Robert Hosmer Morse Jr., Mrs. Charles Price and Mrs. Sherherd Roberts.

Mrs. Morse's little beaded hat matched the bead design on the black dress that is part of her stunning costume suit. The jacket is gracefully outlined in a banding of black and white mutation mink.

AT THE ARTS CLUB: Mrs. Jacob Bishop, Mrs. John Howland, Mrs. Charles Morgan McKenna (in black velvet suit), Mrs. Wayne Wills, Mrs. Alfred O'Gara, Mrs. Horatio Hackett, Mrs. Samuel Campbell, Mrs. Stanley Zaring, Mrs. Tilden Cummings, Mrs. C. J. McLean Jr.

The luncheon hour drew Mrs. George Kendall, Mrs. C. P. Kendall, Mrs. A. J. Alsdorf and Mrs. D. E. Ruggles Sr. among others to the Kungsholm.

MRS. BRITTON I. Budd entertained Mrs. Maurice W. K.

Byrne and other friends at luncheon before the show. . . In one party, lunching first at the Woman's Athletic Club, was Mrs. Frank Theis, Mrs. Kingsley Colton, Mrs. Bruce Strong (up from Palm Beach) and Mrs. John Holman (the Holmans have now moved back from Albuquerque).

Mrs. Theis was wearing a black Dior dress and blue feather hat that she bought in Paris.

EARLY in the morning the board members and models added to the hubbub when the sinister-looking Pinkerton men asked for their identifications. The women were so bogged down with packages that they had trouble fishing name cards out of their purses.

Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr. wasn't working for mere glory. At 9:15 she was down on her hands and knees scrubbing mats in the dressing room. She's a resourceful one, too.

Came to the Temple clutching two empty coffee cans and filled them with lemon leaves. Hidden behind pedestals, no one detected the homespun touch.

One of Mrs. Eric Oldberg's welcome contributions was coffee cans too. But these were filled, in readiness for the "perking process" and to give the models strength for their jobs.

One of the first models to arrive Wednesday morning at Medinah Temple was "Didi" Kelley. Unlike many of the young women, who wear their oldest and most casual clothes, Miss Kelley was smartly turned out in a flannel suit and fur scarf.

Mrs. Oldberg checked in at 9:30 with Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy and Mrs. George Van Hagen III.

TWO PROFESSIONAL-looking amateur models who arrived early were Mrs. Emery Smyth, toting a plaid model's hat box, and Mrs. Bradley Eben, carrying an alligator one.

An unexpected visitor was Stanley Field, whose chauffeur-driven limousine stopped at the entrance to the dressing room. He entrusted a good luck note to an attendant for delivery to Mr. Field's granddaughter, Mrs. Vernon Armour, one of the models.

AS CORNELIA Conger started counting the models she sighed: "What a relief when I can report they're all under this roof."

On duty early to sell their programs in Medinah Temple foyer were Mrs. Mason Phelps, Mrs. John Clarkson, Mrs. Owen West, Mrs. King Potter, Mrs. Donald Easter and Mrs. Rush Butler Jr.

The Casino was bustling with dozens of big luncheon parties.

MRS. JAMES M. HOPKINS is staying on in her Far Hills (N. J.) home for a few weeks, but she entertained at the St. Luke's show in absentia.

Her guests were Mrs. Howell B. Erminger, Mrs. Glenn Frank and Mrs. Henry Baldwin of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., whose daughter, Emily, made a debut here a few seasons ago.

All went on to the show from the Casino, where Mrs. Frank entertained.

Chicago has a group of men who wouldn't miss the St. Luke's show for anything, and the men always band together in boxes while their wives are sitting with friends elsewhere.

This year it was known in advance that Robert McCormick Adams, James W. Rogers, John P. Bent, Dr. Paul Holinger (chief of staff at St. Luke's), Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr. and Charles H. Alberding would be attending with male guests. Their luncheon reservations were for the Attic Club.

MRS. BRUCE BORLAND, giving a luncheon at home, included Mrs. John J. Borland and Mrs. Chauncey K. Hutchins among her guests.

Mrs. John P. Wilson Sr. entertained Mrs. Wilson Jr., Mrs. Edward Hasler, Mrs. John D. Ames and Mrs. C. H. Wilmerding at the Arts Club.

Mrs. Donald McClellan arrived home from Hot Springs, Va., in time for the show and to entertain Mrs. Howard Fenton and other friends at the Woman's Athletic Club.

Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson had to miss the show because she left early for the Runnells wedding in the East on Saturday.

FOR THE FIRST time in many years Mrs. Byron Harvey

Jr. did not model in the show. She feels kind of "tearful" but had decided that last year she would retire in lieu of the younger girls.

She and her sister, Mrs. Latham Castle, lunched at the Harlequin Room before they went on to the show where they sat in the box reserved for Byron Harvey Jr.

Reservations were made at the Racquet Club by Mrs. William Carney, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Russell Kelley and Mrs. Rose Movius Palmer.

Among the boxholders: Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Leigh Block, Mrs. James Dunham, Mrs. Kent Clow, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Clarence Prentice.

Mrs. Robert Rasmussen was the second model to check in for her very important stint in the St. Luke's show Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Derrick Vail's costume exemplifies correct attire at the luncheon hour before St. Luke's fashion show. Her little white hat topped her costume, mink stole over sheath dress. Mrs. Vail is emerging from the Casino, which was the smart place for the luncheon set.

Above—Luncheon-goers at the Casino—Mrs. John E. Miller was flanked by her mother, Mrs. Howard Peabody (right), and her mother-in-law, Mrs. John W. Miller.

Right—Braces of furs are being aired these days by Chicagoans and fashionable Easterners. Mrs. Cyrus Hill (right) brought her house guest, Mrs. Frederick Joch of Connecticut, to lunch at the Casino and to the fashion show later.

(Daily News photos by Emmet Barden and Edward De Luga.)

Mrs. Robert W. Wood was one of the young matrons who formed the Lake Forest delegation to the show. Her brace of furs was just the right touch over her simple dark coat as she was glimpsed entering the Casino.

SOCIETY IN CHICAGO

St. Luke's Fashion Show Dazzles 4,000

Million Dollar Fashion Show Going Over Top

● TODAY'S THE DAY! A veteran model for St. Luke's Fashion Show, Mrs. Ike Sewell will be quite at home on the runway when the 28th annual fashion review for the benefit of St. Luke's Hospital is presented at Medinah Temple.

● "SIGNING IN." Mrs. Richard M. Bennett, pretty socialite, registers with Mrs. Charles Glore (right) at the Casino during a rehearsal of models for St. Luke's Fashion Show, while Mrs. Theodore Ticken registers smiling approval.
(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller.)

● HER BEST foot forward. As important as the clothes she wears is the way a model walks and before every show St. Luke's fashion committee arranges for posture and walking instructions by the Pat Stevens Modeling School. Here Miss Stevens is pictured putting Mrs. John French through the paces.

Cholly Dearborn: It's Big Day for St. Luke's

ST. LUKE'S 28TH FASHION SHOW goes over the top today—the top of a cool million dollars!

It's news when anyone makes a million dollars. It's special news when a group of women—amateurs at that—can manage to raise that sum over a period of years by the mere giving of one fashion show a year.

When the books are balanced following this afternoon's spectacle in Medinah Temple, the figures will reveal that the annual show, which started as a small, intimate society benefit back in the mid '20s and is now an institution in Chicago, has netted something like $1,050,000 for the hospital.

To the ladies of St. Luke's the feather of my cap sweeps low. They've achieved the almost impossible—they've combined glamor with big business.

It takes big business ability to put on any single event attended by over 4,000 people, with a cast of 150 principals, a production crew (committees to you) of several hundred, some 50 collaborating merchants showing a million dollars worth of gowns and jewels; getting up a new "book" and musical program, setting up dozens of dressing rooms for a single performance and co-ordinating the other numerous chores so necessary for smooth-running perfection.

It's not done with a flip of the wrist. It's one year of hard, grueling work, and when all the hubbub and shouting die down, after a brief respite a new committee will set the wheels in motion again for St. Luke's 1955 production.

○ ○ ○

FOR THE SHOW PEOPLE themselves the day starts shortly after dawn. Early morning finds the models arriving, make-up kit in hand, hurrying to their dressing rooms to prepare for their roles.

Fashion Show Now a 'Big Business'

Continued from preceding page.

sequence and importance in the social world of Chicago.

A detail of Pinkerton detectives is on duty at the Temple checking each arrival for credentials. Along with the early arriving models, all sans make-up, many with hair still in pin curlers, comes a group of about 25 or 30 cosmeticians from Elizabeth Arden's salon, who by the time the curtain rises will have every girl looking her glamorous best. Miss Arden's new "cat-look" makeup may not be right for all of them—but each girl will be primped to make the most of her particular beauty.

While the models dress, have a quick lunch (basket style) and wait their turn for the last minute coiffure brush (some reading, some knitting, some playing scrabble to while away the time), the audience is gathering. From all the points of the city and suburban areas they converge on the pivot of Wabash and Ontario; by train, taxi, bus and on foot, from luncheon parties near and far, all dressed up in best bibs and tucker. For it's quite THE thing to see and be seen at St. Luke's.

○ ○ ○

TRAFFIC IS IN a snarl and the traffic cops are in a swivet. Fortunate indeed are those who have lunched within walking distance; the ones in cars and taxis make their way to the Temple in a slow, slow procession; the lobby is a noisy, milling throng. But by curtain time, there isn't a single empty seat in the house, and the babble of voices becomes a sudden, dramatic hush as the lights go down and the curtain goes up.

Not only women are in the audience. Here and there one sees an interesting group of men, and not the least important is the group entertained at the Attic Club before the show by Robert McCormick Adams. Mr. Adams' guests include James Waller Rogers, whose wife is chairman of this year's show; John P. Bent, acting president of St. Luke's Board of Trustees; Dr. Paul Hollinger, chief of staff for the hospital; Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr., and Charles H. Alberding, this year's show sponsor.

Mrs. Adams, head of the Women's Board of St. Luke's and one of the powers that be for the show, is just too busy for lunch.

○ ○ ○

NOW FOR A look-see at the show.

With an all society cast, wearing almost a half million dollars in dazzling jewels and a king's ransom (or what was once a king's ransom) in furs and gowns, the curtain rises on a beguiling vacation-land scene of soft tropical blues, greens and yellows. On one side the backdrop shows Paradise Inn, Phoenix; on the other, Holiday Hotel, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with a swimming pool (picture, not real) between them. Against this backdrop, the theme of this year's fashion show takes on the nature of a vacation travelog.

It's a scene to put everyone in the audience in a vacation-planning mood—with its attendant fashion planning.

To further accent the vacation theme, intermission finds a presentation entitled "Happy Holiday" in which Peter Seidlitz, Sam Andy, Larry Crawford and Wisty Ellis, accompany their "parents" (played by Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin and Roger Hall), to a resort hotel. An extra added attraction includes a program of Calypso music by the Iron Duke and other calypso artists, and the cowboy singer Miles Nekolny.

○ ○ ○

WHAT IS A fashion show without a bride and her wedding party! And at Medinah this afternoon the bride is none other than that beautiful young matron Mrs. Gordon Bent. Her bridesmaids, equally lovely, are Mrs. John Otis Carney, Patricia O'Riley, Mrs. Frederick Childs Pullman and Beth Ann Alberding.

Were I to have to select the most stunning model in the show I'd be hard put to choose between Mrs. Bent and Mrs. Thomas Dent III.

One young model making a "repeat engagement" (who was greeted with glee on all sides) is Deborah Kneeder. Deborah made her first appearance as a 5-year-old St. Luke's model—today she is a beautifully poised lady of 19.

CHOLLY DEARBORN

Million Dollar Fashion Show Going Over Top

WOMAN'S WORLD

Chicago American  Wed., Oct. 20, 1954—31

• "SIGNING IN." Mrs. Richard M. Bennett, pretty socialite, registers with Mrs. Charles Gore (right) at the Casino during a rehearsal of models for St. Luke's Fashion Show, while Mrs. Theodore Tieken registers smiling approval. (Chicago American photos by Charles Keller.)

Style and Beauty

Fabulous Fashions in Show

TO MRS. Townsend B. Brittingham went the honor of being the first St. Luke's model to appear on stage—looking like a Snow Maiden with a headpiece and muff model of society fashion shows, is her own porter as she enters Medinah Temple this morning to play her part in the 28th annual fashion review for benefit of St. Luke's Hospital.

• FLUFFY GOWN over her arm, Mrs. Robert V. Rasmussen hurries toward her date with the St. Luke's fashion show runway. With today's show, St. Luke's will have benefited by more than a million dollars in proceeds.

Cholly Dearborn: It's Big Day for St. Luke's

ST. LUKE'S 28TH FASHION SHOW went over the top today—the top of a cool million dollars!

It's news when anyone makes a million dollars. It's special news when a group of women—amateurs at that—can manage to raise that sum over a period of years by the mere giving of one fashion show a year.

When the books are balanced following this afternoon's spectacle in Medinah Temple, the figures will reveal that the annual show, which started as a small, intimate society benefit back in the mid '20s and is now an institution in Chicago, has netted something like $1,050,000 for the hospital.

To the ladies of St. Luke's the feather of my cap sweeps low. They've achieved the almost impossible—they've combined glamor with big business.

It takes big business ability to put on any single event attended by over 4,000 people, with a cast of 150 principals, a production crew (committees to you) of several hundred, some 50 collaborating merchants showing a million dollars worth of gowns and jewels; getting up a new "book" and musical program, setting up dozens of dressing rooms for a single performance and co-ordinating the other numerous chores so necessary for smooth-running perfection.

It's not done with a flip of the wrist. It's one year of hard, grueling work, and when all the hubbub and shouting die down, after a brief respite a new committee will set the wheels in motion again for St. Luke's 1955 production.

○ ○ ○

FOR THE SHOW PEOPLE themselves the day started shortly after dawn. Early morning found the models arriving, make-up kit in hand, hurrying to their dressing rooms to prepare for their roles.

Elsewhere on this page is a list of all the fortunate young women who have been chosen to model in the show. For some it is a repeat performance, for others it marks a debut as a St. Luke's model. For all it is a great social distinction, the accolade which marks them as persons of con-

Continued on next page.

Lillian Roth's Story

'I'll Cry Tomorrow' in Sunday's American

Now you can read Lillian Roth's own account of her courageous fight against alcoholism!

Starting Sunday, "I'll Cry Tomorrow"—Lillian Roth's great best-seller—will be serialized in The Chicago American.

Don't miss "I'll Cry Tomorrow," the most inspiring and heartwarming comeback story ever told. It starts in Sunday's Chicago American.

● DOORWAY TO DAZZLING society fashion show beckons Mrs. Paul Oliver (left) and Mrs. Herbert De Young, who carry their makeup cases into Medinah Temple, where they were to model scintillating clothes at annual charity affair.

● kay canfield's

Beauty Spot

AREN'T you a little tired of that rigid, unnaturally "set" look so many hair sprays give? Yet most of us need control for our coiffures. We've been investigating a new spray on the market with much interest for just that reason. Containing no lacquer, it CAN'T make your hair harsh, stiff. Yet it provides that necessary manageability that every well-mannered head needs. Use it to tame your children's baby-fine tresses, too. Over-bleached hair will welcome its lanolin content. Helene Curtis' Super Soft Spray Net is $1.25, plus tax, at your favorite cosmetic counter.

● MRS. EDWARD A. CUDAHY obviously was scheduled to model sports wear. She arrived for St. Luke's show balancing a large beach ball, golf club and boxed sports outfit.

chrysanthemums.

From the moment she appeared, until that traditional finale when the St. Luke's Nurses Corps lined up on stage, there was a continuous stream of elegance.

The fashions were fabulous. Mrs. Rankin Lashmet modeled a stunning Winter white beaver coat. Dior—in the grand manner—was represented by Mrs. Alex MacArthur, who looked like a queen in yards of pale gold satin.

* * *

SPECTACULAR is the word to describe the diamond necklace, from which fell a 39 carat star sapphire pendant, worn by Mrs. Edward F. Swift III.

No less than 20 Russian sable skins made up the beautiful stole displayed by Mrs. John A. Berkey II.

Lovely-looking Mrs. P. D. Block Jr. was in clouds of billowy white tulle—a gay garland of rainbow flowers peeping through the multiple layers of the ball gown's skirt.

Cutest model on runway—little Leslie Hailand, daughter of the junior Arthur Hailands of Lake Forest,

Continued on next page.

On the Runway

HERE IT IS—THE STAR-STUDED, gilt-edged list of models for the 28th annual St. Luke's Fashion Show. They will appear today in the great spectacle which has become a social institution here.

Beth Ann Alberding, Mary K. Alberding, Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton (and son Johnny), Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, Mrs. T. Stanton Armour Jr., Mrs. Vernon Armour.

Mrs. William T. Bacon Jr., Mrs. Alexander Baldwin Jr., Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay III, Mrs. Richard Bennett, Mrs. Gordon Bent, Mrs. John A. Berkey, Mrs. Tilt Bissell, Mrs. Hill Blackett Jr., Mrs. F. Kent Blatchford, Mrs. P. D. Block Jr., Mrs. William Borland, Mrs. Townsend B. Brittingham, Mrs. C. Foster Brown, Daria Brown, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan Jr., Mrs. Grinnell Burke, Calvine Burnett, Mrs. Claiborne Bradley.

Mrs. John Otis Carney, Mrs. William J. Carney, Mrs. Silas Cathcart, Mrs. Jerome Cerny, Mrs. Walter Cherry Jr., Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, Mrs. Harry B. Clow Jr., Mrs. Charles Compton, Mrs. Robert L. Craig, Mrs. Robert Crane, Mrs. Michael Cudahy, Mrs. William Cudahy, Mrs. Darwin Curtis, Mrs. Walter Cushman.

Mrs. James Davis Jr., Mrs. James Dern, Mrs. A. Thomas Ashley Dent III, Mrs. Charles Dering Jr., Mrs. William S. Dilworth, Mrs. Wesley Dixon Jr., Mrs. Arthur Dole III, Mrs. Harry L. Drake.

Mrs. A. Bradley Eben, Mrs. H. Boyd Edwards Jr., Mrs. Ralph Ellis, Mrs. Byron Elting.

Mrs. E. P. Evans, Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr., Mrs. James FitzMorris, Mrs. George Fraker, Mrs. Edward French, Mrs. William Friedeman.

Mrs. Howard Gillette, Mrs. Charles Glore Jr., Mrs. Robert Gurley, Mrs. Robert Hixon Glore, Carol Grant.

Jane Haggerty, Mrs. Hunt Hamill, Mrs. Daggett Harvey, Mrs. William Gold Hubbard, Mrs. James C. Hoover, Mrs. Frank Hughes, Mrs. John Hughes, Diana Hunt, Mrs. John Hurley, Mrs. John S. Hutchins, Leslie Hailand, Melissa Harvey.

Sharon Kelley, Mrs. James A. Kennedy, Mrs. Garfield King, Mrs. James Kinnear, Deborah Kneeder, Mrs. William Komlos, Mrs. John Kovas, Mary Lewis Kelley.

Mrs. Rankin Lashmet, Mrs. Keith Lewis, Mrs. Kendall Lingle.

Mrs. Alex MacArthur, Mrs. Cyrus MacKinnon, Ann McArthur, Mrs. Norman McClave, Barbara McClurg, Mrs. Roger McCormick, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Mrs. William B. McIlvaine III, Mrs. Donald McKellar, Mrs. Leon Mandel, Jill Miller, Mrs. Walter Mills, Mrs. Clokey Moore, Mrs. Lawrence Morgan, Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr.

Mrs. Bruce Norris, Elinor Notz.

Claudia Old, Patricia O'Riley, Mrs. John Ottman, Mrs. Stewart Peck, Mrs. Royal Peterson II, Mrs. James Pope, Mrs. Frederick C. Pullman.

Mrs. Robert V. Rasmusen, Mrs. T. Hamill Reidy, Mrs. Channer Richardson, Mrs. Dwight Rockwell, Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman, Mrs. A. Loring Rowe, Allison Rich.

Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, Mrs. Carpenter Seidlitz, Mrs. Ike Sewell, Elizabeth Shedd, Mrs. R. Sargent Shriner, Martha Singleton, Mrs. Gerald Sivage, Mrs. Edward Byron Smith, Mrs. Dunham Somes, Mrs. Durand Smith, Mrs. Emery Smyth, Mrs. William Stenson, Mrs. Gardner Stern Jr., Mrs. Louis Sudler, Mrs. Edward F. Swift III, Mrs. Phelps Swift, Mrs. Philip Staples.

Mrs. James G. Torian, Mrs. Philip Towle.

Mrs. Edgar Uihlein, Mrs. George Van Hagen III, Mrs. Gardner Van Ness Jr.

Mrs. Malcolm Walker, Mrs. Thatcher Waller, Mrs. Henry Wheeler, Mrs. Jack Williamson, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. Mark Willing, Mrs. Christopher Wilson, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Henry C. Wood, Daphne Wood, Pamela White.

Mrs. John Zick.

slenderella INTERNATIONAL, to improve your posture, proportion you, mold you, give you a wonderful lift... MAKE YOU THE DRESS SIZE YOU OUGHT TO BE... It's so-o-o relaxing, satisfying. It's like a caress... You'll love it.

IT'S EVERYTHING YOU'VE ALWAYS WANTED... experts to give you individualized calorie control—answer your every question—amazing Slenderellas the vitamin packed wafers that keep you feeling wonderfully alive—youthful. You'll never feel hungry again.

ALL THIS IS GUARANTEED... By Slenderella the world's largest slenderizing system... Used by 2,000,000 women.

FREE TRIAL—Phone now or come in to your nearest Slenderella Salon—You'll love the care—the individual attention—the privacy—the charming decor... $2.00 per visit—Weekly budget plan. Open 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. ... phone today... We'll keep our promise.

M. LINKS, Director
✓ NO DISROBING ✓ NO EXERCISE
✓ NO ELECTRICITY ✓ NO STARVATION DIET

slenderella INTERNATIONAL

• PARIS • NEW YORK • CHICAGO • BEVERLY HILLS • and PRINCIPAL CITIES •

LOOP—30 West Washington at Dearborn, Rm. 1319.....ANdover 3-1642
EVANSTON—1743 Sherman Avenue (Free Parking).....DAvis 8-5464
OAK PARK—650 Lake Street, Opp. Town Hall.....EUclid 3-2420
EVERGREEN PLAZA—95th and Western—Lower Level....GArden 4-2400

Fashion Show Now a 'Big Business'

Continued from preceding page. sequence and importance in the social world of Chicago.

A detail of Pinkerton detectives was on duty at the Temple checking each arrival for credentials. Along with the early arriving models, all sans make-up, many with hair still in pin curlers, came a group of about 25 or 30 cosmeticians from Elizabeth Arden's salon, who by the time the curtain rose had every girl looking her glamorous best. Miss Arden's new "cat-look" makeup may not be right for all of them—but each girl was primed to make the most of her particular beauty.

While the models dressed, had a quick lunch (basket style) and waited their turn for the last minute coiffure brush (some reading, some knitting, some playing scrabble to while away the time), the audience gathered. From all the points of the city and suburban areas they converged on the pivot of Wabash and Ohio; by train, taxi, bus and on foot, from luncheon parties near and far, all dressed up in best bibs and tucker. For it's quite THE thing to see and be seen at St. Luke's.

TRAFFIC WAS IN a snarl and the traffic cops were in a swivet. Fortunate indeed were those who had lunched within walking distance; the ones in cars and taxis made their way to the Temple in a slow, slow procession; the lobby was a noisy, milling throng. But by curtain time, there wasn't a single empty seat in the house, and the babble of voices became a sudden, dramatic hush as the lights went down and the curtain went up.

Not only women are in the audience. Here and there one saw an interesting group of men, and not the least important was the group entertained at the Attic Club before the show by Robert McCormick Adams. Mr. Adams' guests include James Waller Rogers, whose wife is chairman of this year's show; John P. Bent, acting president of St. Luke's Board of Trustees; Dr. Paul Holinger, chief of staff for the hospital; Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr., and Charles H. Alberding, this year's show sponsor.

Mrs. Adams, head of the Women's Board of St. Luke's and one of the powers that be for the show, was just too busy for lunch.

NOW FOR A look-see at the show.

With an all society cast, wearing almost a half million dollars in dazzling jewels and a king's ransom (or what was once a king's ransom) in furs and gowns, the curtain rose on a beguiling vacation-land scene of soft tropical blues, greens and yellows. On one side the backdrop showed Paradise Inn, Phoenix; on the other, Holiday Hotel, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with a swimming pool (picture, not real) between them. Against this backdrop, the theme of this year's fashion show took on the nature of a vacation travelog.

It was a scene to put everyone in the audience in a vacation-planning mood—with its attendant fashion planning.

To further accent the vacation theme, intermission found a presentation entitled "Happy Holiday" in which Peter Seidlitz, Sam Andy, Larry Crawford and Wisty Ellis, accompanied their "parents" (played by Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin and Roger Hall), to a resort hotel. An extra added attraction included a program of Calypso music by the Iron Duke and other calypso artists, and the cowboy singer Miles Nekolny.

WHAT IS A fashion show without a bride and her wedding party? And at Medinah this afternoon the bride was none other than that beautiful young matron Mrs. Gordon Bent. Her bridesmaids, equally lovely, were Mrs. John Otis Carney, Patricia O'Riley, Mrs. Frederick Childs Pullman and Beth Ann Alberding.

WERE I TO have to select the most stunning model in the show I'd be hard put to it to choose between Mrs. Bent and Mrs. Thomas Dent III. The latter is unutterably chic, and strikingly beautiful. Hers is the form divine—and she is one amateur model who really knows how to walk with professional grace. Her appearance on the elicited murmurs of oh's and ah's from the audience.

All styles available. 10
Specially priced.....75c $1.25 prices for standard sizes only

HOUSE of SCHILLER
180 N. WACKER DRIVE CHICAGO 6, ILL.

Midland's
for SECTIONAL FURNITURE

Definitely, this is the firm to choose for beautiful workmanship and RELIABILITY!

We give you that something extra... the true "knowledge" of creating smart sectionals, exactly right in proportion, shape and style. This "EXTRA" is yours for

As Low as $89.50 Per Section Plus a $20 to $100 Trade-in allowance on your old furniture!

Up to 2 Years to Pay
Phone for our SECTIONAL EXPERT to come to your home for FREE ESTIMATE. No obligation.

GRaceland 7-2120

24-Hour Switchboard Service Open 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

MIDLAND'S House of Sectionals
69 Years of Manufacturing Experience
2671 N. Lincoln Ave.—GRaceland 7-2120
(2600 North—1200 West)

BUY U. S. DEFENSE BONDS NOW

Just Picture it!
ONE BILLION CANS
of RIVAL DOG FOOD
Already Sold!

Millions know from experience
RIVAL feeds their dogs BEST!

One billion cans of Rival Dog Food have been sold, because millions of dog owners have proved Rival is the right food for all dogs! Variety meats, liver and other essentials give Rival an abundance of natural vitamins, more proteins than most canned dog foods, to keep dogs healthy, with bright eyes and glossy coats! Remember there is no substitute for quality—buy Rival because it is a wonderful product, sensibly priced!

Check any other dog food against this RIVAL VALUE CHART

✓	MEAT	RIVAL HAS PLENTY! —A nourishing combination of variety meats, plus other essential foods.
✓	LIVER	RIVAL HAS IT! An important "extra," added for greater nourishment and tempting flavor.
✓	PROTEINS	RIVAL CONTAINS MORE of the essential and important proteins than most canned dog foods.
✓	VITAMINS & MINERALS	RIVAL HAS PLENTY! —all in their natural form; vital to good health, growth and vigor.
✓	FLAVOR	RIVAL HAS IT! —A rich, natural, unadulterated flavor dogs love.
✓	NO ARTIFICIAL COLOR	NEVER ARTIFICIALLY RED! Rival has the pleasing natural color of cooked meats.
✓	A COMPLETE FOOD	RIVAL IS A COMPLETE FOOD —scientifically balanced to meet every dog's nutritional needs.
✓	DOG FEEDING TESTS	LABORATORY CONTROL and daily feeding tests assure you that Rival feeds your dog best.
✓	ALWAYS PRICED RIGHT	CONSISTENT HIGH QUALITY and sensible low price make Rival first in sales in city after city.

Also Makers of RIVAL CAT FOOD — In 8 oz. tins

it's Brooks Kettle Fresh
...and Oh! so TANGY

Brooks CATSUP

Makes your meals taste wonderful

IF YOU TASTE IT FIRST... YOU'LL MAKE BROOKS YOUR FIRST CHOICE

04

18

SOCIETY IN CHICAGO

4,000 of the 400 Turn Out For St. Luke Gala Style Show

Many Lunch at Casino Before Viewing Elegant Fashions at Medinah Temple

BY ATHLYN DESHAIS

The wheels were set in motion for Society's top attraction, the St. Luke's fashion show, exactly six hours before the 2:30 curtain rise in Medinah Temple Wednesday afternoon. Four thousand of Chicago's prominent women were expected to attend.

On duty early to sell their programs in Medinah Temple foyer were Mrs. Mason Phelps, Mrs. John Clarkson, Mrs. Owen West, Mrs. King Potter, Mrs. Donald Easter and Mrs. Rush Butler Jr.

THE CASINO will be bustling with dozens of big luncheon parties.

Among the hostesses there are Mrs. Errett Van Nice, Mrs. John Chapman, Mrs. William E. Clow, Mrs. J. Rockefeller Prentice, Mrs. John G. Searle, Mrs. Robert E. Wood.

Also Mrs. Cyrus Hill, Mrs. Derrick Vail, Mrs. John W. Miller, Mrs. Jarvis Hunt, Mrs. John Andrews King, Mrs. Irene Sidney.

Also Mrs. James Simpson Jr., Mrs. Nelson Barnes, Mrs. Ralph Shaw, Mrs. Fred Poor, Mrs. Morris McCormick and Mrs. Frank Woods.

MRS. JAMES M. HOPKINS is staying on in her Far Hills (N. J.) home for a few weeks, but she is entertaining at the St. Luke's show in absentia.

Her guests are Mrs. Howell B. Erminger, Mrs. Glenn Frank and Mrs. Henry Baldwin of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., whose daughter, Emily, made a debut here a few seasons ago.

All will go on to the show from the Casino, where Mrs. Frank will entertain.

Chicago has a group of men who wouldn't miss the St. Luke's show for anything, and the men always band together in boxes while their wives are sitting with friends elsewhere.

This year it was known in advance that Robert McCormick Adams, James W. Rogers, John P. Bent, Dr. Paul Holinger (chief of staff at St. Luke's), Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr. and Charles H. Alberding would be attending with male guests. Their luncheon reservations were for the Attic Club.

MRS. BRUCE BORLAND, giving a luncheon at home, included Mrs. John J. Borland and Mrs. Chauncey K. Hutchins among her guests.

Mrs. John P. Wilson Sr. is entertaining Mrs. Wilson Jr., Mrs. Edward Hasler, Mrs. John D. Ames and Mrs. C. H. Wilmerding at the Arts Club.

Mrs. Donald McClennan arrived home from Hot Springs, Va., in time for the show and to entertain Mrs. Howard Fenton and other friends at the Woman's Athletic Club.

MRS. HOMER Hargrave's luncheon party at the Casino includes Mrs. Daniel Peterkin, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. Ronald Reagan (Nancy Davis) and Mrs. John Straus.

Mrs. Henry Rowley and Mrs. William A. P. Pullman are lunching at the Casino.

In Mrs. Phelps Hoyt's party are her daughters, Mrs. T.

Philip Swift and Mrs. Dexter Cummings, a granddaughter, Mrs. Peter Merlin, and Mrs. Earle Muzzy, Mrs. David Cordray, Mrs. William C. Douglas and Mrs. Walter Schuettler.

Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson is having to miss the show because she left early for the Runnells wedding in the East on Saturday.

FOR THE FIRST time in many years Mrs. Byron Harvey Jr. will not model in the show. She feels kind of "tearful" but had decided that last year she would retire in lieu of the younger girls.

She and her sister, Mrs. Latham Castle, will lunch at the Harlequin Room before they go on to the show where they will sit in the box reserved for Byron Harvey, Jr.

Reservations were made at the Racquet Club by Mrs. William Carney, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Russell Kelley and Mrs. Rose Movius Palmer.

Among the boxholders: Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Leigh Block, Mrs. James Dunham, Mrs. Kent Clow, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Clarence Prentice.

In the before-the-show crowd at the Key Club—Mrs. Ralph Applegate, Mrs. Charles Foley, Mrs. John Goodwillie, Mrs. John Muldoon, Mrs. Henry Hafer, Mrs. Ralph Woodly, Mrs. Robert Barrett and Mrs. Richard E. Joyce.

Mrs. William Sinek's guest is Mrs. John Wagner, who divides her time between Texas and Illinois. . . . Mrs. Grier Patterson and Mrs. Peter McCabe are seeing the show together.

CHATTER---

The Sheridan Shore Yacht Club will be the setting Oct. 30 for the cocktail dinner party to be given by the North Shore junior board of Northwestern Settlement.

The decorations will follow a Halloween theme. This will be the first party of the season for eight who joined as members at a meeting Wednesday.

SOME 125 persons turned out Monday evening at the Casino to meet Lord and Lady Baillieu.

The dinner was given by the English Speaking Union for the head of the ESU of the Commonwealth.

Among those with reservations for the dinner were the Robert Whyte Masons, the Douglas Coles, the Edison Dicks, the Barrett Wendells, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, the junior Aldis Brownes and the Thomas Tylers.

FROM LONDON, England, comes the news of the birth of a baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. Robin A. Wellesley.

Mrs. Robert Rasmussen was the second model to check in for her very important stint in the St. Luke's show Wednesday morning. With her makeup kit and other personal effects for changes she entered Medinah Temple Wednesday morning.

#4766 1954-55

CHICAGO ILL. SUN-TIMES
WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 20 1954

NO MAN'S LAND

Coaches St. Luke's 'Captains'

By Betty Walker

One of the most interested spectators at the 28th annual St. Luke's Hospital Fashion Show on Wednesday will be a former Philadelphian named Edith Denny Payne.

EDITH D. PAYNE

But as that hospital's director of nursing, she undoubtedly will give her most rapt attention to the parade of its student women-in-white during the intermission.

To Miss Payne, the 200-plus young women now training for careers as Florence Nightingales at that great near South Side institution aren't mere names. Thanks to the open door policy she inaugurated when she succeeded Madeleine McConnell as first lady of St. Luke's 15 months ago, she is personally acquainted with each one.

"The door of my room is always open," says the director, a svelte and soigne brunette who resides in the hospital's ultra-modern nurses' home. "I feel it gives a girl a greater sense of security if she can come directly to me with her problems."

In her dual role as director of St. Luke's school of nursing as well as nursing service, Miss Payne functions as a combination dean of women and sorority house mother. Besides advising the student body on their personal problems, she has been working closely with the faculty in redesigning the school curriculum.

"What we are trying to do is train leaders," says Edith Payne, who came here from Pittsburgh's Presbyterian hospital and owns a Master of Science degree from Columbia University. "Teaching girls how to care for sick patients is no longer enough."

"Because of the increasing shortage of nurses, a graduate nurse must be capable of becoming, what you might call, the captain of a training team. Instead of being able to care for just one patient, she must know how to direct the activities of, say, a practical nurse, a nurse's aid and a student nurse so that, between them, they can care for 16 patients."

A gracious, modest, extremely feminine woman, St. Luke's Miss Payne is entirely without pretense. When you ask her, "What's the story of your going into nursing?" she answers with characteristic forthrightness:

"I just wanted to be a nurse—and took my training at the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Philadelphia."

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 20 1954

Women of St. Luke's Present 28th Annual Fashion Show Today

BY ELEANOR PAGE

TODAY IS THE BIG DAY for the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital, for the approximately 150 women who will model in the board's annual fashion show, and for the hundreds of friends of the board, the models, and the hospital who will be present in Medinah temple to see this 28th annual production.

The models will start gathering in the basement dressing rooms early this morning. There they will wait their turn for a last minute coiffure brushup and to be made up before donning the clothes they will show. Helping behind the scenes will be a number of St. Luke's board members, among them Mrs. Seymour Wheeler and Mrs. Eric Oldberg, who say they "never have seen a St. Luke's show" because they always have been too busy in the dressing room.

Mrs. Oldberg

The show, which has proved to be one of the biggest charity money making events in town, is the result of a year's effort on the board's part. No sooner is one show over than preparations for the next begin.

Mrs. James Waller Rogers is chairman of this year's show. Mrs. Robert M. Adams heads the board. Mr. Adams will entertain a group of men at luncheon in the Attic club before the show, and among those who will sit with him in Mrs. Adams' box are Mr. Rogers, John P. Bent, acting president of the hospital's board of trustees; Dr. Paul Holinger, the hospital's chief of staff; Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr., and Charles H. Alberding.

There will be dozens of luncheon parties in the Woman's Athletic club, the Key club, the Casino club, and the Racquet club. The few $3 balcony seats which remain unsold will be available at the temple.

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
MONDAY OCTOBER 18 1954

Society Notebook

"The best bargain in town," say members of the St. Luke's hospital fashion show committee of the $3 price tag on balcony seats for their annual show Wednesday afternoon in Medinah temple. Ticket holders will see "beautiful girls, stunning fashions, calypso singers, and a singing cowboy," added Mrs. Eric Oldberg. There are between 200 and 300 of these less expensive seats available, plus a few scattered $7 single and box seat tickets still available at the ticket office in the Palmolive building, telephone MICHigan 2-3230.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Brennan [Nancy Hough] of Scott st. welcomed their third child and second son, James, last Tuesday in Passavant hospital. Grandparents are the Charles F. Houghs of Delaware pl. and Mrs. Bernard G. Brennan of the Pearson hotel.

CHICAGO ILL. DAILY NEWS
WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 20 1954

'Evenings In Haiti' to Aid Fund

Wednesday is a day for Caribbean music and dance. The special event at the St. Luke's fashion show is the Duke of Iron Calypso band.

Many of the audience will go directly from the Medina Tem-

The Byron Harveys table includes the Charles Cutters and M. and Mme. Jean Strauss.

Other guests expected are the Winston Eltings, the John Nuveens and Mr. and Mrs. William Wood Prince.

Mr. William J. Stebler is general chairman of the United Negro College Fund.

Thursday, October 21, 1954

St. Luke's Fashion Show Is a Parade of Glamor

Eight of the outstanding costumes shown in St. Luke's Fashion show yesterday in Medinah temple as sketched by Tribune Artist Margot. • • • 1. Mrs. James Hoover in dramatic beige chiffon evening gown with graceful stole. • • • 2. Mrs. Dunham

Somes wearing handsome tweed coat of purple. • • • 3. Mrs. Robert L. Craig wearing short evening dress of white re-embroidered lace with vivid green sash. • • • 4. Mrs. George E. Van Hagen III in sleek gray tweed frock topped by capelet

of gray mink. • • • 5. Miss Beth Ann Alberding as bridesmaid, wearing petal white frock with interesting swing to skirt. Skirt is lined in coral. • • • 6. Mrs. Gordon Bent wearing beautiful wedding gown of reembroidered Alencon lace. Her hat shows a Mexican influence. • • • 7. Mrs. Charles F. Glone Jr. in gay dance dress of brilliant poppy red with full, plaited skirt. • • • 8. Mrs. Grinnell Burke wearing electric blue three piece tweed suit. (Other pictures on page 5 and on back page)

Models Are Poised in Well Paced Event

BY ELEANOR PAGE

IN PAST YEARS of extreme fashion change, with vehement pushing of long hair or short hair or sequins or feathers or uneven hem lines, St. Luke's fashion shows have started many a controversy among fashion minded women in the audience. But there was nothing controversial about the show the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital put on yesterday afternoon in Medinah temple . . . not even an H line.

The stage setting was one of the most attractive in the show's 28 year history. There was a bridge used by models to cross over a make-believe swimming pool, and two glamorous backdrops showing resort hotel scenes by day and by night.

The models for the most part were poised; their hair, whether long or short, was becomingly styled for each individual and evening dresses were divided about evenly between long and mid-calf. The show was briskly paced as usual and the production was even more attractive than in years past due to keeping on stage each large exhibitor's group of models until all had appeared.

Fans Reversed

In fact, if it hadn't been for the accidental reversing of ventilator fans which brought a coal gas smell into the huge auditorium, and the board's momentary fear of panic by the audience, there wouldn't have been any excitement.

As it was, the several dozen women who quietly left when the smoke smell was noticed returned as quietly moments later when a reassuring announcement was made about the ventilators.

There were no glaring absurdities among the costumes shown, the entr'acte feature went off gaily—altho some felt that the calypso performers would be more appreciated in their usual night club setting—and with only $40,000 to go board members felt confident of topping the million dollar mark in profits netted from these annual events.

Furs Steal Show

Furs stole the show, and dazzling new shoes in velvet, luminous leather, or vinylite, some kept on by invisible means, were next in interest.

Truly magnificent was a topaz mink coat worn by Mrs. William T. Bacon Jr., and valued at $15,000.

"You'd never know it was fur," someone said of the soft-as-satin broadtail coat worn by Mrs. Gerald A. Sivage. It was lined in blue slipper satin. A white beaver coat worn by Mrs. Rankin Lashmet; a black ranch mink coat shown by Mrs. Robert V. Rasmussen, and a pink mink capelet worn by Mrs. Tilt Bissell, also attracted attention.

The most distinguished gown to appear, many agreed, was a black taffeta with a portrait neck line outlined in dazzling white pearls and paillettes, three quarter length sleeves, and a straight skirt with back fullness. Mrs. Ralph E. Ellis, who showed this gown, also appeared in a pastel resort outfit with giddy hat which only a model as experienced as she could have worn with aplomb.

Green emerged as a coming color amidst a welter of pink tones. The greatest applause was heard when Mrs. Lawrence W. Morgan appeared in a handsome sweeping strapless ball room gown of bottle green velvet.

Best Models

Among the best models were Mrs. Emery Smyth, incredibly slim in an embroidered taupe sheath; Mrs. Stewart Peck ["She looks like the actress, Grace Kelly," someone said] showing off diamonds and pearls; Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr., in a stunning, simple white satin ball gown; little Leslie Hailand, braids bound up in yellow ribbons, and Alison Rich, both in darling little girl frocks; and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, whose graceful carriage and floating walk could be the model for every other mannequin to follow.

Still others noted with pleasure by the big audience were Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., another "veteran model," in a heavenly dancing dress of chiffon and satin ribbon; Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton, who walked with confidence in gray flannel jacket and black and white striped skirt, and Mrs. Charles M. Dering Jr. in a big hat.

Offstage Events

Two offstage incidents of interest concerned Mrs. Selim McArthur, the only honorary member of the woman's board, who arrived minus all six of her tickets [she was seated!] and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, who threatened to retire after 28 years' service running the dressing room. The maids helping there promptly got up and signed a petition asking Mrs. Wheeler to remain at the post where she has reigned so long she is known as the "Queen Mother."

Prize Winners

For today's list of Product Bingo winners, see page 6 of this section.

St. Luke's Fashion Show Is a Parade of Glamor

Eight of the outstanding costumes shown in St. Luke's Fashion show yesterday in Medinah temple as sketched by Tribune Artist Margot. • • • 1. Mrs. James Hoover in dramatic beige chiffon evening gown with graceful stole. • • • 2. Mrs. Dunham

Somes wearing handsome tweed coat of purple. • • • 3. Mrs. Robert L. Craig wearing short evening dress of white re-embroidered lace with vivid green sash. • • • 4. Mrs. George E. Van Hagen III in sleek gray tweed frock topped by capelet

of gray mink. • • • 5. Miss Beth Ann Alberding as bridesmaid, wearing petal white frock with interesting swing to skirt. Skirt is lined in coral. • • • 6. Mrs. Gordon Bent wearing beautiful wedding gown of reembroidered Alencon lace. Her hat shows a Mexican influence. • • • 7. Mrs. Charles F. Glore Jr. in gay dance dress of brilliant poppy red with full, plaited skirt. • • • 8. Mrs. Grinnell Burke wearing electric blue three piece tweed suit. (Other pictures on page 5 and on back page)

You and Your Child

Don't Let the Child Hear Your Criticism of Others; It Works Evil on All

BY MARCIA WINN

PARENTS should get together in self-defense and agree not to criti-

Possibly he misinterpreted her words. Why not give the teacher the benefit of the br... neck line outlined in over... white pearls and pail-pool, and... three quarter length drops showing resort hotel scenes by day and by night.

The models for the most part were poised; their hair, whether long or short, was becomingly styled for each individual and evening dresses were divided about evenly between long and mid-calf. The show was briskly paced as usual and the production was even more attractive than in years past due to keeping on stage each large exhibitor's group of models until all had appeared.

Fans Reversed

In fact, if it hadn't been for the accidental reversing of ventilator fans which brought a coal gas smell into the huge auditorium, and the board's momentary fear of panic by the audience, there wouldn't have been any excitement.

As it was, the several dozen women who quietly left when the smoke smell was noticed returned as quietly moments later when a reassuring announcement was made about the ventilators.

There were no glaring ab-surdities among the costumes shown, the entr-acte feature went off gaily—altho some felt that the calypso performers would be more appreciated in their usual night club setting —and with only $40,000 to go board members felt confident of topping the million dollar mark in profits netted from these annual events.

Furs Steal Show

Furs stole the show, and dazzling new shoes in velvet, luminous leather, or vinylite,
some kept on by invisible means, were next in interest.

Truly magnificent was a topaz mink coat worn by Mrs.
William T. Bacon Jr., and valued at $15,000.

"You'd never know it was fur," someone said of the soft-as-satin broadtail coat worn by Mrs. Gerald A. Sivage. It was lined in blue slipper satin. A white beaver coat worn by Mrs.
Rankin Lashmet; a black ranch mink coat shown by Mrs. Robert V. Rasmussen, and a pink mink capelet worn by Mrs. Tilt Bissell, also attracted attention.

The most distinguished gown to appear, many agreed, was a black taffeta with a por-sequins or feathers shows have started dressed women in the sarial about the show ital put on yesterday

even an H line.
attractive in the show's

Green emerged as a coming color amidst a welter of pink tones. The greatest applause was heard when Mrs. Lawrence W. Morgan appeared in a handsome sweeping strapless ball room gown of bottle green velvet.

Best Models

Among the best models were Mrs. Emery Smyth, incredibly slim in an embroidered taupe sheath; Mrs. Stewart Peck
["She looks like the actress, Grace Kelly," someone said] showing off diamonds and pearls; Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr., in a stunning, simple white satin ball gown; little Leslie Hailand, braids bound up in yellow ribbons, and Alison Rich, both in darling little girl frocks; and Mrs. Louis C.
Sudler, whose graceful carriage and floating walk could be the model for every other mannequin to follow.

Still others noted with pleasure by the big audience were Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., another "veteran model," in a heavenly dancing dress of chiffon and satin ribbon; Mrs.
Arthur I. Appleton, who walked with confidence in gray flannel jacket and black and white striped skirt, and Mrs. Charles
M. Dering Jr. in a big hat.

Offstage Events

Two offstage incidents of interest concerned Mrs. Selim McArthur, the only honorary member of the woman's board, who arrived minus all six of her tickets [she was seated!] and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, who threatened to retire after 28 years' service running the dressing room. The maids helping there promptly got up and signed a petition asking Mrs. Wheeler to remain at the post where she has reigned so long she is known as the "Queen Mother."

Prize Winners

For today's list of Product Bingo winners, see page 6 of this section.

Pgether in self-defense and agree not to criticize other parents in front of a child.

Foolish? Not at all. Any parent anywhere who criticizes to his child the words or actions of another parent is undermining his own authority. He does the same when he criticizes to his child anyone in authority in his child's world: his teacher, his cook, his nurse, or the corner policeman.
Unthinkingly, he rips another thread from that already threadbare carpet of authority.

It is any man's privilege, right, and occasionally his joy to disagree with another, to criticize, to discern—certainly to say what he pleases, usually about anyone and anything at any time.

Don't Tear Down

But don't do it to the children. Don't tear down a child's teacher to him. Don't tear down the law of his land to him. Don't tear down another parent to him. And if he isn't your own child, never dream of tearing down his own parent to him.

You'd think this so obvious that no one would do it, yet parents do all the time. They go yakkety, yakkety, yakkety. "Your mother doesn't know what she is talking about," another mother may say to Willy. The chances are excellent that Willy's mother knows exactly what she is talking about and will fight at the drop of a hat to defend her own utterances to her child. "Your teacher is wrong," a parent may say flatly. Is she? Possibly the child is misrepresenting what the teacher did or said.

[Constance Bannister Photo]

"... little children have big ears..."

Thru the Looking Glass

Cosmetic Gift Is Ideal for an Invalid

BY ELEANOR NANGLE

WE CAN'T imagine a happier hunting ground for gifts for those who are ill than the cosmetic counters.

This is especially true when the patient is a woman but it has been our experience that the man in the hospital is in the mood then if at no other time in his life for luxurious soaps, nice after shave lotion, cologne of the right fragrance, and talc that is flesh tinted and not too highly perfumed.

One of the most discouraging things about being bedfast is that disheveled feeling and there are few things that alleviate it so quickly and so refreshingly as pleasant toiletries.

For women the field is much wider. Women will love a few little sachet pillows, for one thing, to tuck into their bed jackets or beneath their pillows. They will love creams or lotions that soothe the skin chafed by bed linen and will be grateful for colognes or toilet waters that can be used as body lotions—provided that these are in a scent that is not too heady or pervasive.

And there is one wonderful gift for the invalid that shouldn't be overlooked: This is one of those attractively covered bags with waterproof lining containing jars and bottles of plastic that they can fill with their favorite cosmetics.

This can also keep their soap, their washcloth, bobby pins,
tooth brush, and tooth paste.
They're as compact as can be and can be hung either on the side of the bed or fastened to the sheet at one side so that lipstick and other face fresheners are always within the patient's reach.

Scented, soft soaps, deodorant sticks, dusting powder and manicure aids are all items that the woman confined to bed can enjoy. And when she tells you that mere ownership of them makes her feel better she's telling a feminine truth.

her words. Why not give the teacher the benefit of the doubt? Say, "Maybe you misunderstood her." Or even, "Well, daddy and I think..." [that something else is true].

Works Evil on All

This constant criticism by adults of other adults in the presence of or to children works evil on all. It lessens the child's confidence not only in the adult criticized but in all adults. "Never send to know for whom the bell tolls..." it tolls for thee."

The contempt for authority children seem increasingly to show, both as school children and as adolescents, is nothing but reflection. It started in loyal imitation of a beloved adult. The sooner all adults wake up to this, the better off all will be. [A sure way to get ahead in business, the experts say, is to praise the work of the man just ahead of you.] The place to wake up is at the breakfast or supper table, where most of these acid,
abrupt remarks take place.
You don't even have to start with refraining from saying what you think of your neighbor. Start with your husband or wife. One parent's contradiction or condemnation of a ruling or comment made by the other has an equally disastrous effect.
Because little children have big ears, and use them, is precisely why big adults should have guarded tongues.

Latest from Paris

APPARENTLY the first jeweler to hear of pancake make-up is Sterle.
He accommodates the new style pat make-up in his latest compact—a design in "Panama hat" woven gold, shaped like a flattened egg and edged in a simple cord of diamonds. An outstanding Sterle clip mimics this season's draped jerseys by wrapping a soft miniature scarf of baguette diamonds around a large, flat, cabochon sapphire. Equally unorthodox is a ring hollowed-out of a piece of pale eggshell blue quartz. The face of the ring is set with two tiny gold seashells forming an original crest.

How Do I Spend Noon Hours?

BY RUTH MACKAY

NOON HOURS are precious.
Sometimes they are social hours when friends get together over a sandwich and visit. Occasionally they are study hours. Frequently they are passed in window shopping.

Here is an opportunity to tell others "How I Spend My Noon Hours." If you have discovered any profitable way to use those 60 valuable minutes let us hear about it.

For the two most interesting letters, the W. C. G. column is giving a book chosen by the contributor. Deadline for mailing the letters is midnight, Saturday, Nov. 6.

Reminiscence

I often think I hear him
Bounding down the stair,
The little dog with eager heart
Who never seemed to care
How long the hours of waiting,
How drear the house and dark
Before he raced to greet us
With wagging tail and bark
And joyous leap of welcome,
As tho to say, "Hi there!"—
I often long to hear him
Bounding down the stair.
R. M.

ferred to feed the feud and maintain a stony silence when the two passed in the hall or met in the coffee shop.

I am sure there must be numerous employers, particularly men, who decry this ridiculous practice and wonder if there isn't some way to overcome it.

EUGENIA M.

Salutation

THIS MORNING I received a communication from our plant in Milwaukee addressed to me not as "Miss" or "Mrs." but as "Ms." It seemed to me a clever way of getting around the exasperating problem—when the letter writer has no way of knowing—is she a "Miss" or "Mrs." Since "Ms." contains the first and last letter of both titles and is brief it solves the problem nicely.
Why not put it before the readers and get their reactions?

MARIE QUINLAN

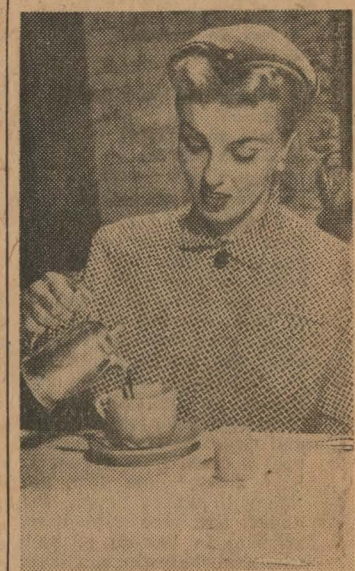

For the W. C. G. Copybook

"Good manners are largely actuated by a sincere desire not to offend."

ANONYMOUS

Correct Thing

By Elinor Ames

When pouring tea or coffee into a cup, avoid filling the cup so full that it will overflow when cream is added.

Up for Discussion

AT SOME TIME or other almost every problem of the business world has come up for discussion via the W. C. G. column. But there is an exception.

What does the general office worker think of the age-old difficulties caused by an office feud of two women workers?
Altho I retired from business some years ago I recall the stupidity and folly of girls I'd known in a number of firms who were not speaking to each other because of some difference of opinion.

Many of these situations go on and on for years. The last one I encountered was in a fine office in a handsome skyscraper. One of the nonspeaking pair said she could not recall clearly what the argument was about. She had tried to make friends with her erstwhile enemy but the other girl pre-

[TRIBUNE Photos]

Models and fashions in St. Luke's hospital board's 28th annual fashion show. 1—Mrs. Ralph E. Ellis in sophisticated black taffeta gown. 2—Mrs. Laurence W. Morgan (left) modeling ball gown of forest green

velvet and Mrs. Bruce A. Norris in white organza ball gown with matching satin stole. 3—Mrs. William S. Dilworth showing pale pink satin evening gown. 4—Mrs. Rankin Lashmet displaying snow white winter beaver. 5—Mrs. Robert Williams wearing white satin evening bonnet embroidered with brilliants and pearls. 6—Mrs. Tilt Bissell in pink satin gown, encrusted with pearls, completed with pink mink.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE - OCT. 21 - 1954

#4766 1954-58

634
CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
 CHICAGO, U.S.A.
 431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
 MAIN OFFICE

GLENCOE ILL NEWS
THURSDAY OCTOBER 21 1954

'Society Angels' Present Fashion Show

To help celebrate "300 Years of Faith and Fashion", Mrs. Joseph E. Gessner of Glencoe (right), as program chairman, presented an afternoon of fashions for members of the North Shore Congregation Israel Sisterhood on Monday, October 18. "Society Angels" and St. Luke's fashion show models Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton of Northbrook (left) and Mrs. Robert E. Hallberg of Winnetka (center) were two of the models who showed the latest in gowns, sweaters, and furs. (Staff photo)

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
 CHICAGO, U.S.A.
 431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
 MAIN OFFICE

LIBERTYVILLE ILL INDEP'T REGISTER
THURSDAY OCTOBER 21 1954

Libertyville To Have Spot In St. Luke Show

Libertyville will be well represented by models in the very glamorous St. Luke's Style Show, which is the 'Spectacular' of Chicago's fall social calendar.

Mrs. Bruce Norris, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz and Mrs. Alex MacArthur all of Libertyville will appear in breath-taking creations, which are a far cry from the smart but very simple country clothes these attractive women generally wear.

Mrs. Wirtz and her daughter, Mrs. MacArthur, are recognized as two of Chicagoland's smartest women and have appeared in so many fashionable style shows they could almost be considered pros. Mrs. Norris, however is a relative newcomer on the Chicago social scene, but far from being a timid amateur, she has all the charm and poise needed to be a star in this spotlight affair. A well known beauty in the Atlanta, Ga. social set before her marriage, Mrs. Norris was a natural for the St. Luke's affair.

Libertyville is always well represented in the audience and many of our fashion concious neighbors are attending luncheon parties at smart spots in town before going on to the show. Mrs. A. N. Kneibler will be at the chance booth in the lobby hoping to catch her friends as they come in.

Mrs. Bruce Norris of River Hill Road is one of three Libertyville young matrons who modeled at the fabulous St. Luke's fashion show in Chiago Wednesday afternoon.

#4766 1954-59

Libertyville Matron In Fashion Show

Mrs. Bruce Norris of River Hill Road is one of three Libertyville young matrons who modeled at the fabulous St. Luke's fashion show in Chicago Wednesday afternoon.

Libertyville Matron In Fashion Show

Mrs. Bruce Norris of River Hill Road is one of three Libertyville young matrons who modeled at the fabulous St. Luke's fashion show in Chicago Wednesday afternoon.

ST. LUKE'S FASHION SHOW FOR THE 4,000

'The 400' Parades in Style

Chanel-inspired as to line and fabric are these two jersey costumes emphasizing the season's new, long, lean look. Both are in Paris' own bright "electric bleu." Claudia Old (left) wears a long torso gown with easy fullness below the hipline. Mrs. Robert B. Crane wears a jersey middy costume with a hand-knitted mantle in blue and purple.

It's a colorful season. Mrs. Dunham Somes turns her back to show the dramatic fitted blouson-coat of Monte-Sano in royal purple fleece. Slim front has high yoke pockets. At Carson's.

Headed for a wedding is this lovely bride portrayed by Mrs. Gordon Bent at St. Luke's annual fashion show. Headdress is white breton of brushed beaver with rhinestone trimmed crown of tulle that flows into a floor-length tulle veil. Designed by Rex for Irene white lace wedding gown. At Field's.

A Christian Dior design adapted by Nanty in the palest pale yellow satin deftly molds and drapes in a manner easily recognized to be this master's touch. Ball gown is modeled by Mrs. James W. Pope. At Millie B. Oppenheimer.

Fashion has dropped the waistline and brought back the slim floor length gown dramatically accessorized with large hat and fox muff. Mrs. Thomas A. Dent III models triple sheer black sheath with hip buckle of rhinestones. Fath inspired. By Elizabeth Arden.

Most Spectacular Event of the Year Proves to Be Glittering Success

BY PEG ZWECKER

Chicago's Who's Who in society paraded and whirled in the finest fashion of the world before a dressed-up audience of the thousands who anxiously await to see their favorite and most spectacular show of the year.

What a colorful lesson in geography was told with these fashions—elegance unlimited, hand-picked by experts of Chicago's stores and shops for St. Luke's hospital woman's board 28th annual show.

Marshall Field & Co., one of the largest exhibitors, gave a bow to California with a complete Irene collection as it told a prophetic and casually elegant resort story. This, of course, included the bridal party, which is always a highlight of the show.

TYPICALLY Irene were her impeccable costumes marking her flair for the distinctive lines of the yellow raw silk dresses, coats and suits.

THE COSTUME—the print dress in yellow and white with white overcoat has casual elegance and will be worn for late day.

A white linen with inserts of yellow lace and a ribbon lace costume of white over yellow with shantung top turned into a simple, but elegant dance dress when jacket was removed.

The hats by Rex were an integral part of the costumes as Irene likes an important hat whether it is carried out in silhouette, color or fabric.

HEADLINES were made when the bride appeared in a large breton, an exciting young hat of white brushed beaver with tiny jeweled tiara nestled in tulle that ends in a flowing veil in back.

The long sleeved bridal gown of white lace by Irene had a magnificent train. Only a simple prayer book was carried.

The small trains on the chalk white sleeveless taffeta bridesmaid's dresses were faced with rose which showed from the shorter-in-front hemlines and matched the silk roses the attendants carried. Long white 20-button glaze gloves were worn.

THAT CARSON Pirie Scott & Co. believes in New York as a fashion center and the one-color costume, was emphasized as all its costumes appeared in shades of purple.

Purple went to town in a dramatic fitted fleece coat with fitted back by Monte-Sano.

The coat was accessorized with matching breton and lizard shoes and handbag.

VERA MAXWELL went to Ireland to import the purple tweed for the costume carrying her label which also had a fur touch with a black lapin lining in the coat.

Purple wool went out for cocktails as a late day sheath with satin cummerbund and as an amethyst silk satin full skirted dress worn with brocade pumps. Both were by Herbert Sondheim.

Purple dropped its waistline for a completely covered-up look cocktail dress by Harvey Berin.

Several fashion capitals of the world gave inspiration for the "electrique bleu" that Mandel Brothers used for its entire part of the show.

#4766 1954-60

THEY WERE THERE

Mrs. C. Gardner Stevens (left) and Mrs. Marshall G. Sampson in ticket booth in lobby of Medinah temple yesterday afternoon for 28th annual St. Luke's hospital fashion show.

Mrs. William Scudder (left) and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour arrive for fall styles showing sponsored by St. Luke's hospital woman's board.

Mrs. Louis Goldblatt, another chic guest at one of city's most exciting benefits.

Mrs. Jackson W. Smart (left) and Mrs. Franklin J. Lunding join throng in lobby before show starts. [TRIBUNE Photos]

Mrs. Robert F. Steinhoff (left), Mrs. Philip N. Schaff, and Mrs. Willard C. McNitt (right). Board hopes this year to top million dollar mark in total contributions to hospital.

#4766 1954-61

CHICAGO ILL. DAILY NEWS
THURSDAY OCTOBER 21 1954

"The Cat Look" was made to order for Mrs. Rankin Lashmet, who modeled a white beaver coat on the St. Luke's runway. Slightly modified for her wide-arched brows, she wore visible blue eyeshadow and her mouth matched her pumpkin-colored hat and scarf, was finished off with a black line around the lip's outer edge.

'Cat Look' on Parade At St. Luke's Show

BY PATRICIA HANCOCK

The "Cat Look" walked down the St. Luke's fashion show runway Wednesday in all its bewitching glory.

Introduced during the Paris haute couture showings by Elizabeth Arden, it first was reported in an exclusive story in the Daily News.

St. Luke's models wore it in many variations, none exactly like the high-fashion Paris version. Any cosmetic has to be adjusted to the wearer, and few people can wear makeup exactly like someone else.

* * *

THE FRENCH version featured pale gray eyebrow pencil that followed the natural arch of the eyebrow.

It was not a line ending in an unnatural upturn at the outer edge.

Orchid eye shadow was applied in Paris with a lipstick brush, to be seen. It was not edged with black pencil.

* * *

THE EYESHADOW was applied from the eye's outer edge, moving up to the end of the eyebrow, then back down to the eye again in a definitive, distinctive cat-like curve not seen on the St. Luke's runway.

The American adaptation used blue or green eyeshadow.

Lipstick, a violet or pink-mauve hue, features a black line around the outer edge of the mouth, exactly as seen in France.

Varied slightly in color and application, the "Cat Look" can be worn by many different types of women. It can be worn in the daytime as well as for important, after-dark occasions.

* * *

HAIR STYLES seen on the runway included everything from short to long to upswing and page-boy.

Most frequently seen was the gentle curl, the soft, collar-length cut, a feminine style excellent with this season's truly elegant gowns.

Wealth Of Fashion At St. Luke's Show

By Jean Davisson

Jewel-toned gowns set off with fabulous jewelry made a panorama of color at the 28th annual St. Luke's Fashion Show Wednesday.

That high color is high fashion this season was frequently, and beautifully, illustrated. There were gowns in carnelian, topaz and garnet shades, in heady reds, pinks and purples and in luxurious golden tones.

Gowns in green of every shade from palest aqua to deep emerald were especially eye-catching. And there were literally dozens of costumes of blue, including one entire group in sharp electric blue.

Mary Dougherty's column and more pictures on Page 50.

Evening dresses of white or pastels often were given brilliance with sequins or lavish embroidery.

Lounging wear and other casual clothes also featured the excitement of color. Mrs. Michael Cudahy's at-home costume combined trousers embroidered all over in a pink clover pattern with a pink cashmere sweater.

Sleek coats of seal and broadtail, white and pastel-dyed furs, and wraps of mink and sable added luxurious accent to many costumes.

The bridal party, climax of the first part of each St. Luke's show, wears unusual gowns by Irene from Marshall Field & Co. The group includes (l. to r.) Beth Ann Alberding, Mrs. John Otis Carney, Mrs. Gordon Bent, as the bride, Mrs. F. Childs Pullman and Patricia O'Riley. (Sun-Times Photos by Howard Lyon and Carmen Reporto)

Fitted coat in a rich, purple wool, with bloused back, was shown by Mrs. Dunham Somes. With this Monte-Sano coat, from Carson Pirie Scott & Co., she wore hat in matching shade.

ABOVE: Mrs. Channer Richardson's costume from Branson's was especially designed by Eleanora Garnett in Rome. It combines a satin wrap and chiffon and velvet dress.

RIGHT: Black triple sheer long-line sheath worn by Mrs. Thomas A. Dent II is from Elizabeth Arden. It buckles slightly below the waist, with the skirt gathered and banded in five narrow tiers.

ABOVE: A gay multi-colored garland of flowers peeps through the many-layered skirt of the white tulle dress Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr. wore. Dainty dress is from Millie B. Oppenheimer. RIGHT: Sheer elegance was the dress worn by Mrs. R. Sargent Shriver, of tea rose chiffon cuffed with sable. From Bonwit Teller.

MRS. WALTER B. WOLF MRS. FRANK G. HIBBARD

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

The St. Luke's Fashion Show climaxed a million-dollar triumph for the Woman's Board of that hospital before the lights were turned on in Medinah Temple Wednesday. Final figures were unavailable, but it was certain the money already accounted for added to that earned by the 27 previous shows had brought the total income to well over the million-dollar mark.

The stage presentation was, as usual, a smashing success. Each model made a distinctive contribution to a fine, well-co-ordinated ensemble.

As the outstanding personality among the models I nominate Mrs. Walter Cherry Jr. Exquisitely blonde in coloring, she has a lithe figure, and her walk is that of a gracious princess. Happily, she was chosen to wear a magnificent collection of jewels exhibited by Juergens and Andersen. On her they looked exactly right, as her regal air befitted the splendor of the gems.

MRS. WALTER L. CHERRY, JR.

FOR SHEER ELEGANCE of manner, I nominate Mrs. James W. Pope. Gowned in a pale yellow, softly draped Christian Dior dinner gown, Mrs. Pope swept across the stage with the air of a hostess receiving in a formal drawing room.

Rivaling her in the dignified matron role was Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr. The billowing white tulle of her gown set off her shining dark hair and her alabaster skin. And though she walked with a stately air, there was an unmistakable twinkle in her big brown eyes which are her most distinguishing feature.

The one woman in Chicago who can look romantic in long, tight-fitting pants is the incomparable Mrs. Leon Mandel. In Wednesday's show she wore a sports outfit that might have been a challenge to a high school sophomore. On her it would have delighted its designer. Mrs. Mandel has the rare quality of changing her mood to reflect the real spirit of the costume she chooses for any occasion.

AMONG THE MODELS who seemed to belong to their costumes was little Pamela White, who in her red, embroidered dress might have been chosen to model a portrait of a young Italian girl.

The beautiful Mrs. Gordon Bent seemed deeply imbued with her role as the bride. As she stepped demurely onto the stage, she maintained an air of solemn gravity. A few seconds later when the audience gave its first outburst of applause, she smiled warmly, and she and her entourage, including Patricia O'Riley, Mrs. John Otis Carney, Mrs. F. Childs Pullman and Beth Ann Alberding, were pleasantly relaxed for the rest of their appearance.

A great many others in the cast made memorable appearances. Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour, without whom no St. Luke's show could be quite right, lent a special flare to their costumes. What is most engaging about both is that they act as though they dearly love the dresses they are wearing and that they are ecstatically happy to be a part of the proceedings.

THEN THERE WAS LAUGHING-EYED Mrs. Gerald A. Sivage swathed in elegant furs; Barbara McClurg, also wearing a handsome fur wrap and with her left hand ungloved to show her new engagement ring; Claudia Old, wearing her new diamond sparkler, and shy and pretty Mrs. Edward F. Swift III, decked out in a collection of a king's ransom of sapphires and diamonds.

Also Mrs. Jack Williamson, looking like a little girl wearing her grandmother's ball gown; Mrs. Michael Cudahy, a winsome little gamin figure in slim trousers and a cashmere sweater; tall, dark-haired and graceful Mrs. De Witt Buchanan, modeling most effectively a sophisticated evening gown; charmingly poised Mrs. Gardiner B. Van Ness Jr.

AND MRS. LOUIS C. SUDLER, who has a madonna-like air; Mrs. Harry Drake, flashing a bit of Parisian glamor to her appearance in a ball gown of Empire-green satin; chic Mrs. William T. Bacon Jr., whose honey-colored hair matched almost perfectly the topaz mink of the coat she modeled; dainty Mrs. William F. Borland, looking like a debutante; Mrs. Arthur Dole III, who has a charmingly elfin air, in a lovely satin gown; Mrs. Thomas A. Dent III, who adopted the new Paris "Cat" look to set off the sophisticated all-black costume she was assigned to model.

IN THE CROWD AT ST. LUKE'S FASHION SHOW

MRS. FRANKLIN G. LUNDING

MRS. T. PHILIP SWIFT

Some of the prominent Chicagoans in the audience of the St. Luke's show were as smart and radiant as the models. Here are socialites photographed at the entrance.

MRS. CHARLES SETHNESS JR. MRS. JOSEPH MAGNUS

MRS. HAROLD NUTTING

MRS. ALLIN K. INGALLS

MRS. JOHN F. CUNEO

MRS. JAMES SIMPSON JR.

ST. LUKE'S BOX HOLDERS

Among those who took boxes for the St. Luke's Fashion show were: Mr. and Mrs. Hughston McBain, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Palmer, Mrs. Clarence Prentice, Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson, Mrs. Clive Rannels, Mrs. Donald Ryerson, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury, Mrs. John Shedd Schweppe, Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Irving Florsheim, Mrs. Robert A. Gardner, Mrs. Henry Gardner, Mrs. Nathan Goldblatt, Mrs. Huntington Henry, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon.

Mrs. Stanley Keith, whose son-in-law, John P. Bent, is acting president of the St. Luke's Hospital board of trustees, was also a box holder. Others included Col. Leon Mandel, Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mrs. Laurence H. Armour, Mrs. Philip D. Armour, Mrs. Kenneth E. Bahe, Paul Butler, Mrs. William Roy Carney, Mrs. Champ Carry and Mrs. John A. Chapman.

Now that's the way I like

SPANISH RICE

made with all-pure

Contadina TOMATO PASTE

More women buy Contadina than any other tomato paste

PURE CANE SUGAR AT ITS BEST!

FOR SMOOTH FROSTINGS

C and H canesugar
POWDERED

"STRAWBERRY BLONDE" FROSTING

Make this new fondant-like frosting for any "blonde" cake—your favorite recipe or packaged yellow cake mix. Sift about 1½ lbs. C and H pure Cane Powdered Sugar. Measure 4 cups into bowl. Heat 8 tablesp. water to boiling. Remove from heat; add 4 tablesp. strawberry-flavored gelatin, stir until dissolved. Stir in 1 to 1½ cups more powdered sugar, to make frosting stiff enough to hold shape. Spread on cool cake. Makes enough to frost three 8" or two 9" layers.

Count on C and H Powdered Sugar

#4766 1954-62

THE FEMININE ANGLE

Mary-Go-Round Fashions Food
Ann Landers Beauty Health

SUN-TIMES

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1954

AMUSEMENTS

TV-Radio Movies Theater
Crossword Bridge Comics

Fashions Glitter At 28th St. Luke's Show

The 28th St. Luke's Fashion Show was staged Wednesday afternoon at the Medinah Temple. Jewelry, furs and gowns from Chicago's leading stores were displayed by 142 mannequins chosen from the social set.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the Woman's Board, and Mrs. James Waller Rogers, chairman of the show, welcomed the guests. John P. Bent, acting president of the Board of Trustees, sent a message to the group citing the needs of the hospital and thanking them for their continued interest and support.

Among those taking an active part in the production were Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. C. Gardner Stevens, Mrs. Eric Oldberg and Mrs. Allyn D. Warren.

Early arrivals heading for the model room are Mrs. Walter B. Mills (left) and Mrs. Clokey Moore. "Check in" time varied according to the number in the mannequin line.

Well poised after many rehearsals are Mrs. George VanHagen (left) and Mrs. M. Channer Richardson.

Ready for the big St. Luke's fashion show, five of the handpicked models arrive together. They are (l. to r.) Mrs. Charles Compton, Mrs. Gardner H. Stern Jr., Mrs. James Kennedy, Mrs. John Ottman and Mrs. Dunham Somes. Before going on the runway to display the costumes, each model visited the "Main Chance" salon set up by Elizabeth Arden for makeup and final hairdo. (Sun-Times Photos by Howard Lyon)

Mrs. A. Loring Rowe is one of the suburbanites who hurried in from St. Charles to aid the cause.

A comparative newcomer, Mrs. William B. Cudahy adds glamor to the show.

Petite Mrs. James Kinnear, who returned to Lake Forest recently, is one of the 142 models.

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY-GO-ROUND

By Mary Dougherty

The St. Luke's Fashion Show climaxed a million-dollar triumph for the Woman's Board of that hospital before the footlights were turned on in Medinah Temple Wednesday. Final figures were unavailable, but it was certain that the money already in, added to that earned in the previous 27 shows, brought the total of the annual productions well over the million-dollar mark.

And as usual, the show itself was a smashing success. The most beautiful girls in the social world appeared on the runway, wearing the most fashionable gowns, furs and jewelry available in Chicago. The list of exhibitors included the most important fashion purveyors in the city, and the combination provided an authentic preview of what distinguished dressers will be wearing this fall and winter.

IN THE AUDIENCE were members of all the first families who invariably attend not only because they want to see the show but also because this event has come to be recognized as the one occasion of the year when society presents a solid front.

The stage set, provided by Charles H. Alberding, president of the Alsonett Hotels, was a charming background for the fashion parade. Designed to portray the atmosphere of the fashionable Paradise Inn at Phoenix, Ariz., and the Holiday Hotel at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the scene was done in beguiling tropical colors that set off the rich tones of the costume fabrics and also gave the models a nice air of casualness as they strolled in and about its simulated swimming pool.

AMONG THE EARLY ARRIVALS were Mrs. Walter Wolf and Mrs. Frank G. Hibbard, who originated the show back in 1927 after they had seen fashion shows staged in France by famous Parisian designers.

Before the show other fashionable patrons gathered in the exclusive clubs for early luncheons. Among those assembled in the Casino were Mrs. Errett Van Nice, Mrs. John Chapman, Mrs. Glenn Frank, Mrs. William E. Clow, Mrs. J. Rockefeller Prentice, Mrs. Robert E. Wood, Mrs. Cyrus G. Hill, Mrs. Derrick Vail, Mrs. John W. Miller, Mrs. Frank Woods, Mrs. Morris McCormick, Mrs. Fred Poor, Mrs. Henry N. Rowley, Mrs. Jarvis Hunt, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, Mrs. James Simpson, Mrs. Nelson Barnes, and Mrs. Ralph C. Shaw.

Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, who was to be backstage during the show, lunched early at the Arts Club, as did Mrs. Clinton King, Mrs. James Shakman, Mrs. G. W. Morgan, Mrs. Ednyfed Williams, Mrs. Charles Daniel Frey, Mrs. Charles McKenna and Mrs. Frederick Roe.

MRS. BENNET B. HARVEY, Mrs. George McDonald, Mrs. Charles G. Shedd and Mrs. John Lowrie were among those at the Fortnightly Club. At the Racquet Club were Mrs. William Roy Carney, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Russell Kelley and Mrs. Movius Palmer, Mrs. Byron Harvey Jr. and her sister Mrs. Latham Castle, were among those who met in the Harlequin Room.

The Woman's Athletic Club had an unusually large luncheon crowd. Gathered there were Mrs. Charles Wrigley, Mrs. Frank Hiter, Mrs. Harold Nutting, Mrs. William Dixon, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, Mrs. Joseph Magnus, Mrs. Earle Zimmerman, Mrs. Donald McLennan, Mrs. Edward Hurley and Mrs. Britton I. Budd.

Robert McCormick Adams, whose wife is president of the Woman's Board of St. Luke's Hospital, did his bit by giving a luncheon at the Attic Club for a group of men who later attended the show. His party included John P. Bent, acting president of the Men's Board; Dr. Paul Holinger, James W. Rogers, whose wife was chairman of the show; Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr. and Charles H. Alberding, angel of the show.

AMONG THOSE WHO TOOK BOXES for the show were Mr. and Mrs. Hughston McBain, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Palmer, Mrs. Clarence Prentice, Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson, Mrs. Clive Runnells, Mrs. Donald Ryerson, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury, Mrs. John Shedd Schweppe, Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Irving Florsheim, Mrs. Robert A. Gardner, Mrs. Henry Gardner, Mrs. Nathan Goldblatt, Mrs. Huntington Henry, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, Mrs. Stanley Keith, Col. Leon Mandel, Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mrs. Phillip D. Armour, Mrs. Kenneth E. Bahe, Paul Butler, Mrs. William Roy Carney, Mrs. Champ Carry and Mrs. John A. Chapman.

Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the Woman's Board of St. Luke's Hospital, welcomed the audience during the intermission of the glamorous fashion show Wednesday.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAU
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
THURSDAY OCTOBER 21 1954

St. Luke's Fashions Are Shown Against Novel Pool Setting

BY ELEANOR PAGE

ONE OF THE PROBLEMS of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital is to have a stage setting for its annual fashion show which will not detract from the attention it hopes the fashions will receive and yet be attractive enough to get attention.

That problem was neatly solved this year, the audience at the 28th annual fashion show yesterday afternoon in Medinah temple agreed. A bridge crossing a simulated swimming pool provided an interesting entrance for the models; a pool setting is always pretty and appealing; and the backdrop curtains of neutral tone did not distract from the clothes.

During the intermission feature a stunning backdrop of a resort hotel scene was disclosed to put everyone in a festive frame of mind for the entr'acte entertainment.

Intermission Entertainment

In this fetching scene a number of amateurs went thru their paces in a simple little story of a family which didn't know where to go on vacation and finally decides on Arizona. There the family finds an entertaining group of guests, and is entertained by the Duke of Iron and his troupe of calypso singers who currently are appearing at the Blue Angel, and by Miles Nekolny, cowboy singer.

Peter Seidlitz, as the little boy in the family, had a fat role and rehearsed for weeks with his mother, Mrs. Carpenter Seidlitz, and grandmother, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter. Other children in the cast were Sam, Andy, and Larry Crawford, children of the junior Russell N. Crawfords, and Wisty Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Ellis.

Lawrence Williams took the part of a chef, with George Sisler as his assistant. Others recognized in the intermission sketch were Robert Hall, Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin, the junior John R. Winterbothams, Mrs. Robert G. Anderson, Mrs. Charles F. Cutter, Mrs. Thomas S. Tyler, and Mrs. Herman T. Chor.

Boxholders Named

The list of boxholders for yesterday's show reads like a Chicago edition of Who's Who. Among those with boxes were Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, president of the hospital's woman's board which sponsors the annual show; Mrs. Charles H. Alberding, Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour.

Still other boxholders were Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. William Roy Carney, Mrs. Champ Carry, Mrs. Kent S. Clow, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs.

Donald B. Douglas, Mrs. John V. Farwell III, Mrs. Stanley Field, Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, Mrs. John Andrews King, Mrs. Edward N. Hurley, Mrs. Clive Runnells, Mrs. John G. Searle, and Mrs. Arthur M. Wirtz.

Still more were Mrs. Bryan S. Reid, Mrs. Joseph G. Sampsell, Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, and Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood.

Few Men Attend

Traditionally one of the city's top feminine social events, the show also boasts at least one box of men. This year Mr. Adams entertained a group of men at luncheon in the Attic club before taking them on to the style show. His guests included James W. Rogers, whose wife was chairman of the 28th annual St. Luke's show; John P. Bent, acting president of the hospital's board of trustees; Dr. Paul Holinger, the hospital's chief of staff; Burr Robbins, Byron Harvey Jr., and Mr. Alberding.

Like the men, many of the women also lunched at some of the smart clubs about town. Some of those who had reservations at the Racquet club were Mrs. Carney, Mrs. Wirtz, Mrs. Russell P. Kelley Jr., and Mrs. Rose Movius Palmer.

At the Casino were Mrs. Errett Van Nice, Mrs. McMaster MacArthur, Mrs. John A. Chapman, Mrs. Glenn Frank, Mrs. William E. Clow Jr., Mrs. J. Rockefeller Prentice, Mrs. Searle, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Cyrus G. Hill, Mrs. Derrick Vail, Mrs. Henry N. Rowley, Mrs. Jarvis Hunt, Mrs. John A. King, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, Mrs. Morris McCormick, Mrs. Fred A. Poor, and Mrs. Frank H. Woods Jr.

Luncheon Parties

Lunching in the Arts club were Mrs. Edward Gammie, Mrs. Ednyfed Williams, Mrs. Charles J. McLean, Mrs. Charles D. Frey, Mrs. John L. Jensen, Mrs. Earl Brooder, Mrs. George W. Morgan, and Mrs. Cudahy.

#4766 1954-64

All Eyes on 'Cat-Look' at St. Luke's

WOMAN'S WORLD

16—Thurs., Oct. 21, 1954 ★ Chicago American

Cholly Dearborn

Dick Clan

Kin to Wed

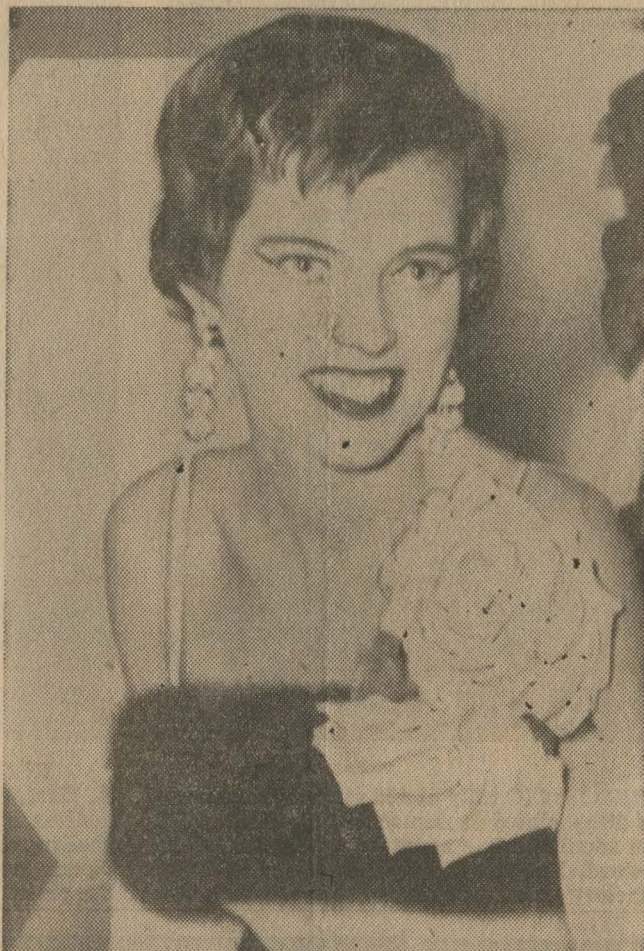

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON undoubtedly will find a large contingent of the fashionable Dick clan of Lake Forest going East for a wedding up in Newport, R. I.

On Saturday, Dec. 27, Mrs. C. Matthews Dick's daughter, Elaine Angela Dominguez, will become the bride of a young Englishman, Peter Anthony Grayson Rawlinson, at "Clover Patch," the Newport home of the bride's stepfather and mother—where, too, the reception will be held.

Elaine's fiancé is a son of Col. and Mrs. Arthur Richard Rawlinson of Surrey, England, and her selecting an Englishman for a husband is rather natural since her mother, the former Angela Grayson Dominguez is also English.

The former Mrs. Dominguez and "Matt" Dick, son of the late multi-millionaire A. B. Dick, were married some years ago following his divorce from

(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller and Howard Borvig.)
● TEA ROSE CHIFFON cuffed with sable is the lovely gown modeled so excitingly by Mrs. R. Sargent Shriver. The Bonwit Teller dress was sheer elegance so bewitchingly set off by the new "cat-look."

Heralds New Style Season

BY JOYCE FENLEY

Chicago American Fashion Editor

IN NEW YORK, Fall officially begins with first night at the opera. In Chicago it's the St. Luke's Annual Fashion Show that declares the new season is underway. And it's the St. Luke's Fashion Show that heralds the fashions Chicago society will be donning all Winter long.

"Be-furred and be-jeweled" is the command for '54. From simple wool suits to magnificent ball gowns, the divine touch of fur and the sparkle of gems cannot be

by Ben Reig. Another of this designer's gowns of shimmering blue satin was accompanied by a white mink-lined blue satin stole

● ATTRACTIVE, Mrs. Leon Mandel lends a charming elfin air to this comfortable-appearing lounging ensemble. Cunning stocking-type hat adds just the right casual touch and the new exotic "cat-look" makeup appears to be made just for the dark-haired lovely Mrs. Mandel.

Leser's engaging at home costume of pink clover printed trousers teamed with a pink cashmere sweater.

Color-wise pale, soft shades predominated: green, blue,

● BLACK triple sheer long line sheath worn by Mrs. Thomas A. Dent III. Elegant gown buckles below the waist, with the skirt gathered and beaded in five narrow tiers. A glamorous box fox muff and feather trimmed "Merry Widow" hat complete the dramatic ensemble.

#4766 1954-65

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON undoubtedly will find a large contingent of the fashionable Dick clan of Lake Forest going East for a wedding up in Newport, R. I.

On Saturday, Dec. 27, Mrs. C. Matthews Dick's daughter, Elaine Angela Dominguez, will become the bride of a

(Chicago American photo by Charles Keller.)

● WHAT IS A FASHION show without a bride? Mrs. Gordon Bent is the beautiful model displaying this breath-taking middle-aisle ensemble at the St. Luke's fashion show. Note the use of a hat with the traditional veil.

a trust fund set up by his late father, forsook the Lake Forest scene a quarter of a century ago to become a prominent social figure in New York-Newport society, but his brothers, A. B. Dick, and Edison Dick prefer life in the Midwest.

It will be recalled that one of Mr. Dick's son, C. Matthew Dick Jr., (another son is Ronald Dick), wed Marie Harriman, daughter of the late Alan Harriman of New York about eight years ago. But Marie and Matt Jr. were divorced last April in Reno, and a month later she became the wife of William F. Borland, also of Lake Forest.

I don't know how I get going on all these Dick family ramifications but you know how it is—one name leads to another and before you know it you're solving a genealogical puzzle.

Anyway, as I said in the beginning, there's going to be a big wedding in the wealthy Dick clan next Christmas.

MORE ANENT St. Luke's Fashion Show:

It's all over but the shouting—but it was really something to shout about! Such as, for instance, the grace and beauty of the models—the best-looking group of models ever seen at a St. Luke's Show . . . The perfect co-ordination between stage and backstage, between "producers" and participants, the perfect working of the loudspeaker system relaying orders and directions . . . The stunning stage setting, perhaps the loveliest set St. Luke's ever has had, one panel depicting Holiday Inn, Phoenix, Ariz., the other Paradise Inn, Fla. . . . The two models meeting on the way up to the stage, one saying to the other "Are you Arizona, or Florida?"

The expression on Mrs. Seymour Wheeler's face when she first spied Mrs. Thomas Dent III, in her fabulous outfit, Mrs. Wheeler's exclamation: "Holy Cow." And she really had something to exclaim about, for never has anyone on the St. Luke's runway been as beautifully spectacular as the beauteous Mrs. Dent. In her slinky black tiered skirt, large Merry Widow hat and black muff, to say nothing of a cat-look make-up, Mrs. Dent was the epitome of a femme-fatale . . . And speaking of femmes-fatale, Mrs. Ike Sewell looked like another in a stunning, slim black suit, trimmed with black mink, the skirt also banded in black mink.

The wonderfully professional-like performances of Mrs. Leon Mandel, Mrs. Ralph Ellis, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan Jr., and Mrs. Byron Elting—all outstanding for their grace and poise . . . The quiet charm of Mrs. Philip Block, who wore one of the most stunning gowns in the show, a white tulle job whose skirt must have contained 50 yards of material . . . The fabulous 10 karat diamond ring worn by Mrs. Robert Rasmussen—which was NOT borrowed. It was her very own . . . Mrs. Tilt Bissell had my vote for wearing one of the most elegant ensembles in the show—an incredibly beautiful pink evening gown, the bodice entirely encrusted in pink bugle beads, and worn with a little pink mink capelet. Yes, I said pink mink!

In fact the profusion of colored furs brought to mind the late Fanny Ward and her penchant for unusual colored furs. The fabulous Fanny always wore furs to match her clothes. If it was a blue suit she wore, her furs were dyed blue; if it was a pink dress she donned her furs were dyed pink; I've even seen her wearing blue furs and green furs!

THE JOHN GRANT MAC DONALDS are bulletining friends of the arrival of a grandchild. Daughter of the Robin A. Wellesleys of London, the baby was born Oct. 9. She has been named Diana Gay.

Mrs. Wellesley was Marianne MacDonald of Chicago before her marriage. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald V. Wellesley of Sussex, who has many ties here through his mother, the former Betty Ball of Chicago.

Marianne hopes to bring her little Diana to Chicago for a visit some time this Spring.

(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller and Howard Borvig.)

● TEA ROSE CHIFFON cuffed with sable is the lovely gown modeled so excitingly by Mrs. R. Sargent Shriver. The Bonwit Teller dress was sheer elegance so bewitchingly set off by the new "cat-look."

Heralds New Style Season

BY JOYCE FENLEY

Chicago American Fashion Editor

IN NEW YORK, Fall officially begins with first night at the opera. In Chicago it's the St. Luke's Annual Fashion Show that declares the new season is underway. And it's the St. Luke's Fashion Show that heralds the fashions Chicago society will be donning all Winter long.

"Be-furred and be-jeweled" is the command for '54. From simple wool suits to magnificent ball gowns, the divine touch of fur and the sparkle of gems cannot be missed.

Often a costume suit features an elegant mink or sable collar. Off comes the jacket to reveal a jeweled bodice or jeweled sleeves. One truly sophisticated pink satin gown was completed by a brief cape of pink mink.

A DAYTIME black wool suit had a bracelet of black mink at the hem of the handsomely slim skirt.

Ceil Chapman's night blooming rose lace was banded with rose fox. Shiny silver circles showered a taupe sheath by Trigere. A pale Lloma fleece coat completed the stunning picture. Pearls trimmed the bodice of a sunny gold dinner gown by Ben Reig. Another of this designer's gowns of shimmering blue satin was accompanied by a white mink-lined blue satin stole.

TWO STRIKINGLY beautiful gowns of utter simplicity: Trigere's intricately-fashioned white satin chemise ball gown. Elizabeth Arden's tiered chiffon, buckled slightly below the waist.

Daytime and casual was not overlooked: Marion McCarthy's gold-trimmed pale blue cashmere sweater set with matching pleated skirt and full-length coat.

The influence of Chanel was unmistakable in an Electrique Bleu midy by Junior Sophisticate. A hand-knit mantle added a fresh fashion note. Tina ● ATTRACTIVE, Mrs. Leon Mandel lends a charming elfin air to this comfortable-appearing lounging ensemble. Cunning stocking-type hat adds just the right casual touch and the new exotic "cat-look" makeup appears to be made just for the dark-haired lovely Mrs. Mandel.

Leser's engaging at home costume of pink clover printed trousers teamed with a pink cashmere sweater.

Color-wise pale, soft shades predominated: green, blue, pink, lemon, champagne and ivory.

AND LAST, the special touches that make St. Luke's what it is: The wonderful "flat top" lemon hat fashioned like a round mortar board or an exaggerated French sailor's cap. The special treat of rose lining on the tiny-trained snow white bridesmaids dresses. The paisley printed shoes doing the footwork for Herbert Sondheim's silk satin afternoon dress. The uniquely-dramatic beaver-crowned veil of the bride. The shimmering sandals matching shimmering lace. The satin chignon. The flower muff. The children . . . each and everyone perfect!

● BLACK tr. A. Dent III. skirt gathered box fox muff plete the dran

Recorded at Random

By Judith Cass

THE slinky, long torso look played havoc with some of the models in the St. Luke's Fashion show Wednesday. Mrs. A. Watson Armour III, wearing a sliver slim skirt, had to call for help to retrieve the earring she dropped while waiting to go on. As Mrs. Keith E. Lewis commented: "We've been poured into these clothes and practically stop breathing when we hit the runway!"

Mrs. Thomas A. Dent III and Mrs. James C. Hoover resorted to a mincing hobble walk to display their sheath costumes—Mrs. Dent in a black narrow tiered gown with a Lillian Russell plumed hat, and Mrs. Hoover in a harem-skirted chiffon evening dress.

Mrs. Daggett Harvey decided the best way to show off the serpentine coil effect of the hat she modeled was to walk in backwards. Mrs. Edward Byron Smith's problem was to hold her head high enough to keep the chin-hugging chapeau she showed from tickling her chin.

Miss Deborah Kneedler had trouble seeing without her glasses; Miss Jane Haggerty and Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr.

worried about getting their wide-skirted crinoline ball gowns thru the stage archway; and Master John Appleton, one of the dressing room problem children, proved to be a master of aplomb when performing on stage.

On guard both backstage and in the downstairs dressing rooms were more than a dozen Pinkerton men hired to guard the $280,000 treasury of jewels the models wore.

Miss Kneedler

Mrs. Walter L. Cherry called Mrs. James Fitzmorris and herself "a pickpocket's delight" because they each sparkled with almost $100,000 in diamond and emerald accessories. Most luxurious of these was a $24,000 square cut emerald ring, practically postage stamp size, which Mrs. Cherry wore. Her "shadow" was George Green, a veteran of 23 years of St. Luke's shows backstage.

One model, Mrs. Norman McClave Jr., who showed a tweed cocktail coat starred with rhinestones and jet, could have found the twin of her coat in the audience!

Another model, Mrs. Ike Sewell remarked that only a "rich widow" could afford to wear her costume—a $795 black wool suit with hemline and jacket collar banded in black mink.

THREE thrilled sofomores at the Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart, Purchase, N. Y.—the Misses Mary Nelson, Pat Lyons, and Nancy Lou Geiman of Chicago—have been chosen to represent the midwest at the West Point military ball tonight in the Astor hotel, New York City.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAUS
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

LIBERTYVILLE ILL INDP'T REGISTER
THURSDAY OCTOBER 21 1954

Today is "high style" day for ladies in the Chicago area, for it is the date of the annual St. Luke's fashion show, one of the most fabulous events on the fall calendar. Among those from the Libertyville-Mundelein area who sat in the audience were Mrs. Matt Mackey of Forest Lane, Mrs. Ralph Archer of Midlothian Road, Mundelein, and Mrs. Arthur S. Hansen of Countryside.

CONSOLIDATED
PRESS CLIPPING
BUREAUS
CHICAGO, U.S.A.
431 SO. DEARBORN ST.
MAIN OFFICE

CHICAGO ILL. DAILY NEWS
THURSDAY OCTOBER 21 1954

Mink Out In Force at St. Luke's

Mink, once a mark of affluence, was a dime a dozen Wednesday at the St. Luke's show. Tens of thousands of pelts must have gone into the stoles, jackets, scarves and full-length coats that adorned the spectators of the fabulous fashion spectacle. The cloth coat was the exception in the audience.

#4766 1954-66

Luxurious Gowns For Season Of Elegance

By Jean Davisson

1 The slender gown Mrs. Tilt Bissell modeled in the St. Luke's fashion show is of pink satin with jewel-encrusted long bodice. The skirt is swept into a train effect in back. Over the halter decolletage Mrs. Bissell wore a pink mink cape.

The glamorous formal social season soon will be here. At the opening of the Lyric Theatre's opera season, at the Bachelors and Benedicts Ball, the December Ball, the Cotillion and the gala season of holiday parties, many Chicago women will be seen and photographed wearing luxuriously beautiful gowns.

A preview of the gowns to be worn later was given recently in a series of important fashion shows. In the St. Luke's fashion show some of the social set modeled the clothes they soon may be wearing.

THE GOWNS SHOWN were uniformly beautiful and colorful but they varied widely in style and silhouette. Wide-skirted ball gowns with strapless bodice were the most-seen styles. But interspersed among the bouffant skirts were more slender styles making an attractive contrast.

Narrow sheath gowns were draped in hipline detail which ended in train-like fullness in the back. Gowns with panniers or fullness at the sides had a regal air reminiscent of a 19th Century portrait.

A TREND IN EVENING fashions toward more covered shoulders also was evident in gowns paraded at recent shows. Several had a camisole-type bodice with narrow straps. Unobtrusive halter straps circled the neckline of some gowns. These leave beautiful shoulders bare but have the slightly more covered effect.

A dropped shoulder line also was shown to be ultra-flattering and a perfect frame for fabulous jewels.

However varied in silhouette and decolletage, all of the gowns, made of rich satin, velvet, taffeta or brocade and often trimmed with brilliant beading and embroidery, represented true formal elegance.

#4766 1954-67

3 Mrs. Laurance W. Morgan (left) modeled a strapless gown of deep green velvet with full, sweeping skirt in the St. Luke's show. Mrs. Arthur Dole III resembles an 18th Century portrait in her pistachio green gown. (Sun-Times Photos by Howard Lyon and Carmen Reporto.)

THIS WEEK in Lake Forest

Lake Foresters Model in Annual St. Luke's Show

Alencon lace fashioned the wedding dress of Mrs. Gordon Bent, the bride in the annual St. Luke's fashion show on October 20. Her breton headdress was of beaver felt. Attendants were, left to right, Miss Beth Alberding, Mrs. J. Otis Carney, Mrs. F. Childs Pullman, and Mrs. Patricia O'Riley, all wearing dresses of petal white. In the center picture, Carol Grant, left, and Daphne Wood model dancing school dresses. Miss Grant wears pale blue brocade and Miss Wood a Lanz original in taffeta, bow-trimmed. Right, Mrs. Michael Cudahy shows embroidered trousers, worn with a pink cashmere sweater.

Frontier Nursing Service Committee To Hear Founder Talk Next Thursday

The Chicago committee of the Frontier Nursing service of southeastern Kentucky has issued invitations to an open meeting at 11 a.m. next Thursday in the Drake hotel, when Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, founder and volunteer director, will give her biennial report. A movie of the early and more recent phases of the work will be shown during her talk.

Annual Ragdale Bonfire Is Slated For Saturday Night

The youngest McCutcheon to attend the annual bonfire at Ragdale, home of Mrs. John T. McCutcheon on North Green Bay road, will be George Barr III, 14 months. His parents, the George Barr McCutcheons (Paula Wilms) of Chicago, will be there; but their youngest child, a daughter born October 19, will have to wait until next year for her first glimpse of autumn festivities which have been a tradition in the Shaw, McCutcheon, and Judson families for more than 40 years.

As is the custom, bagpipers will lead a procession of children and grown-ups through the gardens and out to the open fields where the bonfire is held. Later the group (Continued on Page 19)

The Laurence A. Cartons Welcome First Son Thursday

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence A. Carton of West Laurel avenue welcomed their third child and first son, John Laurence, October 21 in Lake Forest hospital. The infant's sisters are Kathleen, four, and Ellen, two. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Carton of East Laurel avenue.

Several Lake Foresters are on the Chicago committee including Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arpee, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson T. Chandler, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. David Dangler, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Isham, the junior Henry Ishams, Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Wood.

The service sends out nurses, who travel on horseback or in jeeps at any time of day or night, to deliver babies to mothers living in Kentucky mountain cabins. Visiting nurses also conduct a preventive health service for 5,000 children and their families in 12 Kentucky districts.

The Jr. Botsford Youngs To Live in Lake Forest Area

Mr. and Mrs. B. Botsford Young Jr. are occupying the North Sheridan road home of the senior Youngs who now are traveling in Europe. Mr. Young Jr. has been transferred to Chicago by his corporation from the New York area and he and his wife and young son, Botsford III, will take a house on the North shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Young Sr., who left for Europe in July, have visited the capitals of Switzerland, France, Germany, Italy, and England in their travels.

Maternity Center Sets Lunch Date For Next Thursday

Mrs. John S. Runnells of North Lake road will entertain at luncheon in the Racquet club next Thursday with Mrs. Robert F. Carr Jr. for the 42 team chairmen whose efforts they will direct in the 11th annual enrollment drive of the Chicago Maternity center. Mrs. Carr is chairman of the drive, which opens February 3; and Mrs. Runnells is co-chairman.

Volunteer team captains from Chicago and 20 suburbs will gather at 11 a.m. in the club for a planning session to discuss the project of enrolling 1,000 new contributors.

Dr. Harry B. Benaron, medical director, will tell the story of the center, the world's largest outpatient obstetrical clinic. Some 3,500 babies were delivered at home to Chicago mothers last year, and 300 doctors and medical students studied obstetrics at the center.

Mrs. John Andrews King of North Green Bay road, chairman of the board of directors, will attend the meeting and luncheon November 4. Lake Forest teams will be headed by Mrs. Robert T. Isham of North Mayflower road, with Mrs. Vernon Armour of (Continued on Page 19)

The Solomon A. Smiths Go Back to Town Next Month

The Solomon A. Smiths of North Elm Tree road will remain in Lake Forest until November 20 when they plan to return to their apartment in Chicago. Mrs. Smith has been working on a book for young people about the Chicago Fire, which is to be published next summer.

B & B Committee Asks 10 Post Debs To November 26 Ball

The list of 10 post debutantes who will receive invitations to attend the Bachelor and Benedict ball November 26 in the Palmer house includes the names of Miss Constance Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Taylor III of North Green Bay road, and Miss Elinor Ketting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Ketting of Libertyville, formerly of Lake Forest.

They were selected by the Bachelor and Benedict committee who met October 20 in Chicago. Lake Forest benedicts and their wives who will be in the receiving line are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dixon Jr. of North Ahwahnee road, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Armour of Oak terrace, Lake Bluff, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bartholomay of North Green Bay road, Mr. and Mrs. Silas S. Cathcart of East Atteridge road, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Clow Jr. of North Edgewood road, and Richard Needham of North Sheridan road, and his bride of November 6, Miss Martha Singleton of Kennilworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Melfort Campbell (Barbara Hubbard) of Milwaukee, formerly of Lake Forest, also will be in the receiving line. Bachelors on the committee from Lake (Continued on Page 19)

The Lloyd Laflins Are Home from Minocqua Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Laflin of North Hawthorne place have returned from a 10-day partridge shoot at their summer home in Minocqua, Wis. Their daughter, Maureen, seven, remained at home since she is attending second grade at the Bell school.

Miss Trimble, Clive Runnells Jr. Marry in Westbury

The marriage of Miss Winifred Trimble to Clive Runnells Jr., son of Mrs. Runnells Sr. of North Mayflower road, took place at 4 p.m. last Saturday in the Church of the Advent, Westbury, Long Island.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, W. Goadby Loew of New York City, the bride wore a full-skirted white satin dress and carried a spray of orchids and lilies of the valley. Her headdress and heirloom veil were of Brussels applique and rosepoint lace over illusion net.

Mrs. John S. Runnells of North Lake road, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, who was matron of honor, and the maid of honor, Miss Zaidee Parkinson of New York City, stepsister of the bride, were gowned in pale pink satin dresses. (Continued on page 26)

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hollins Are Home from Colorado Stay

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hollins Jr. of North Western avenue returned home last Wednesday from a two weeks' stay in Colorado. They were at the Broadmoor hotel in Colorado Springs for one week and visited friends in other parts of Colorado the rest of the time.

Miss Holt, Miss Webster To Spend Winter at Tryon

Miss Ellen Holt and Miss Elizabeth Webster of North Sheridan road left October 21 for their winter home in Tryon, N.C. They will return to Lake Forest in May.

#4766 1954-68

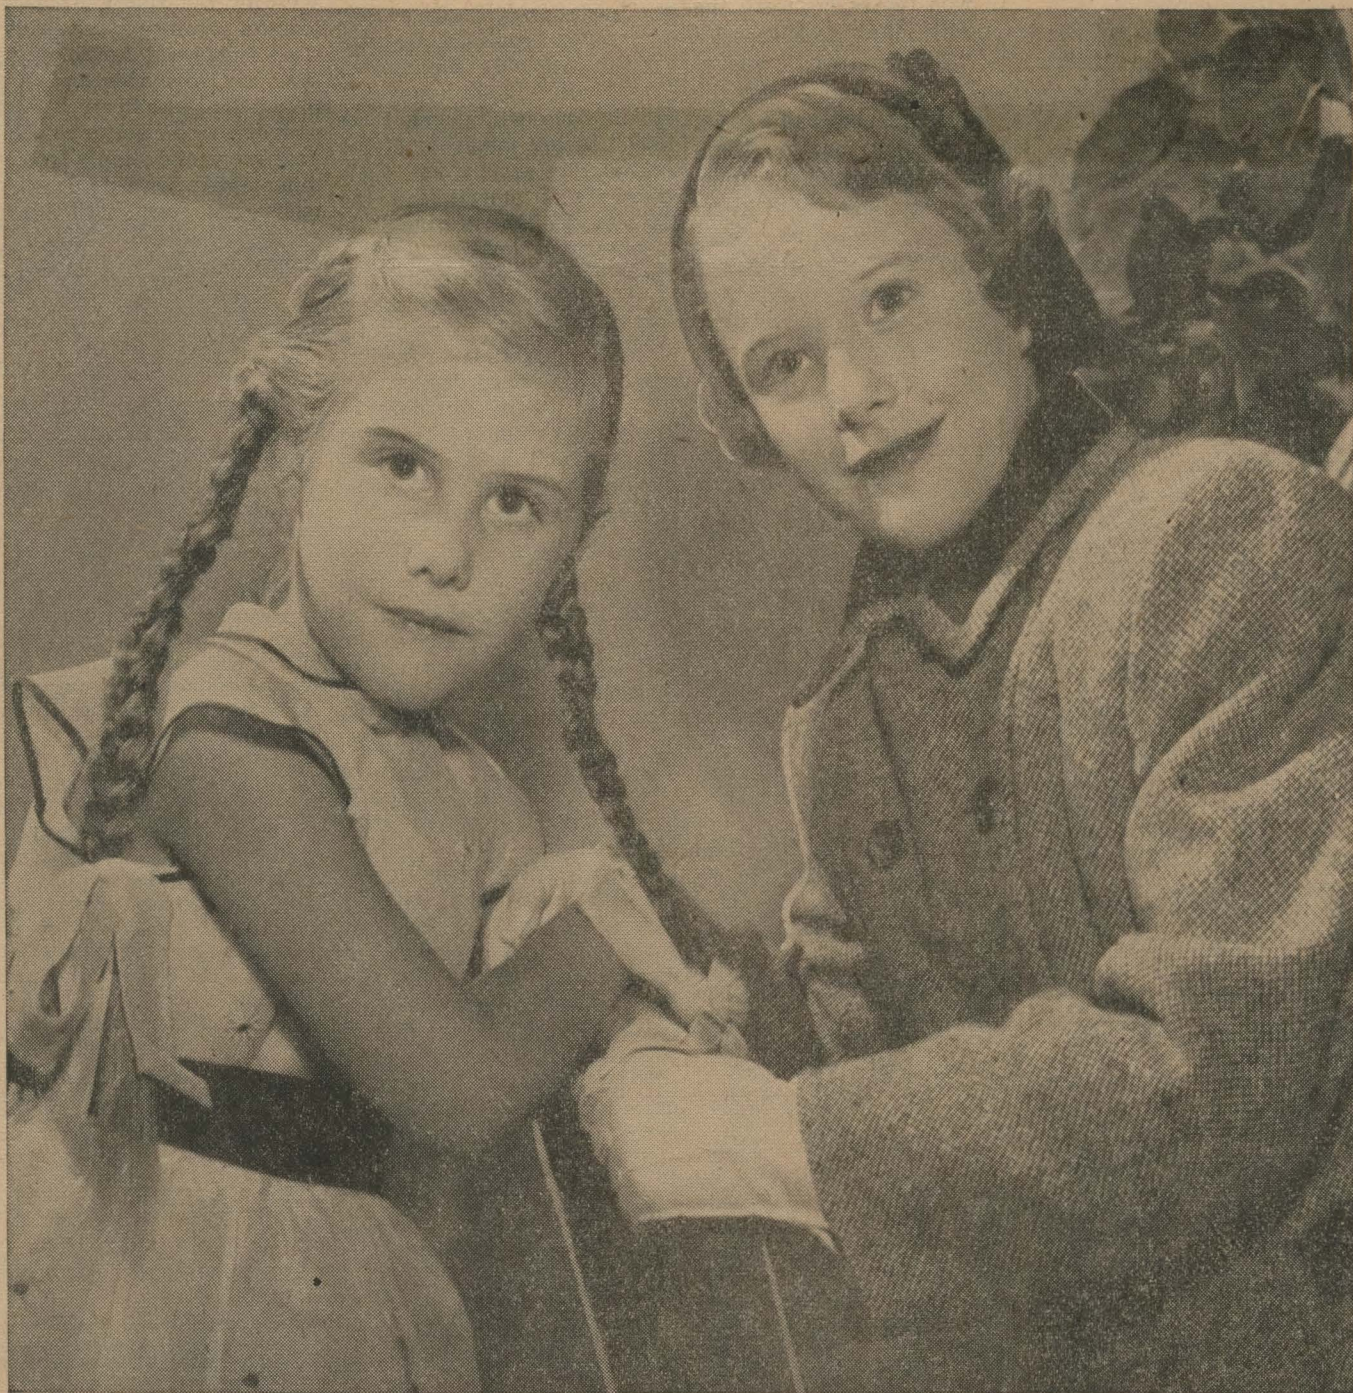

Chicago Daily Tribune

Today with Women

MOVIES • AMUSEMENTS

Tuesday, October 26, 1954 H Part 3—Page 3

School's Book Sale Will Aid Library

Leslie Hailand (left), 6, and Alison Rich, 9, pupils in the Lake Forest Day school, which is preparing for its annual sale of books to be held next month to raise funds for the school library. The little girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Hailand Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Rich, all of Lake Forest, made their debuts as fashion show models in the St. Luke's hospital show last week.

[TRIBUNE Photo]

#4766 1954-69

CHICAGO ILL. TRIBUNE
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1954

Fashions and Fancy

By Judith Cass

WHEN I think of how my grandmother used to look with her flat heels, her long black skirts, and her bonnet!" said an older woman at the "Giddy Grandmothers" fashion show Monday in the Key club where eight grandmothers showed day and evening costumes at luncheon time. No debutante could be more slim and trim than Mrs. Richard S. Holson, Mrs. Laurens G. Hastings, Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr., or Mrs. James C. Hoskins... and while the others might not have had quite such petite waist lines as these four, all of them had good figures and modeling manners.

Mrs. Richard S. Holson (left), Mrs. Laurens G. Hastings (center), and Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr., three of eight grandmothers who appeared in a grandmothers' fashion show last Monday in the Key club. Mrs. Holson won first place as best model. [TRIBUNE Photos]

The audience voted first place to Mrs. Holson, who showed a sleek short dinner dress with floating panel, and a fire red peau de soie cocktail dress with a skirt widely flared from midriff tucks. Mrs. Richard Wagner took second place modeling a cocoa wool costume with fox collar, and a sophisticated navy sheath dinner dress with stand up collar. Mrs. Hoskins took third. She is the champion grandmother, having five grandchildren, but she looked more like a story book princess in a glittering jeweled pink evening frock.

Mrs. Wagner

THE MOST appealing smile among the grandmas was worn by Mrs. Gay Hutchings Stilwell.

Infinitely becoming to Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter was an evening dress of fragile gray lace sewn with sparkling rhinestones over a slip of silver satin. Mrs. Mitchell McKeown recovered from an attack of nervousness to show off a pale blue satin frock with aplomb, and wound up agreeing with her fellow models—"It's fun to be a grandmother!"

Fashion shows bring out some mighty smartly clad audiences, and none more so than THE TRIBUNE or St. Luke's shows. The mink wrap that Mrs. William T. Bacon Jr., modeled in the latter show won't be seen too often around town, it's safe to wager, for it was priced at $15,000!

Mrs. Bacon Jr.

Mrs. Edward F. Swift III

chose a pretty, floating gown of pale blue to show off a 39 carat star sapphire pendant attached to a blazing necklace of sapphires and diamonds. More of the jewels formed her bracelet, clip, and ring.

Pale pink carnations bloomed on the women attending the St. Luke's show to whom Mrs. Charles Wrigley was hostess in absentia. Mrs. Louis Blessing pinned her carnation to her cocoa ribbon knit dress.

OTHERS NOTED watching fashion parades lately include Mrs. Loyal Davis, wearing a cinnamon jersey frock with a mink cape; Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley whose hat was a tiny black velvet and rhinestone concoction, and Mrs. Warren Hendriks, who wore a huge cartwheel hat of beige pink ostrich plumes.

Looking chic and glamorous enough to be on the runway at the St. Luke's show was Mrs. James S. Kemper Jr. of San Marino, Cal., formerly of Barrington and Chicago, who was having a reunion with long time friends.

Among other chic visitors in the audience were Mrs. Gene Walker of San Francisco, whose costume was a symphony in winter blue, and Mrs. Latham Castle of sandwich, Ill., both guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Byron Harvey Jr., who presented a handsome picture in a gold mesh cap and dark suit.

4766 1954-70

LAKE SHORE DRIVE & WALTON

General Outdoor Advertising Co.
INCORPORATED

#4766 1954-71

Ad Women Mark 37 Years

By Marta Driscoll

DURING the first World War (1917 to be exact), a group of 25 women working in advertising banded together to form the Women's Advertising Club of Chicago. Next Tuesday, the more than 250 members of the group will meet in the Furniture Club to celebrate the 37th anniversary with a traditional candlelighting ceremony.

● A WOMAN of distinction, Marilou Jones is serving as director of the 1955 Distinction Series sponsored by the Women's Advertising Club.

President Bessie Covert will preside at the dinner meeting at which Mrs. Ralph G. Johnson, first president, and other past presidents will be honored guests.

For this special meeting James Webb Young, senior consultant and director of the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Co., will be principal speaker. He has chosen as his subject, "Mirror for a Lady," with his reflections on women slanted toward the advertising field.

While business will be in the background at this meeting, committees working on the group's Distinction Series will, no doubt, have progress to report.

Marilou Jones is serving as director of this year's series which will be held March 7, 14 and 21 in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison Hotel. Proceeds will be used to furnish advertising scholarships to outstanding college students and to supplement the libraries the group maintains in 22 Illinois colleges.

★ ★ ★

PARTY PARADE: "Cocktails For You" says the Community Youth Foundation of Chicago. However, proceeds from their party this afternoon in the Belden Stratford Hotel will help provide homes for dependent children. All funds raised will be turned over to the Jewish Children's Bureau's Foster Home Division.

★ ★ ★

THANKSGIVING eye is the traditional date of the Misericordia Home's annual benefit ball. This year Mrs. Robert E. Joyce is serving as chairman of the party to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The Executive Board, which sponsors the Ball, hopes to raise enough money to build porches at the home which will be glassed in and morning hours. Mrs. Emanuel Molner, vice president of Public Affairs, and Mrs. Irving Ackerman have planned a panel discussion to explore areas of local and national civic import.

For the Program Service Workshop, under the direction of Mrs. J. Leonard Heron, vice president, Mrs. Leonard Solomon and Mrs. Irving Hollobow will discuss utilizing home talent and adapting scripts for member participation.

In the afternoon Raymond Hilliard, newly appointed director of the Cook County Department of Welfare will speak to the combined groups on Human Needs.

★ ★ ★

WITH THE WOMEN'S CLUBS: Mrs. L. F. Dunstan is serving as chairman of

Clubs

● BELLES of the Ball (at left), Barbara Brown, Anne Pickett and Gay Holland (left to right) get instructions in cotillion figures from Michael Kirby, skating star. They will dance at the Beaus and Belles Ball, sponsored by Circle 26 of the Infant Welfare Society, which is being held Saturday evening in the Oak Park Club.

Cholly Dearborn Observes

Continued from preceding page

for the benefit of Misericordia Home, in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The party, a tradition for the last 15 years at Thanksgiving time, will be in the spirit of Thanksgiving both as to decor and vittles, and the huge Hilton Ballroom is already assured of a sellout.

★ ★ ★

TWO GALA opening nights also feature the holiday week—Tuesday bringing the Chicago premiere of that Rogers and Hammerstein musical comedy classic, "The King and I," at the Shubert Theater and Thanksgiving night the opening of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by the Old Vic troupe at the Opera House.

This latter production is under the auspices of the English Speaking Union, of which Mrs. Donald McPherson is president, and a very chic and dressy audience is expected out in full force and high fashion.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf is benefit chairman, assisted by

(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller.)

● PLANS FOR NEXT Summer were discussed by Mrs. Robert Edwards (left) and Mrs. William P. White Jr. at the annual meeting of the Junior Board of Peacock Camp. The group helps support the Summer camp for handicapped children at Lake Villa, Ill.

Designer Pattern

Versatile Styles for Little Queens

Arche Club to Meet Friday

"THANKSGIVING Co."

Ample Warning

Symptoms of Heart Condition

By Dr. Herman N. Bundesen

(Last of six articles.)

NO ONE ever died suddenly from heart disease. It takes a long time, possibly years, to damage the heart or coronary arteries extensively. Most of the time your body gives you ample warning that something is wrong.

When you disregard these signals, you invite trouble. Many persons who shrug off pains as merely indigestion or pleurisy, wind up in the cemetery long before they should.

★ ★ ★

HOW CAN you recognize heart disease? What are the symptoms?

These are some of them:

The most severe condition is called myocardial infarction. It results when a blood clot forms in one of the branches of the coronary arteries, usually caused by hardening of the arteries.

The most common symptom is severe squeezing, pressing or constricting sensation near the breast bone.

You may also be short of breath, sick to your stomach, vomit and hiccup. You are very weak, your pulse is weak and rapid and your skin is pale and moist.

★ ★ ★

SOMEWHAT less severe is angina pectoris, a condition also caused by a disturbance to the heart muscle's blood supply.

You will feel pain under the breast bone. It may pass upward into the neck or shoulder, or stomach. It's like a feeling of oppression or a vise-like sensation.

Other symptoms you may have are rapid beating of the heart, faintness and dizziness and shortness of breath.

The typical seizure lasts only a few minutes and is usually brought on by severe exercise, emotional strain, overeating or severe anemia.

Nine out of ten persons suffering coronary artery diseases are between 50 and 70. About two per cent are under 30.

★ ★ ★

IRRITABLE HEART, however, rarely occurs in persons under 20 or over 40. You are more likely to develop this condition if you are tall and slender. This is a disorder caused by nervous upset. It is brought on by worry, acute illness or pro-worry. With proper care, you'll probably live a long time.

★ ★ ★

Questions, Answers

H. J.: I have a small sore, like a pimple, on the back of my scalp. What causes this, and what can be done for it?

Answer: It is likely that the swelling is due to some type of infection. However, it might be due to a small tumor or cyst.

Copy., 1954, King Features Synd., Inc.

New, Longer Look

Jewish Children's Bureau's Foster Home Division.

★ ★ ★

THANKSGIVING eve is the traditional date of the Misericordia Home's annual benefit ball. This year Mrs. Robert E. Joyce is serving as chairman of the party to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The Executive Board, which sponsors the Ball, hopes to raise enough money to build porches at the home which will be glassed in and heated for the Winter and opened for the Summer months.

★ ★ ★

THE Dr. Jerome D. Solomon Memorial Research Foundation is having its benefit dance Saturday evening in the Conrad Hilton.

Mrs. George Silverman and Mrs. Henry Graham are co-chairman of the "Harvest Moon Shine" as the cabaret party is being called. Proceeds of the evening will be used for medical research at the Hektoen Institute at Cook County Hospital.

★ ★ ★

IT WILL be the second annual dinner and fashion show for members of the St. Bernard's Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Tuesday. Proceeds of the 6:30 o'clock party at the Martinique will go into the group's Scholarship Fund.

★ ★ ★

MRS. LAIRD WILSON will preside at the Friends of American Writers' meeting Wednesday in the Wedgewood Room of Marshall Fields. Frederick Babcock, lecturer, editor and author, will be guest speaker at the noon meeting.

★ ★ ★

son of Mrs. Leonard Solomon, vice president, Mrs. Leonard Solomon and Mrs. Irving Hollobow will discuss utilizing home talent and adapting scripts for member participation.

In the afternoon Raymond Hilliard, newly appointed director of the Cook County Department of Welfare will speak to the combined groups on Human Needs.

★ ★ ★

WITH THE WOMEN'S CLUBS: Mrs. L. F. Dunstan is serving as chairman of the annual Members' Luncheon of the Austin Woman's Club tomorrow. For the afternoon's entertainment Mrs. Joseph A. Bates has written a playlet entitled, "Love Conquers All," which will be enacted by members of the group.

★ ★ ★

THE DRAMA department of the Irving Park Woman's Club will meet tomorrow in the home of Mrs. G. A. DeJonge to rehearse the Christmas tableau which will be presented at the group's Dec. 13 meeting.

"Holidays on Horseback" will be seen by members of the literature department at their meeting Tuesday in the Bungalow. Mary Ellen Mates, daughter of Mrs. Charles Mates (a past president of the Irving Park Woman's Club) will show slides and tell of her trip through Jasper Park at the 1 p.m. meeting.

★ ★ ★

FOR THE ANNUAL Guest Night program Tuesday evening, the Woman's Club of Evanston will present "Singapore Joe" Fisher in a film-lecture on the Far East.

★ ★ ★

FLORAL decorations,

the Chicago premiere of that Rogers and Hammerstein musical comedy classic, "The King and I," at the Shubert Theater and Thanksgiving night the opening of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by the Old Vic troupe at the Opera House.

This latter production is under the auspices of the English Speaking Union, of which Mrs. Donald McPherson is president, and a very chic and dressy audience is expected out in full force and high fashion.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf is benefit chairman, assisted by Mrs. Murray Randolph, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Edward Byron Smith and Mrs. Griffith Mark.

According to word from New York where it had its American premiere at the Met, it is a spectacularly beautiful production, starring the exquisite Moira Shearer and Robert Helpmann.

As for "The King and I," it is hardly necessary to review its spectacular success in New York.

With Yul Brynner in the leading male role and Patricia Morison playing the role of Anna, made so famous by the late Gertrude Lawrence, Chicago is assured of a truly first-rate production, and the show is assured of a very dressy, fashionable first night audience.

Winding up the week will be the first Sunday night dinner-concert series at the Arts Club, with Jan Simons, Canadian baritone, the featured artist.

Artists Plan Reception

A reception honoring the

● PLANS FOR NEXT Summer were discussed by Mrs. Robert Edwards (left) and Mrs. William P. White Jr. at the annual meeting of the Junior Board of Peacock Camp. The group helps support the Summer camp for handicapped children at Lake Villa, Ill.

(Chicago American photos by Charles Keller.)

Designer Pattern

Versatile Styles for Little Queens

PATTERN
M 250

by HELEN LEE of Youngland

Arche Club to Meet Friday

"THANKSGIVING Coffee" Friday morning will start the Arche Club meeting in the Crystal ballroom of the Shoreland Hotel.

Mrs. Samuel R. Shambaugh, membership chairman, will head the reception line presenting the new members of the year.

Following brunch, Lenore Porges will give the "Life of Gertrude Lawrence" in story and song.

★ ★ ★

FOR FRIDAY'S meeting of the West End Catholic Woman's Club, Rev. Francis Flaherty will speak on "Communist Techniques of Religious Persecution in China." Mrs. Patrick J. Leen will preside at the 2 o'clock meeting.

★ ★ ★

MEMBERS of the Electrical Women's Round Table are expecting out-of-town members from Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana to attend their dinner meeting Tuesday in the Field Building Restaurant.

Eleanor Fisher, chairman of the group made up of executives in the electrical and allied fields, has arranged a talk by J. H. Millar, president of Pilot Surveys of Chicago, for the 6 o'clock meeting.

exercise, emotional strain, overeating or severe anemia. Nine out of ten persons suffering coronary artery diseases are between 50 and 70. About two per cent are under 30.

★ ★ ★

IRRITABLE HEART, however, rarely occurs in persons under 20 or over 40. You are more likely to develop this condition if you are tall and slender. This is a disorder caused by nervous upset. It is brought on by worry, acute illness or prolonged convalescence.

Symptoms are flushing, trembling, faintness or rapid breathing. Your hands and feet are likely to be cold, too. You will sigh frequently, and appear to be short of breath.

Rarely is there pain under the breast bone, but you have a dull aching sensation near the heart.

Rheumatic fever causes nine-tenths of all child heart disease. It is almost always precipitated by a streptococcus sore throat.

If you notice any of these symptoms, send for the doctor immediately. But don't

4655 10-18
by Anne Adams

It's the new look, the longer-waisted look—the smooth princess line leading into a bouffant skirt—captured by a big, beautiful bow! Make two lovely versions—one with sweetheart neckline, the other with a high rise. Your "public" will adore you in both!

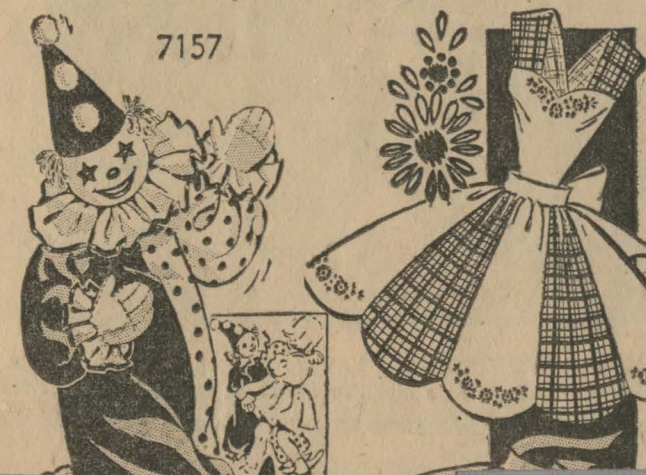

Pattern 4655: Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 16 takes 5½ yards 39-inch fabric.

This pattern, easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions.

Send Thirty-five cents in coins for this pattern—add 5 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing. Send to Anne Adams, care of Chicago American Pattern Dept., P. O. Box 6710, Chicago 80, Ill. Print your NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, SIZE, STYLE NUMBER. Look for the patterns in the American Weekly supplement of the Sunday Chicago American.

Thrifty Christmas Gifts!

7157

#4766 1954-72

MODELLED in ST. LUKE'S FASHION SHOW

Fashions

Tips for Holiday Wardrobe

By Joyce Fenley

Chicago American Fashion Editor

CAN'T YOU just feel the hum of the holiday season ahead? The season for society, the season for fashion. Even now the engagement books are chalking up the wonderful things to do and exciting places to go . . . the parties and luncheons, the balls and the theater.

Fashion lends it's own particular glamor, it's own particular flavor to this most festive of all seasons. Leading the parade are the born-to-dance dress, the wonderfully fashionable fur muff and the satin hat that makes any afternoon dress just that much more important.

Now's the time to plan your holiday wardrobe, to be sure it's ready for the good times coming.

And remember, now's the time to put into action all the fashion ideas you've been saving for some special occasion. The time is ripe to try a new silhouette, to treat yourself to a new coiffure, to choose a dress in a shock color, to splurge on a fur piece . . . to have a grand and glorious time and look spectacularly wonderful while you're doing it!

WOMAN'S

Chicago ~~and~~ American
—C—
Sun., Nov. 21, 1954—17

WORLD

Clubs . . . Amusements . . . Movies . . . Travel

● PINK FOX bands the swirling skirt of this Ceil Chapman

(Chicago American photos by Howard Borvig and Charles Keller.)

● MRS. WALTER CUSHMAN proves that holiday glamor can be had at any hour. For important afternoons, informal evenings . . . an amethyst wool sheath, a rose bedecked satin cap and a deliciously fashionable black fur muff.

● PINK FOX bands the swirling skirt of this Ceil Chapman pink lace. The lovely wearer is Mrs. Royal E. Peterson II. The prettily ovaled neckline ends in brief but enchanting demi-sleeves.

● A WONDERFUL WAY to look this coming holiday season! Mrs. Phillip D. Block Jr. in a cloud of billowing white tulle, a garland of Winter-blooming blossoms peeks through the multiple layers of the born-to-dance skirt. This is the kind of dress that bespeaks it's glamorous heritage. The designer is none other than Jean Desses. There's a very special plus to the pale bouffant dance dress. It looks every bit as spectacular come Spring as does right now.